Cuban Invasion Survivors Face Kennedy Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Survivors of a Cuban volunteer brigade which stormed Fidel Castro's stronghold in 1961 will face President Kennedy in the Orange Bowl today.

It was Kennedy who assumed responsibility for insufficient U.S. air support for the Bay of Pigs assault. And it was the Kennedy administration which worked with the troopers' families to free 1,113 invasion veterans from Cuban prisons and airlift them to Miami for pre-Christmas reunions.

Today Kennedy planned to review the men of Brigade 2506 and receive the gift of their battle-stained colors as guest of the still-steadfast anti-Castro military unit.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy, vacationing at Palm Beach, were scheduled to arrive by helicopter at Miami's police station at midmorning and go by car a few blocks to the football stadium. Kennedy speaks briefly and his wife was expected to speak —in Spanish—to members of the brigade and their families which included more than 900 persons permitted by Castro to follow the prisoners to Florida by ship.

ABC planned to televise the ceremonies live and NBC scheduled a telecast at noon.

Thousands of Americans also were expected in the stadium, which will seat more than 70,000 persons.

The Kennedys were invited to meet the liberated veterans by Manuel Artime and other brigade leaders, who called on the President Thursday at the holiday White House in Palm Beach.

Artime said Kennedy told his visitors that some day he hopes to visit a free Cuba.

The callers told newsmen they met with Kennedy "to express our appreciation for his personal efforts which led to our lives being respected and which eventually led to the salvation and freedom of the brigade."

As the liberated prisoners and their relatives, Miami area exile residents, rejoiced in the arrival of 920 more kin from Cuba, a Swiss diplomat in Havana said Castro's offer to permit more relatives to leave was canceled.

Even so, 500 or more persons were reported to have crowded around the Swiss Embassy in hopes of getting clearance to come to the United States. Switzerland handles U.S. affairs in Cuba since a 1960 break in diplomatic relations between the United States and the regime of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

It was learned that discreet conversations were taking place between the Castro government and Swiss officials, who are seeking the release of 22 U.S. citizens serving up to 30-year sentences in Cuban jails on charges not connected with the invasion. These range from counterrevolutionary activity to common crimes.

U.S. Plans More Aid To UN In Congo

Announcement Due Within Week About Military Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to announce shortly that it will supply more military equipment for the United Nations' Congo operation.

The announcement may be made within a week and the most urgently needed materiel will be flown immediately to the Congo, authoritative informants said today.

The most important items on the U.N. shopping lists are 10 fighter planes. They are needed to give air protection to U.N. ground troops and to fend off hit-and-run attacks of the Katanga air force, estimated to consist of about 20 airplanes of various types and vintage.

The list of requested materiel —a detailed document drafted by the Indian commanders of the U.N. air force—was given to Lt. Gen. Louis W. Truman, head of a U.S. fact-finding mission which returned from the Congo this week.

Truman, informants said, approved the U.N. list after on-the-spot verification of the requirements and he submitted it Friday evening to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The final decision rests with President Kennedy, officials said, and added that knowing Kennedy's concern about the deteriorating Congo situation they felt sure the United Nations will get what it asks for.

The United Nations also wants a prefabricated steel bridge, air transport planes and 2½ ton trucks.

High U.S. sources indicated that the United States made no committment to supply the fighter planes.

Some officials said that while the United States will certainly provide transport planes and trucks for troop transportation, the decision on the fighters depends on how many planes other nations turn over to the U.N. force.

Resistence Crumbles In Congo Fight

Elisabethville's Police Run, Leave Equipment Behind

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP)—U.N. forces supported by aerial bombardment seized almost complete control of this secessionist capital today and apparently started a mopping up operation. President Moise Tshombe fled his palace and his whereabouts were unknown.

Tshombe Threatens 'Total Destruction'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga today threatened "total destruction" in his secessionist province unless U.N. forces stop fighting within 24 hours.

This report was relayed here by a pooled dispatch from foreign correspondents in Tshombe's capital, Elisabethville.

A U.N. spokesman said Katangan resistence was cracking and that Tshombe's heavily-armed police were fleeing into the bush, leaving behind weapons, equipment and a number of armored cars.

U.N. forces took the offensive after enduring two days of Katangan police attacks on positions in Elisabethville.

U.N. planes bombed strategic points in both Elisabethville and the mining town of Kolwezi, about 150 miles northwest of the capital.

A U.N. spokesman said the city's water supply, cut off in the outbreak of hostilities Thursday night, had been restored. He said the U.N. hoped to have electric power restored within two days.

U.N. troops took Tshombe's palace with little resistance from the presidential guard. Tshombe was gone when the blue-helmeted international troops—mostly Ethiopians and Indian gurkhas—occupied the palace.

Previously, Tshombe had been reported trying to flee to Kipushi, about 15 miles from Elisabethville, on the northern Rhodesian border, or to Kolwezi.

A U.N. spokesman said the Elisabethville post office, railroad station and the Katanga radio station were taken over by the U.N. troops.

The spokesman said the United Nations was beginning a move against roadblocks in the vicinity of the railway tunnel—scene of bitter combat in previous rounds of fighting in Elisabethville a year ago.

The spokesman said U.N. troops reported few Katangans were taken prisoner and that Tshombe's casualties were believed light.

U.N. forces lost one killed and five wounded in fighting Friday.

Previous reports said seven U.N. soldiers and eight civilians were wounded.

Despite the successes of U.N. troops, small arms and heavy mortar fire continued in several sectors of the town.

The fighting went on after two raids this morning by U.N. planes on the capital and on the airfield at Kolwezi, the base of Tshombe's rudimentary air force.

The raid on Elisabethville was carried out by a single aircraft at 4 a.m. The plane dropped about five bombs, but the targets and damage were not yet known.

The raid on Kolwezi was carried out by Swedish-made SAAB jet fighters. It is believed that three planes were destroyed on the ground by the SAABS.

Glare Of Ice Halts Traffic Until Melting

Much Colder Due In Area Tonight With Low Of 10-20 Seen

Sleet, freezing rain and a drizzle mixed with snow at times resulted in a monumental traffic snarl in the Tri-State District early today as thin ice glazed roads and streets until mounting temperatures caused a melt.

The condition lasted over three hours with mile-long traffic tie-ups common and a big rash of fender-benders without injury.

The office of James Deluce, state highway department supervisor in Columbiana County, said the freezing rain began before 5 a.m. when the mercury was hovering in the upper 20's.

The downtown had a reading of 29 at 6 a.m. and 31 an hour later.

Shiny ice developed as the rain froze on road surfaces while parked cars and other objects were coated.

All 18 trucks of the highway department at Leetonia began cindering principal roads at 6:30 but traffic meanwhile had been reduced to a crawl or entirely halted on grades. Nothing moved on the Rogers Hill of Route 7 for awhile.

The Ohio State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the highways in the county still were ice covered at mid-morning. Officers said the ice was not melting very quickly.

The patrol received numerous calls of minor mishaps this morning due to the icy conditions but no injury accidents were reported.

A few brief tieups were reported, but traffic in general seemed to be moving if slowly.

A city bus driver reported he was stalled for an hour on the Hill Rd. and there was a bumper-to-bumper tieup on the road to Midland before the melting began.

A woman waiting for a bus at Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave. in East End early this morning said

LISBON — Walter Neal Thompson, 21, of Rogers R.D. 1, was one of two youths bound over to the Columbiana County Grand jury Thursday in Eastern District Court at East Palestine.

The court summary apparently was erroneous because David posted bond for Walter.

Ice Accidents In City Cause Injuries To 2

8 Mishaps Reported Within Period Of 2 Hours After Freeze

An 18-year-old pedestrian was admitted to City Hospital this morning after being knocked down by a neighbor's skidding auto while waiting for him to pick her up on Fawcett St. and a woman motorist was treated for injuries suffered when her car skidded into a utility pole on St. Clair Ave.

The two mishaps were among eight reported by police in a two-hour period as freezing rain turned streets into sheets of ice.

Vera Beagle, 18, daughter of Glenn Beagle, 165 Fawcett St., was hospitalized with a possible mild concussion in the mishap about 9 a. m. on Fawcett St.

Police said Frank Merriman, 36, of 162 Fawcett St. had started down the steep section of Fawcett St. to where Miss Beagle was waiting when his car skidded the bumper struck the young woman and knocked her to the pavement.

Mrs. Norma Hull Maylone, 30, of 1724 Jennings Ave. was treated at the hospital for a back injury after her car skidded into a utility pole at St. Clair Ave. and Grant St. about 7 a. m.

Mrs. Maylone told police she was descending the grade and touched her brake and the auto slid into the pole, damaging the front end.

Another mishap shortly before 8 at St. Clair and Jennings Aves. involved an Inter - City Transit Co. bus operated by Lewis Govey, 36, of 323 Indiana Ave., Chester, and a 1961 sedan driven by Henry M. Vorndran, 67, of 601 Henry Ave., police said.

Both vehicles were southbound when the bus skidded into the rear

Early Payday Slated For City's Employes

Following a long - standing custom, city employes will receive checks early for the final pay period of 1962, Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate and Treasurer Bert A. Dawson announced jointly today.

The checks for the last two weeks of December will be issued Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the auditor's office, although the rest of the City Hall offices will be closed for a long holiday weekend.

The checks will be five days early. Normally, they would be distributed Jan. 5. Issuing the checks ahead of schedule will help the city close out its books on 1962 business, the officials explained.

Second Term To Be Asked By Applegate

City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate announced today he will seek a second term at the Democratic primaries in May. A onetime councilman also announced his candidacy.

The first to announce for the office, Applegate said he will begin circulating nominating petitions early next month.

Prior to taking office in 1959, the auditor was employed for seven years in the city engineering department, four years in the construction department of the State Highway Department and 12 years with the Army procurement office.

Married and the father of two children, he resides at 1119 St. George St.

Benjamin Ziegler of Ohio Ave. announced Friday afternoon he will seek Democratic nomination for one of three Council-at-large seats in the May 7 primaries.

Ziegler once served in Council many years ago. He announced his candidacy as he began circulation of a petition obtained from the County Election Board office. A plumber, he is a long - time resident of East End. Ziegler made an unsuccessful bid for the First Ward Council seat two years ago.

None of the incumbent at-large Council members has indicated his intentions in next year's elections. They are George E. Willshaw and Robert W. Sample Jr., Republicans, and Frank Duffy, Democrat.

Budget Policy Parley Ended By Kennedy

Sends Gordon Back To Washington For Finishing Touches

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy has sent his new budget director back to Washington to put the finishing touches on the bulky document after three days of policy talks at the holiday White House.

Kermit Gordon, sworn in Friday as chief overseer of the federal purse strings, flew back to Washington after dusk following a 90 minute conference with Kennedy.

Before departure, Gordon said some changes might yet be made in the budget for the 1964 fiscal year that begins next July 1.

It was apparent, however, that most of the key question marks were disposed of in meetings this week on tax cut plans, military spending, and legislative proposals involving aid to education and medical care for aged through Social Security.

The Kennedy-Gordon session Friday night was focused on the administration's 1963 legislative program and its effect on the forthcoming budget. Sitting in on the talks were Elmer Staats, deputy budget director, and Lawrence F. O'Brien, a key presidential adviser on congressional relations.

With this meeting, Kennedy cleared the decks of all announced appointments until after the New Year's holiday. However, the chief executive had a date today in Miami with survivors of the disastrous Cuban invasion of April 1961. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, were to fly to Miami to watch the Cubans pass in review in that city's Orange Bowl stadium.

Some of the final questions about the record $99 billion budget due in mid-January were resolved at a session at which Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze and Kennedy reviewed new education and medical care legislation they hope will "be more palatable" to opponents.

This was the way legislation was characterized by Celebrezze following the 2½-hour session.

Clay Cascades

5 Killed, 11 Hurt In Wall Cave-In

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tons of red clay cascaded down an embankment Friday and knocked over a partly constructed concrete wall, killing five workmen and injuring 11.

Two other men thought missing for a time in the suburban Maryland cave-in were located by police after rescue workers searched for five hours through a tangled mass of steel, splintered wood, hardened concrete and clay gumbo.

One of the dead, Edgar Poole, 57, a carpenter, was from Takoma Park, Md. The others all from Baltimore, were Lester Dowell, 33, Mellie Smith, 23, Robert Washington, 37, and Raffer Hendrix, 29.

The wall, part of the basement substructure for a department store in a 70-acre shopping center, collapsed at 1:30 p.m. Survivors said there was no warning.

A crew of about 20 men was working on the section of wall.

Lions Hear County Aide

High Priority Given Lake And Park Project In Area

Construction of the long-delayed Highlandtown lake and acquisition of additional land for the Beaver Creek State Park have the highest priority among projects of the Columbiana County Parks and Forest Council, the Lions Club was told Friday afternoon.

Howard Adrian of Williamsport, a member of the council and chairman of the county farmer-sportsmen's organization, discussed the proposed facilities and the need for conservation of natural resources and lashed out at the damage by coal stripping in the meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Adrian also urged more public support for the projects, asking individuals and groups to prod legislators into action.

"Highlandtown has been a political football," Adrian declared, but he said the parks council hopes to have it removed from that category and to see construction of the dam.

Some 2,400 acres would be included in the Highlandtown project with the lake covering about 700 acres, he said.

The money already is available — none of it is taxpayers'— since the funds come from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses, he explained. Matching federal funds, derived from the same sources, also are available.

Discussing Beaver Creek State Park, Adrian said it was established in 1945 when the State Legislature set up an appropriation to acquire land.

Originally scheduled to have 8,000 acres, only, 1,700 have been bought but the Council hopes to have the legislature appropriate funds to purchase the remaining ground.

At present, the park is very confusing to visitors since the grounds are not together. Farms were jumped, Adrian explained, and visitors find themselves on private land.

The Council also is asking the State to establish nature trails, bridle paths and camping facilities and to restore Gaston's Mill.

The historical side of the Beaver Creek area has been lost except for a few interested local historians, he declared, relating the story of the engineer who built Gretchen's lock near Sprucevale.

En route to America from Europe, E. H. Gill's wife died and was buried at sea and he continued to Sprucevale with his daughter, Gretchen. The youngster contracted malaria at Sprucevale and also died and a crypt was prepared in the lock masonry.

Weirton Auto Firm Enters Cruiser Case

More Briefs Slated In Entanglement On Hancock Cars

The classic court battle between Hancock County commissioners over the purchase of two cruisers for the sheriff's office plunged deeper into a legal quagmire Friday afternoon.

In legal sparring in Circuit Court chambers in New Cumberland, Judge Ralph E. Pryor was presented additional briefs to study in reaching a decision on whether William C. Graham of Chester should be compelled to authorize payment for the vehicles.

The case cruised into court Dec. 19 with Commissioners Lyle F. Virden and James Finley on one side, and Graham on the other — at bitter odds over buying the vehicles from Hilltop Motors in Weirton.

Now, there is a triumvirate with the official entry into the case of the Weirton auto agency represented by Atty. Frank A. Pietranton.

The motor firm became involved officially with the presentation of a petition of intervention Friday afternoon by Atty. Pietranton. The cruisers were ordered from Hilltop Motors by Virden and Finley but Graham has blocked payment by refusing to sign the necessary checks.

Budget Policy Parley Ended By Kennedy

Sends Gordon Back To Washington For Finishing Touches

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy has sent his new budget director back to Washington to put the finishing touches on the bulky document after three days of policy talks at the holiday White House.

Kermit Gordon, sworn in Friday as chief overseer of the federal purse strings, flew back to Washington after dusk following a 90 minute conference with Kennedy.

Before departure, Gordon said some changes might yet be made in the budget for the 1964 fiscal year that begins next July 1.

It was apparent, however, that most of the key question marks were disposed of in meetings this week on tax cut plans, military spending, and legislative proposals involving aid to education and medical care for aged through Social Security.

The Kennedy-Gordon session Friday night was focused on the administration's 1963 legislative program and its effect on the forthcoming budget. Sitting in on the talks were Elmer Staats, deputy budget director, and Lawrence F. O'Brien, a key presidential adviser on congressional relations.

With this meeting, Kennedy cleared the decks of all announced appointments until after the New Year's holiday. However, the chief executive had a date today in Miami with survivors of the disastrous Cuban invasion of April 1961. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, were to fly to Miami to watch the Cubans pass in review in that city's Orange Bowl stadium.

Some of the final questions about the record $99 billion budget due in mid-January were resolved at a session at which Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze and Kennedy reviewed new education and medical care legislation they hope will "be more palatable" to opponents.

This was the way legislation was characterized by Celebrezze following the 2½-hour session.

AJACCIO, Corsica (AP) — A four-engine French plane with 21 persons aboard disappeared on this Mediterranean island today, airline sources said. Search parties began a hunt for the plane.

Clay Cascades

5 Killed, 11 Hurt In Wall Cave-In

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tons of red clay cascaded down an embankment Friday and knocked over a partly constructed concrete wall, killing five workmen and injuring 11.

Two other men thought missing for a time in the suburban Maryland cave-in were located by police after rescue workers searched for five hours through a tangled mass of steel, splintered wood, hardened concrete and clay gumbo.

One of the dead, Edgar Poole, 57, a carpenter, was from Takoma Park, Md. The others all from Baltimore, were Lester Dowell, 33, Mellie Smith, 23, Robert Washington, 37, and Raffer Hendrix, 29.

The wall, part of the basement substructure for a department store in a 70-acre shopping center, collapsed at 1:30 p.m. Survivors said there was no warning.

A crew of about 20 men was working on the section of wall.

Lions Hear County Aide

High Priority Given Lake And Park Project In Area

Construction of the long-delayed Highlandtown lake and acquisition of additional land for the Beaver Creek State Park have the highest priority among projects of the Columbiana County Parks and Forest Council, the Lions Club was told Friday afternoon.

Howard Adrian of Williamsport, a member of the council and chairman of the county farmer-sportsmen's organization, discussed the proposed facilities and the need for conservation of natural resources and lashed out at the damage by coal stripping in the meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

Adrian also urged more public support for the projects, asking individuals and groups to prod legislators into action.

"Highlandtown has been a political football," Adrian declared, but he said the parks council hopes to have it removed from that category and to see construction of the dam.

Some 2,400 acres would be included in the Highlandtown project with the lake covering about 700 acres, he said.

The money already is available — none of it is taxpayers'— since the funds come from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses, he explained. Matching federal funds, derived from the same sources, also are available.

Discussing Beaver Creek State Park, Adrian said it was established in 1945 when the State Legislature set up an appropriation to acquire land.

Originally scheduled to have 8,000 acres, only 1,700 have been bought but the Council hopes to have the legislature appropriate funds to purchase the remaining ground.

At present, the park is very confusing to visitors since the grounds are not together. Farms were jumped, Adrian explained, and visitors find themselves on private land.

The Council also is asking the State to establish nature trails, bridle paths and camping facilities and to restore Gaston's Mill.

The historical side of the Beaver Creek area has been lost except for a few interested local historians, he declared, relating the story of the engineer who built Gretchen's lock near Sprucevale.

En route to America from Europe, E. H. Gill's wife died and was buried at sea and he continued to Sprucevale with his daughter, Gretchen. The youngster contracted malaria at Sprucevale and also died and a crypt was prepared in the lock masonry.

Weirton Auto Firm Enters Cruiser Case

More Briefs Slated In Entanglement On Hancock Cars

The classic court battle between Hancock County commissioners over the purchase of two cruisers for the sheriff's office plunged deeper into a legal quagmire Friday afternoon.

In legal sparring in Circuit Court chambers in New Cumberland, Judge Ralph E. Pryor was presented additional briefs to study in reaching a decision on whether William C. Graham of Chester should be compelled to authorize payment for the vehicles.

The case cruised into court Dec. 19 with Commissioners Lyle F. Virden and James Finley on one side, and Graham on the other — at bitter odds over buying the vehicles from Hilltop Motors in Weirton.

Now, there is a triumvirate with the official entry into the case of the Weirton auto agency represented by Atty. Frank A. Pietranton.

The motor firm became involved officially with the presentation of a petition of intervention Friday afternoon by Atty. Pietranton. The cruisers were ordered from Hilltop Motors by Virden and Finley but Graham has blocked payment by refusing to sign the necessary checks.

While the legal hassle continues, two black Studebaker Lark cruis-

Plans On $15 Million Freeway Link Aired

Engineers and officials of the State Highway Department conferred at New Philadelphia Thursday to resolve design features for another section of State Route 11 —the Lake Erie-To-Ohio Freeway —in Columbiana County. The session was held at the Division 11 offices.

Haydn & Associates, Boston, consulting engineers, met with officials from the Columbus and New Philadelphia offices of the highway department to discuss design details for the 13.7-mile stretch between County Rd. 424 and State Route 164 south of Columbiana. The consultant is preparing construction plans for this entire section, which is estimated to cost in excess of $15 million.

A representative of the Bureau of Public Roads also attended.

Beaver Skips Tax Increase

BEAVER — In a yearend review, Beaver County commissioners are giving county residents a New Year's greeting of no county tax increase in 1963.

The review revealed that the county had no deficiency spending this year and a cash reserve and a sizeable capital reserve fund were built.

The estimated budget for this year was $4,928,508 of which the county spent $4,609,554, or $318,954 less than the estimate.

During the year, $450,000 was set aside in the capital reserve fund which now totals $487,287 It will be increased considerably during the coming year since some money spent will be reimbursed by the state and federal governments.

Among capital improvements, before the $450,000 was added, were: ground purchased at the county airport, $11,500; airport improvements, $224,921, of which 75 per cent is to be reimbursed; $3,178 for completion of sandblasting of the exterior of the Courthouse; heating and plumbing at the County Jail for which $80,076 of $100,000 was paid; and $29,745 for the initial cost for the county home and hospital addition. There were also improvements to the parks.

From the cash reserve, the county recalled a 1959 10 - year bond issue and saved on interest by paying $325,000 of the $415,000 issue.

Interest and principal paid on all bonds during the year, excluding the bond issue paid off, totaled $426,900.

Election Results Given

Chamber Members Pick 7 Men For Trustee Posts

The names of seven men elected to three - year terms on the Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce were announced late Friday afternoon when a tellers' committee submitted a report at a special meeting of the board.

They are:

The tellers' committee was comprised of Harold Sneddon, chairman, Paul Blair and Robert L. Brooks, substituting for Donald U. Honicky, who was called out of town. It tabulated the results of the annual election in which Chamber members balloted by mail to name the seven new trustees from a field of 14 nominees.

The slate was presented to the board Dec. 11 by a nominating committee headed by David G. Boyce. The ballots were mailed the following day.

Retiring members of the board are Boyce, C. W. Ashbaugh, David E. Beatty, Ralph W. Betts, George S. Bloomgren, C. V. Hughes, A. C. Purinton Jr., Alvin T. Babb and William D. Ogilvie. The terms of Babb and Ogilvie expired in 1961 but they remained an additional year as officers. Babb is president and Ogilvie is first vice president.

Weirton Firm Enters Case

ers remain parked in the rear of the County Courthouse, at the sheriff's disposal but unused as yet.

Finley and Virden seek a writ of mandamus that would compel Graham to take the necessary step — a stroke of the pen — to authorize their official delivery.

Graham is president of County Court, comprised of the three commissioners, and is subsequently the official "check-signer." He is defendant in the court battle, represented by Atty. William J. Moore of Weirton.

Atty. Moore yesterday filed a petition opposing on 22 different points the intervention by Hilltop Motors. He previously filed a brief answering the original request for a writ of mandamus by the attorneys representing Finley and Virden.

Counsel for Finley and Virden —Atty. Floyd R. Tarr and Atty. Donald Donell joined in by filing cases of authority to substantiate their contentions that Graham should be compelled to authorize payment.

Additional briefs will be filed by Graham's attorney Wednesday.

Judge Pryor told the parties that "the court got the citations of authority only today, and has not had an opportunity to study them."

"I don't know if I will get the opportunity by Jan. 1, and in that event I will turn them over to Judge McClure."

Judge Pryor will leave the Hancock bench Jan. 1 and will be succeeded by Judge James McClure of Ohio County.

Court observors said it is possible that a decision in the case may not be reached by the time that the Grand Jury convenes in mid-January.

Comments by the attorneys appeared to indicate that the decision will hinge on whether the bid of Hilltop Motors was accepted at a regular County Court meeting, and if the meeting was adjourned before Finley and Virden voted to accept the offer.

Atty. Moore contends that Virden and Finley made their decision to purchase the cruisers from Hilltop Motors after the regular meeting on Sept. 4 was adjourned and without the knowledge of Graham.

Judge Pryor said earlier that if the minutes of the meeting are impeached it will necessitate testimony from Don Stewart, county clerk, as to what took place during the meeting.

Graham has objected to signing checks for the two cruisers by contending that the offers could be shaved by more competitive bidding.

The Chester commissioner apparently let it be known that Hilltop's prices could be "beat" by a Pittsburgh motor agency.

"The Studebaker company said the offers of the Pittsburgh people are much less than the price of autos from the factory," Atty. Pietranton declared in Friday's hearing. He did not elaborate on the range of the offers or to whom they were made.

"Either the Pittsburgh dealer is selling stolen cars or there is a gross understanding between them," he said, apparently referring to Graham. "Also, the autos in question did not and could not meet the specifications needed, such as heavy - duty parts," Pietranton continued.

According to the minutes of the County Court meeting, Hilltop Motors bid was $2,793.11 for a 1963 model Lark and $1,748 for the second cruiser with an allowance of $1,225.11 for trade-in of a 1961 Chevrolet.

The court hassle hasn't cost county taxpayers any money as yet. County Court is represented by Tarr and Donell, the prosecutor and his aide, legal advisers for the body.

Meanwhile, another quarrel by commissioners — over raises granted two women clerks by Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny — apparently isn't settled as yet.

Atty. Moore said he will appeal to the West Virginia State Supreme Court Judge Pryor's decision that the sheriff has the authority to grant salary raises if he is operating within the bounds of the budget allotted him by county commissioners.

Graham also blocked the raises for Eleanor Patterson and Irene Cullen, clerks in the sheriff's tax office. But Judge Pryor ruled for the sheriff in his bid to allow the women to collect $150 in back pay, or monthly wage hikes of $25 granted in July but never paid because of Graham's objections.

Miss Patterson's yearly salary is $4,620 and Mrs. Cullen's is $4,020. Each has served over 10 years in the tax department and were to have collected their back pay Dec. 20. But the decision by Atty. Moore to appeal has blocked their efforts.

Councilmen Fill Chester Position

Kenneth Williams, 40, of 931 Plutus Ave., Chester, was named pumper and meter reader for the Chester municipal water works at a special meeting of City Council this morning.

He succeeds Jess Selmon, who was named water superintendent last week following the resignation of Lewis Govey. The starting salary is $4,200 a year and after Williams passes a water works examination and receives a license, the salary will be increased to $4,400.

Other applicants were Willard Enochs, Robert Cain, John Cline and Joe Blankenship, all of Chester.

Williams is married and has one son and one daughter. He has been employed the last seven years as supply clerk at the Globe Brick Co. Previously he was a kilnhand at the Tayor, Smith & Taylor Co.

Council met at City Hall.

Project Cleared

EAST PALESTINE — Mayor Robert Harding Friday was advised by the Health, Education and Welfare office at Chicago to proceed with construction of a new sewage disposal plant for the city. of the auto, spun it around and then struck the car's left side, police said.

There was heavy damage to the rear and left side of the auto and light damage to the front end of the bus, officers said.

A "fender bender" at 8 a. m. at Washington and E. 2nd Sts. involved an auto driven by William E. Holliday, 63, of 409 8th St., Wellsville, and a parked car owned by Robert J. Hildebrand of Lisbon R. D. 1.

Holliday told police he was unable to climb Washington St. and started to back down when his car skidded into the right front fender of Hildebrand's auto.

At 8:30 a. m., three cars were involved in a crash on Jefferson St. near W. 8th St.

Police said a car operated by John Thomas Rayl, 49, of 673 St. Clair Ave., had started up the grade when his wheels began to spin and his car skidded into an unidentified auto and a 1959 sedan operated by Dr. Arthur L. Turner, 69, of 146 W. 5th St., which was disabled against the curb.

Two accidents were reported almost simultaneously on Minerva St. about 9 a. m.

An eastbound 1959 sedan driven by Mildred Jones, 31, of Glenmoor slid into an unidentified parked car, damaging the right front of the Jones auto and the left door of the other auto, police reported.

A few minutes later, James N. Hall of St. Clair Ave. Ext. headed west on Minerva St. at Avondale St. skidded and struck the parked auto of Paul Bontempt Jr., 654 Avondale St., officers said.

The last in the series of mishaps was reported at 9:17 a. m. when Mildred E. Emmerling, 39, of R. D. 2, headed east on E. 4th St. near Washington St., slid into the parked car of Ernest Lowe, 410 Wedgewood St. The right side of Mrs. Emmerling's 1962 car and the left side of Lowe's 1962 sedan were damaged.

Celebrezze said that basically the programs will hew to the same "underlying philosophy" of administration bills that failed to gain passage in the last Congress.

However, he indicated that some significant concessions would be made to the opposition.

Kennedy asked for some changes in the legislation proposed to him, but Celebrezze indicated these were not substantial.

Hancock Seeks Names Of Those 100 Years Old

The Hancock County Centennial Committee is seeking the names of 100-year-old county residents who are to be honored in February as part of West Virginia's centennial observance.

Martin F. Fahey of Weirton, county centennial chairman, said the state committee has the names of 16 centenarians thus far, including one from Brooke County, but none has been located in Hancock County. He asked any persons knowing of 100-year-old local residents to contact him.

Tom Murphy of the Centennial Commision Staff in Charleston has announced that all persons 100 or older will be honored Feb. 14. With the co-operation of county committees, each citizen will be presented with a birthday cake and appropriate gifts, he said.

To date, the centennial commission has the names of five centenarians from Marion County, three from Kanawha County, two from Randolph, and one each from Brooke, Harrison, Monongalia, McDowell, Roane and Webster Counties.

One of every three immigrants arriving in the United States since 1947 has had a professional, technical or skilled occupational background.

Priority Given To Lake, Park

When Gill resigned as chief engineer, he removed his daughter's body from the crypt to return it to her birthplace in Europe for burial. But in a storm at sea, all were lost.

Local history should be studied in schools, Adrian advocated, so that it can be perpetuated, explaining many residents would be astonished to learn of a salt spring at Jethro where Indians and settlers declared a truce so each could boil down salt for winter use.

The Beaver Creek park primarily is a forest area and should be preserved in its natural state, he continued, pointing out about 1,000 acres has been leased to stripping firms who eventually strip the ground.

"There will be no more forests or streams," Adrian declared, pointing out the water becomes so contaminated with sulphuric acid that only a few fish can survive and cattle refuse to drink it.

The laws regulating coal stripping are not adequate, he declared. Coal strippers are required to post a bond for each acre stripped with the money to be returned when the ground is leveled and reforested. "But somewhere along the line, someone shuts his eyes," Adrian said.

Conservation affects everyone since it is the preservation of our natural resources.

Water is one of the most valuable resources the nation has but it's renewable only to the extent that pollution is kept out, Adrian said, citing the establishment of the eight-state organization to keep streams from being polluted by municipal and industrial waste.

Trees also are essential, especially in watersheds since each mature tree can hold back 89 gallons of water. Beaver Creek is a natural watershed, he said.

Depletion has been noted since early times but the country "should be wise enough to preserve what it has left," he cautioned.

Adrian was introduced by William Kozel Jr., program chairman.

Dr. William Bartolovich was introduced as a new member. John T. Smith, first vice president, presided.

Parks Council Plans Beaver's Promotion

LISBON — Several members of the Columbiana County Forests and Parks Council will visit leading business executives in neighboring cities next month to promote interest in expanding Beaver Creek State Park. Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, chairman, presided for the planning session Friday night in the Extension Service Office here. Nineteen members attended.

The teams of visitors are to report at the next meeting Jan. 31 and plans will be made to contact the State Legislature concerning the park. County Agent Floyd Lower of Lisbon, secretary, said the council is trying to complete a contract with the Ohio Division of Parks for restoration of Gaston's Mill in Beaver Creek Park.

City Trash Schedules Will Slow Next Week

Trash pickup will be considerably behind schedule next week, Incinerator Supt. John Melvin said today as the department suspended operations because of icy streets.

Melvin asked householders to "bear with us" and added the trash and garbage will be picked up as early as possible next week.

Melvin said the trash schedules were running behind this week because of the holiday.

The department had expected to complete the pickup in Pleasant Heights, North Side and in the St. Clair Ave., Avondale, Cadmus and Sophia St. areas today until forced to call off work, Melvin said.

Katanga

Elisabethville's central post office and the U.N. claimed to have complete freedom for its forces, following the seizure of 20 Katangan road-blocks.

The U.N. military commander, Indian Brig. Reginald Noronha, accused Tshombe of being insincere during peace talks Friday. He said the fighting Friday night and this morning could have been avoided if Tshombe had signed an agreement to remove his roadblocks.

Other U.N. officials, have said Tshombe seemed to be acting in good faith in seeking a halt to the shooting.

Tshombe's personal guard was reported to have fled from the palace after exchanging only a few shots with advancing U.N. troops.

The U.N. had no report on Katangan casualties.

Belgian travelers from Katanga reaching the North Rhodesian border said late Friday that U.N. troops supported by heavy mortar fire had closed in on the heart of Elisabethville in a broad arc from both sides of the Union Miniere refinery at Lumumbashi. They also reported that the Katangans strongly resisted another attack launched from the northwest.

The reports from North Rhodesia said heavy fighting was still going on along the road to Kipushi and that Tshombe was believed to have escaped to a village somewhere south of Elisabethville.

Meanwhile, the first group of U.N. civilians — mostly dependents — evacuated from the Katangan capital arrived by air in Leopoldville.

A telegram reaching the United Nations in Leopoldville from the Katangan capital said U.N. forces controlled the post office, the railroad station, the studios of Radio Katanga and Tshombe's palace.

The U.N. command moved into action after repeated failures by Tshombe to bring an end to the firing of his gendarmes. It appeared that Tshombe did not have control over his men. U.S. officials said they were convinced Tshombe acted in good faith in seeking an end to the shooting.

In Washington, U.S. officials said they had a report from the U.S. Mission in the Congo that the outbreak was touched off by an Ethiopian U.N. sentry firing into the air at the approach of a Katangan soldier who didn't understand an order to halt.

The outpost had previously been manned by Tunisian U.N. troops who had good relations with the Katangans because both forces spoke French.

The United Nations said Katangans fired on a U.N. patrol Wednesday night and again Thursday night, but U.N. forces did not return the fire.

U.N. accounts said the international troops were under frequent machinegun, automatic weapons and mortar fire throughout Friday morning and afternoon but did not reply to the attacks until late afternoon.

Britain Urges Quick Cease-Fire In Congo

LONDON (AP) — Britain today urged an immediate cease-fire in the fighting between U.N. and Katangan forces. It warned against "the futility of trying to impose a political settlement on the Congo by force."

Trucks Halt At Wellsville

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare of Wellsville pulled the city's refuse trucks off their routes this morning after they became involved in minor accidents because of the icy conditions of city streets.

Police said a garbage truck struck a parked car owned by Harriett Metzger, 811 Riverside Ave., at 6th St. The truck slid into the vehicle, police said.

A city ash truck driven by Vic Pucci slid sideways into a parked car on 9th St. owned by Robert Lowther of 9th St. The left rear of the car was damaged, officers said.

Two cars were damaged when another garbage truck slid sideways from Maple Alley to Broadway, police said. The names of the owners were not known.

Officers said they were swamped with calls of minor mishaps. Many already had left before officers arrived.

Police said the secondary streets and the alleys were very treacherous. One officer said a bus was involved in a crash.

Baldasare said the road leading into the city dump off Route 39 also was hazardous.

Men in the refuse department were working today as they were one day behind schedule because of Christmas. They will work Sunday to catch up, if weather permits, Baldasare said.

Mayor At Salineville Fines Hit-Skipper $20

SALINEVILLE — William Holmes, 52, of E. Main St., was fined $20 and costs at a hearing Friday night before Mayor Stanley Fitch on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

The defendant was cited early Dec. 24 after his car struck that of Walter Maple.

Mayor Fitch also fined Harold Dennis, 50, $50 and costs on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, on a complaint made by a brother, Bill Dennis.

Dennis is to work out the fine with the street department at $3 a day.

Beaver Skips Tax Increase

BEAVER — In a yearend review, Beaver County commissioners are giving county residents a New Year's greeting of no county tax increase in 1963.

The review revealed that the county had no deficiency spending this year and a cash reserve and a sizeable capital reserve fund were built.

The estimated budget for this year was $4,928,508 of which the county spent $4,609,554, or $318,954 less than the estimate.

During the year, $450,000 was set aside in the capital reserve fund which now totals $487,287 It will be increased considerably during the coming year since some money spent will be reimbursed by the state and federal governments.

Among capital improvements, before the $450,000 was added, were: ground purchased at the county airport, $11,500; airport improvements, $224,921, of which 75 per cent is to be reimbursed; $3,178 for completion of sandblasting of the exterior of the Courthouse; heating and plumbing at the County Jail for which $80,076 of $100,000 was paid; and $29,745 for the initial cost for the county home and hospital addition. There were also improvements to the parks.

From the cash reserve, the county recalled a 1959 10 - year bond issue and saved on interest by paying $325,000 of the $415,000 issue.

Interest and principal paid on all bonds during the year, excluding the bond issue paid off, totaled $426,900.

Election Results Given

Chamber Members Pick 7 Men For Trustee Posts

The names of seven men elected to three - year terms on the Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce were announced late Friday afternoon when a tellers' committee submitted a report at a special meeting of the board.

They are:

H. J. English, assistant manager of the Columbiana County Motor Club; John T. Hall of the Hall China Co.; James A. Locke, proprietor of the James Locke Jewelry Store; Wendell H. Vodrey of the Moore Furniture Co.; W. E. Williams, area manager of the Ohio Power Co.; Joseph D. Coons of WOHI and George A. Shaw, new business manager of The Review.

The tellers' committee was comprised of Harold Sneddon, chairman, Paul Blair and Robert L. Brooks, substituting for Donald U. Honicky, who was called out of town. It tabulated the results of the annual election in which Chamber members balloted by mail to name the seven new trustees from a field of 14 nominees.

The slate was presented to the board Dec. 11 by a nominating committee headed by David G. Boyce. The ballots were mailed the following day.

Retiring members of the board are Boyce, C. W. Ashbaugh, David E. Beatty, Ralph W. Betts, George S. Bloomgren, C. V. Hughes, A. C. Purinton Jr., Alvin T. Babb and William D. Ogilvie. The terms of Babb and Ogilvie expired in 1961 but they remained an additional year as officers. Babb is president and Ogilvie is first vice president.

Hold - over members of the board are: Robert E. Boyce, William B. Cooper, Dr. J. A. Fraser, Atty. Francis H. Lang, Norman Nicely, Winston A. Porter, Glenn B. Roberts, Don Eckert, Harry Martin, Maurice Rapport, Sneddon, Judge Louis Tobin, Dr. A. A. Turner and J. M. Wells Jr.

Weirton Firm Enters Case

ers remain parked in the rear of the County Courthouse, at the sheriff's disposal but unused as yet.

Finley and Virden seek a writ of mandamus that would compel Graham to take the necessary step — a stroke of the pen — to authorize their official delivery.

Graham is president of County Court, comprised of the three commissioners, and is subsequently the official "check-signer." He is defendant in the court battle, represented by Atty. William J. Moore of Weirton.

Atty. Moore yesterday filed a petition opposing on 22 different points the intervention by Hilltop Motors. He previously filed a brief answering the original request for a writ of mandamus by the attorneys representing Finley and Virden.

Counsel for Finley and Virden —Atty. Floyd R. Tarr and Atty. Donald Donell joined in by filing cases of authority to substantiate their contentions that Graham should be compelled to authorize payment.

Additional briefs will be filed by Graham's attorney Wednesday.

Judge Pryor told the parties that "the court got the citations of authority only today, and has not had an opportunity to study them."

"I don't know if I will get the opportunity by Jan. 1, and in that event I will turn them over to Judge McClure."

Judge Pryor will leave the Hancock bench Jan. 1 and will be succeeded by Judge James McClure of Ohio County.

Court observors said it is possible that a decision in the case may not be reached by the time that the Grand Jury convenes in mid-January.

Comments by the attorneys appeared to indicate that the decision will hinge on whether the bid of Hilltop Motors was accepted at a regular County Court meeting, and if the meeting was adjourned before Finley and Virden voted to accept the offer.

Atty. Moore contends that Virden and Finley made their decision to purchase the cruisers from Hilltop Motors after the regular meeting on Sept. 4 was adjourned and without the knowledge of Graham.

Judge Pryor said earlier that if the minutes of the meeting are impeached it will necessitate testimony from Don Stewart, county clerk, as to what took place during the meeting.

Graham has objected to signing checks for the two cruisers by contending that the offers could be shaved by more competitive bidding.

The Chester commissioner apparently let it be known that Hilltop's prices could be "beat" by a Pittsburgh motor agency.

"The Studebaker company said the offers of the Pittsburgh people are much less than the price of autos from the factory," Atty. Pietranton declared in Friday's hearing. He did not elaborate on the range of the offers or to whom they were made.

"Either the Pittsburgh dealer is selling stolen cars or there is a gross understanding between them," he said, apparently referring to Graham. "Also, the autos in question did not and could not meet the specifications needed, such as heavy - duty parts," Pietranton continued.

According to the minutes of the County Court meeting, Hilltop Motors bid was $2,793.11 for a 1963 model Lark and $1,748 for the second cruiser with an allowance of $1,225.11 for trade-in of a 1961 Chevrolet.

The court hassle hasn't cost county taxpayers any money as yet. County Court is represented by Tarr and Donell, the prosecutor and his aide, legal advisers for the body.

Meanwhile, another quarrel by commissioners — over raises granted two women clerks by Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny — apparently isn't settled as yet.

Atty. Moore said he will appeal to the West Virginia State Supreme Court Judge Pryor's decision that the sheriff has the authority to grant salary raises if he is operating within the bounds of the budget allotted him by county commissioners.

Graham also blocked the raises for Eleanor Patterson and Irene Cullen, clerks in the sheriff's tax office. But Judge Pryor ruled for the sheriff in his bid to allow the women to collect $150 in back pay, or monthly wage hikes of $25 granted in July but never paid because of Graham's objections.

Miss Patterson's yearly salary is $4,620 and Mrs. Cullen's is $4,020. Each has served over 10 years in the tax department and were to have collected their back pay Dec. 20. But the decision by Atty. Moore to appeal has blocked their efforts.

Councilmen Fill Chester Position

Kenneth Williams, 40, of 931 Plutus Ave., Chester, was named pumper and meter reader for the Chester municipal water works at a special meeting of City Council this morning.

He succeeds Jess Selmon, who was named water superintendent last week following the resignation of Lewis Govey. The starting salary is $4,200 a year and after Williams passes a water works examination and receives a license, the salary will be increased to $4,400.

Other applicants were Willard Enochs, Robert Cain, John Cline and Joe Blankenship, all of Chester.

Williams is married and has one son and one daughter. He has been employed the last seven years as supply clerk at the Globe Brick Co. Previously he was a kilnhand at the Tayor, Smith & Taylor Co.

Council met at City Hall.

Project Cleared

EAST PALESTINE — Mayor Robert Harding Friday was advised by the Health, Education and Welfare office at Chicago to proceed with construction of a new sewage disposal plant for the city. The federal government will pay $80,000 and the city $200,000. Preliminary excavation already has started near the present plant.

Traffic

of the auto, spun it around and then struck the car's left side, police said.

There was heavy damage to the rear and left side of the auto and light damage to the front end of the bus, officers said.

A "fender bender" at 8 a. m. at Washington and E. 2nd Sts. involved an auto driven by William E. Holliday, 63, of 409 8th St., Wellsville, and a parked car owned by Robert J. Hildebrand of Lisbon R. D. 1.

Holliday told police he was unable to climb Washington St. and started to back down when his car skidded into the right front fender of Hildebrand's auto.

At 8:30 a. m., three cars were involved in a crash on Jefferson St. near W. 8th St.

Police said a car operated by John Thomas Rayl, 49, of 673 St. Clair Ave., had started up the grade when his wheels began to spin and his car skidded into an unidentified auto and a 1959 sedan operated by Dr. Arthur L. Turner, 69, of 146 W. 5th St., which was disabled against the curb.

Two accidents were reported almost simultaneously on Minerva St. about 9 a. m.

An eastbound 1959 sedan driven by Mildred Jones, 31, of Glenmoor slid into an unidentified parked car, damaging the right front of the Jones auto and the left door of the other auto, police reported.

A few minutes later, James N. Hall of St. Clair Ave. Ext. headed west on Minerva St. at Avondale St. skidded and struck the parked auto of Paul Bontempt Jr., 654 Avondale St., officers said.

The last in the series of mishaps was reported at 9:17 a. m. when Mildred E. Emmerling, 39, of R. D. 2, headed east on E. 4th St. near Washington St., slid into the parked car of Ernest Lowe, 410 Wedgewood St. The right side of Mrs. Emmerling's 1962 car and the left side of Lowe's 1962 sedan were damaged.

Celebrezze said that basically the programs will hew to the same "underlying philosophy" of administration bills that failed to gain passage in the last Congress.

However, he indicated that some significant concessions would be made to the opposition.

Kennedy asked for some changes in the legislation proposed to him, but Celebrezze indicated these were not substantial.

Hancock Seeks Names Of Those 100 Years Old

The Hancock County Centennial Committee is seeking the names of 100-year-old county residents who are to be honored in February as part of West Virginia's centennial observance.

Martin F. Fahey of Weirton, county centennial chairman, said the state committee has the names of 16 centenarians thus far, including one from Brooke County, but none has been located in Hancock County. He asked any persons knowing of 100-year-old local residents to contact him.

Tom Murphy of the Centennial Commision Staff in Charleston has announced that all persons 106 or older will be honored Feb. 14. With the co-operation of county committees, each citizen will be presented with a birthday cake and appropriate gifts, he said.

To date, the centennial commission has the names of five centenarians from Marion County, three from Kanawha County, two from Randolph, and one each from Brooke, Harrison, Monongalia, McDowell, Roane and Webster Counties.

One of every three immigrants arriving in the United States since 1947 has had a professional, technical or skilled occupational background.

Priority Given To Lake, Park

When Gill resigned as chief engineer, he removed his daughter's body from the crypt to return it to her birthplace in Europe for burial. But in a storm at sea, all were lost.

Local history should be studied in schools, Adrian advocated, so that it can be perpetuated, explaining many residents would be astonished to learn of a salt spring at Jethro where Indians and settlers declared a truce so each could boil down salt for winter use.

The Beaver Creek park primarily is a forest area and should be preserved in its natural state, he continued, pointing out about 1,000 acres has been leased to stripping firms who eventually strip the ground.

"There will be no more forests or streams," Adrian declared, pointing out the water becomes so contaminated with sulphuric acid that only a few fish can survive and cattle refuse to drink it.

The laws regulating coal stripping are not adequate, he declared. Coal strippers are required to post a bond for each acre stripped with the money to be returned when the ground is leveled and reforested. "But somewhere along the line, someone shuts his eyes," Adrian said.

Conservation affects everyone since it is the preservation of our natural resources.

Water is one of the most valuable resources the nation has but it's renewable only to the extent that pollution is kept out, Adrian said, citing the establishment of the eight-state organization to keep streams from being polluted by municipal and industrial waste.

Trees also are essential, especially in watersheds since each mature tree can hold back 89 gallons of water. Beaver Creek is a natural watershed, he said.

Depletion has been noted since early times but the country "should be wise enough to preserve what it has left," he cautioned.

Adrian was introduced by William Kozel Jr., program chairman.

Dr. William Bartolovich was introduced as a new member. John T. Smith, first vice president, presided.

Parks Council Plans Beaver's Promotion

LISBON — Several members of the Columbiana County Forests and Parks Council will visit leading business executives in neighboring cities next month to promote interest in expanding Beaver Creek State Park. Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, chairman, presided for the planning session Friday night in the Extension Service Office here. Nineteen members attended.

The teams of visitors are to report at the next meeting Jan. 31 and plans will be made to contact the State Legislature concerning the park. County Agent Floyd Lower of Lisbon, secretary, said the council is trying to complete a contract with the Ohio Division of Parks for restoration of Gaston's Mill in Beaver Creek Park.

City Trash Schedules Will Slow Next Week

Trash pickup will be considerably behind schedule next week, Incinerator Supt. John Melvin said today as the department suspended operations because of icy streets.

Melvin asked householders to "bear with us" and added the trash and garbage will be picked up as early as possible next week.

Melvin said the trash schedules were running behind this week because of the holiday.

The department had expected to complete the pickup in Pleasant Heights, North Side and in the St. Clair Ave., Avondale, Cadmus and Sophia St. areas today until forced to call off work, Melvin said.

Katanga

Elisabethville's central post office and the U.N. claimed to have complete freedom for its forces, following the seizure of 20 Katangan road-blocks.

The U.N. military commander, Indian Brig. Reginald Noronha, accused Tshombe of being insincere during peace talks Friday. He said the fighting Friday night and this morning could have been avoided if Tshombe had signed an agreement to remove his roadblocks.

Other U.N. officials, have said Tshombe seemed to be acting in good faith in seeking a halt to the shooting.

Tshombe's personal guard was reported to have fled from the palace after exchanging only a few shots with advancing U.N. troops.

The U.N. had no report on Katangan casualties.

Belgian travelers from Katanga reaching the North Rhodesian border said late Friday that U.N. troops supported by heavy mortar fire had closed in on the heart of Elisabethville in a broad arc from both sides of the Union Miniere refinery at Lumumbashi. They also reported that the Katangans strongly resisted another attack launched from the northwest.

The reports from North Rhodesia said heavy fighting was still going on along the road to Kipushi and that Tshombe was believed to have escaped to a village somewhere south of Elisabethville.

Meanwhile, the first group of U.N. civilians — mostly dependents — evacuated from the Katangan capital arrived by air in Leopoldville.

A telegram reaching the United Nations in Leopoldville from the Katangan capital said U.N. forces controlled the post office, the railroad station, the studios of Radio Katanga and Tshombe's palace.

The U.N. command moved into action after repeated failures by Tshombe to bring an end to the firing of his gendarmes. It appeared that Tshombe did not have control over his men. U.S. officials said they were convinced Tshombe acted in good faith in seeking an end to the shooting.

In Washington, U.S. officials said they had a report from the U.S. Mission in the Congo that the outbreak was touched off by an Ethiopian U.N. sentry firing into the air at the approach of a Katangan soldier who didn't understand an order to halt.

The outpost had previously been manned by Tunisian U.N. troops who had good relations with the Katangans because both forces spoke French.

The United Nations said Katangans fired on a U.N. patrol Wednesday night and again Thursday night, but U.N. forces did not return the fire.

U.N. accounts said the international troops were under frequent machinegun, automatic weapons and mortar fire throughout Friday morning and afternoon but did not reply to the attacks until late afternoon.

Britain Urges Quick Cease-Fire In Congo

LONDON (AP) — Britain today urged an immediate cease-fire in the fighting between U.N. and Katangan forces. It warned against "the futility of trying to impose a political settlement on the Congo by force."

Trucks Halt At Wellsville

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare of Wellsville pulled the city's refuse trucks off their routes this morning after they became involved in minor accidents because of the icy conditions of city streets.

Police said a garbage truck struck a parked car owned by Harriett Metzger, 811 Riverside Ave., at 6th St. The truck slid into the vehicle, police said.

A city ash truck driven by Vic Pucci slid sideways into a parked car on 9th St. owned by Robert Lowther of 9th St. The left rear of the car was damaged, officers said.

Two cars were damaged when another garbage truck slid sideways from Maple Alley to Broadway, police said. The names of the owners were not known.

Officers said they were swamped with calls of minor mishaps. Many already had left before officers arrived.

Police said the secondary streets and the alleys were very treacherous. One officer said a bus was involved in a crash.

Baldasare said the road leading into the city dump off Route 39 also was hazardous.

Men in the refuse department were working today as they were one day behind schedule because of Christmas. They will work Sunday to catch up, if weather permits, Baldasare said.

Named To Replace Tice

John Walsh Appointed As New City Patrolman

John A. (Jack) Walsh, 25, of 1060 Pennsylvania Ave. was appointed late Friday afternoon to the police department post that will be vacated Tuesday when Patrolman Charles E. (Bill) Tice moves up to lieutenant.

Walsh was named by Safety - Service Director Robert Owen from a list certified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. At the same time, Owen officially appointed Tice as a lieutenant, filling the vacancy created July 31 by the resignation of Thomas A. Walker. Both are effective Tuesday, first day of the new year.

Officer Tice placed first in promotional, a test which the commission conducted Thursday night. Under state law, his appointment was automatic.

Appointment of Walsh filled the last of a series of patrolmen's vacancies on the department, the commission said.

Walsh has been employed since August as a clerk at the Burbick Hardware. He served three years in the Marine Corps and was discharged Oct. 30, 1961. He served two years at Parris Island, S. C., and the last year at the Charleston (S. C.) Navy Base. At Charleston, he was a member of a guard detachment and did military police duty.

Walsh was married just two weeks ago to the former Gypsie Miles. A native of Canonsburg, Pa., he was resided in East Liverpool since 1949. His mother, Mrs. Catherine Lovejoy, resides on W. 2nd St.

Officer Tice's name was certified to Owen yesterday by the commission for the lieutenant's vacancy. The director then gave the commission a personnel requisition, asking certification of a name for the patrolman's post. The commission complied by naming Walsh, the only man on its eligibility list.

Palestine Airs Turbine Plans

EAST PALESTINE — Two possible solutions were presented at a citizens meeting held Friday night to determine how to handle a contract for a new turbine for the municipal light plant.

Mayor Robert Harding called the meeting after the city was advised the Allis-Chalmers Co., which was awarded a $593,000 contract in August, is discontinuing the manufacture of turbines.

Representatives of the Westinghouse Corp. and Worthington Corp., both original bidders who were unsuccessful, were in the audience along with a representative from Allis-Chalmers.

The representatives said there is a possibility the contract can be reassigned to Westinghouse or Worthington. The matter of loss of money will have to be determined later.

The other course offered was to make the Alli-Chalmers firm put up a performance bond guaranteeing completion of the work already started.

Definite word is expected next week from Westinghouse and Worthington on their stand in the matter.

Twenty residents attended, along with City Council and other officials. No further public meetings will be called.

Building Destroyed In Cleveland Blaze

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fire early today destroyed a two-story brick building housing several businesses at Cedar and Lee Roads in Cleveland Heights. No injuries were reported.

Firemen said the blaze followed an explosion in Amato's cocktail lounge, but the cause of the blast was not determined. The flames spread to a restaurant, a barber shop, a photography shop and a radio and television repair shop.

3 Speeders Fined

LISBON — County Judge James L. MacDonald Friday fined Roy L. Jeffery, 33, of 251 W. Washington St., Clayton E. Brown Jr. of R. D. 3 and Glenn F. Bircher, 41, of Damascus $2 each for speeding. Raymond E. Salter, 42, of Minerva R. D. forfeited a $20 appearance bond on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. All were State Highway Patrol cases.

Ice

she counted 15 separate accidents in about an hour. She said one parked car was hit five times.

With driving just as hazardous on level areas as on the city's numerous hills, street crews fought a losing battle in an attempt to salt and cinder streets turned into sheets of ice until the thermometer rose above the freezing mark.

Two street department trucks were called out at 5 a.m. and another reported at 6 to begin spreading ashes and salt, but the work chiefly was on grades on main thoroughfares in an attempt to keep them open, Ed Bowersock, assistant street superintendent, said.

Despite the efforts, however, numerous tieups were reported as the morning traffic rush started. The jams were not freed until motorists were able to negotiate hills leading into the city.

By 8:30 a.m., however, many motorists reported only slight difficulty in descending Lisbon St., St. Clair Ave. and Pennsylvania Ave., although level areas at the top of the grades and side streets remained in a treacherous condition.

Police recorded eight accidents in a two-hour period and indicated there may have been just as many that went unreported.

Patrolman William A. Devon, desk officer, was swamped with seven accident reports after reporting for work at 7:30 a.m. and Patrolmen Jack Stroble, Jerry Adkins and Paul Lemal, cruiser operators, were kept busy investigating the accidents in which two women were injured.

Called to investigate a mishap on Minerva St., Patrolman Adkins reported his cruiser was stalled on the icy street and the officer walked a short distance to investigate another mishap.

There was relatively little traffic on the freeway with many motorists using Dresden Ave. to reach the downtown area. The freeway was a glare of ice from W. 3rd St. to the Dresden Ave. intersection.

The Carnegie and Beaver Falls Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said roads in its area were icy and hazardous this morning and the Pittsburgh area had numerous accidents. Midland intersections were ashed.

The mercury rose a couple more degrees by 8 a.m. and the additional rain helped wash roads of the accumulation of slush and ice.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville said the ice started forming on the highways in its area about 5 a. m.

Jefferson County Highway Crews were called out immediately. Traffic came to a virtual halt for about an hour.

The ice started breaking up on the highways about mid-morning although secondary roads still were in bad condition.

Crews from the Pughtown Garage of the West Virginia Road Commission were called out at 5 this morning to begin ashing the ice-glazed highways.

A spokesman said an estimated 75 autos were stalled on Route 22 out of Weirton, while a number of others slid over hillsides in the New Cumberland area. "Even chains were useless this morning," he said.

A traffic snarl was averted on the Route 30 Chester Hill by early ashing.

Several minor accidents occurred on Chester streets this morning due to icy conditions, Patrolman Frank Fetty reported.

The Ohio weatherman said the temperature may rise to a mild range of 34 to 40 today — but it will be only a prelude to a cold wave that will send the mercury tumbling far below freezing tonight.

The Leetonia garage said it expects a possible low of 5 above zero tonight but the Ohio weatherman's forecast indicated a range of 10 to 20 by Sunday morning.

More rain will fall during the day, to be followed by scattered snow flurries and windy. Sunday also will be cold with a chance of snow flurries.

The homes were judged Wednesday between 8:30 and 10:30 p.m., Paul McGeehan, Chamber secretary reported. Lights had to be on for three nights, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

McGeehan said the displays were commendable and some were excellent.

Not Ready For The Last Lesson

P. M. S. Blackett, British physicist writing in the January issue of Harper's magazine, offers a disarmament formula designed to convince skeptics that a quick end to the arms race is possible if the West would revise its inspection demands.

His formula comes under stern criticism in the same issue by Harper's editor-in-chief, John Fischer. And for good reason.

Dr. Blackett's proposal would bring the West to nuclear parity with the Soviet Union by having each nation "publish a complete inventory" of its arms and then destroy an agreed percentage. Only after this had been done would inspection be permitted, to determine whether the inventory tallied with arms destroyed and arms on hand.

"In other words," writes editor Fischer, "he is inviting us to trust the Kremlin's word that it has, say, only 100 ICBMs, taking a chance that we might discover all too late that it had hidden away a couple of hundred never mentioned in the inventory."

TRUSTING the Kremlin's word, as Dr. Blackett must know, is risky business. Wasn't it just last fall that the Soviet Union assured us it had no missiles in Cuba?

As Mr. Fischer points out, the difference in philosophies of the United States and Soviet Union must be figured in any disarmament plan. Russia is an aggressive power; the United States a defensive power.

We can only guess at Russia's nuclear capabilities. The Kremlin is adept at keeping secrets. With scattered exceptions, Russia need use little guesswork in toting up our missile strength. It's not much of a secret.

DR. BLACKETT and many others feel the Cuba showdown has opened the way for disarmament. True, it could go down in history as the crisis that jarred us off the bull's-eye.

But Cuba must also be regarded as this country's most graphic lesson in Soviet deception. Disarmament on Dr. Blackett's terms, disregarding open inspection to determine what is being scrapped, would invite another lesson.

And who wants to bet it wouldn't be the last?

Encouraging Words

Residents of Midland and neighboring communities can take heart from the words of Joel Hunter at this week's press conference in Pittsburgh.

The president of the Crucible Steel Co. of America said that a relatively high percentage of 1963 expenditures will go into the Midland Works.

The mill means so much economic-wise to the district that a report such as Mr. Hunter's is most reassuring. There is every hope for bigger and better things with the knowledge that Crucible is ever ready to keep improving its facilities at Midland and elsewhere.

Meanwhile, A $2 Billion Tax Boost

Do you know about the $2 billion tax rise that goes into effect Jan. 1?

Some of what the federal government says it would like to keep from taking away in 1963 by reforming one tax it is taking away with gusto starting next Tuesday.

This will be done through a jump in Social Security tax rates from 3⅛ per cent to 3⅝ per cent on the first $4,800 of earnings. This is matched by the employer. Thus the total tax boost is twice 4-8 of 1 per cent—1 per cent.

The effect of this rise will be felt most by employes earning more than the base $4,800. The resumption of Social Security taxes starting in January will amount in a sense to a double cut in their take-home pay.

It is the ninth boost in Social Security tax rates since the system was voted into law in 1935. Further rate rises are scheduled for 1966 and 1968. If the medicare plan had gone through this year, rates on employes and employers would have jumped by ¼ per cent each on self-employed persons by 4-10 per cent. Medicare also would have applied the entire tax on the first $5,200 of earnings. It would have been a bone-crushing tax measure.

It is still not comprehended by most potential beneficiaries that the Social Security tax is a prime revenue producer. The $2 billion boost in 1963 will not be paid out to beneficiaries. It will become a credit to the Social Security account in the U.S. Treasury. The money itself will be used for current spending, just like excise and income taxes.

In the long run, Social Security taxes and Old Age benefits are supposed to balance, but in the short run Social Security tax income constitutes a vast floating fund. Yet, by the simple expedient of stressing Social Security benefits instead of the yield from Social Security taxes, the government has been able to keep popular attention diverted from the tax angle.

If by some fiscal legerdemain the government shucks off a few billion in income taxes in 1963 it will claim credit for its open handedness. To keep the record straight it also should take responsibility for a $2 billion tax boost, the effect of a rise in Social Security tax rates.

A tax by any other name or for any other reason is still a diversion of money from the possession of the taxpayer to the possession of his government.

Please Don't Ask For Credit

Attorney James B. Donovan is asking little for swinging the deal that brought 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners to the United States.

No money, just credit, please.

We doubt that he intended to sound as boastful as he was portrayed in a Washington interview in which he said he alone was responsible for negotiating the prisoner exchange.

Government reports had indicated Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy was pulling the strings.

Donovan, understandably, would be irked. He volunteered for the job. It cut into his election campaign time. He lost to Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, though possible for reasons other than time spent campaigning. And then someone else got some credit in the prisoner exchange.

More people than we could enumerate had a hand in making Mr. Donovan's job a success. He admits he had cooperation, but insists he was the Number One Gun.

Maybe we're peculiar, but we admire most the volunteer who does the least crowing, no matter how much he's entitled to.

Credit, Mr. Donovan? You can have all you want, but it does lose some of its luster if you ask for it.

Independent Minds

By Truman Twill

Cyrus Eaton, the industrialist - farmer, was being interviewed on television. It was his 79th birthday.

Referring to some violent reactions from his freely stated belief that the United States must get along with the Soviet Union because the alternative is nuclear war, he said the brickbats never bothered him.

He had achieved independence of mind, he explained — and the implication was clear. At his age and in his condition of affluence he didn't need to curry favor. He could say what he believed to be true.

This was what he aimed to do, he said. He thought everything through to the best of his ability, then expressed his honest opinion. If he turned out to be a minority of one, this did not upset him.

The interview was held on his farm near Cleveland. He was shown riding one of his beautiful horses. One of the background shots showed part of his herd of cattle. Every knowledgeable child knows the success story of this Canadian who started his career with the original John D. Rockefeller, then branched out into the natural gas industry, steel, rubber and paint, making and losing fortunes right and left.

Had it not been for his conviction that the United States must not fight the Soviet Union lest a nuclear war wipe out both countries and much of the world, Cyrus Eaton would be as much a legendary hero of free enterprise as Bernard Baruch and Henry Ford.

But had it not been for his parallel conviction that a man should have independence of mind, no one would need to know anything about the unpopular views of Cyrus Eaton.

Independence of mind . . .

You wonder what's behind it.

Most people have mirror minds that reflect the images that surround them.

Some have trick mirror minds that only reflect what the observer is supposed to see.

There are minds like leeches, clinging to whatever promises to keep them secure. They are the yes-men.

Then there are minds that are nothing, mental chalkboards that can be written on and wiped clean at will. They have no thoughts of their own, only the thoughts of everybody scribbles something in passing.

Saddest of all there are the independent minds that do not have the option of asserting themselves because their owners are not independently wealthy at an age when nothing can harm them any more.

These bottled-up minds are bursting with ideas that need to be given leg room but must be kept bottled up because their owners would be penalized for the effrontery of having a contrary opinion.

Here is a greater source of energy for the human race than nuclear fission, if anyone dared release it.

Independence of mind . . .

What would it be like if everybody dared to be like Cyrus Eaton and say what he thinks, even when it was contrary to what conventional minds were thinking? That would be mad, man—real mad.

This and That

Latest marvel of telephony is a new telephone transmission system which "slices up" the voice at the calling end of the line, translates the fragments into a mathematical language and then reconstructs the original sound at the receiving end. This enables 24 different telephone conversations to be transmitted simultaneously over just two pairs of wires.

A person's eyesight is not so keen while he is riding in a car as when he is sitting still. Apparently the car's vibrations make the eyeball vibrate and produces a slightly blurred vision.

The Problem: How To Get It Out

Hodges, Cabinet Member Of The Year

By Victor Riesel

There is a member of President Kennedy's Cabinet who has gone further than Arthur Goldberg. He is Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges. He's just been to the South Pole. He lived under ice there. He went in at McMurdo Sound. This was no lark. He wanted to be with scientists dispatched to the Antarctic by his department.

Victor Riesel

And because Luther Hodges, 64-year-old dean of the Cabinet gets off his swivel chair and flies into the desperate heat of the Orient and the deep freeze of the Pole, in the interests of his fellow men, quietly, unassumingly, self-effacingly, he's my Cabinet member of the year for '63.

It was 38 degrees below zero when he arrived at the South Pole station. He had come a long way. The icecap was part of his 13-nation, 32-day trip to "sell" the U.S. And it was a hard sell, too.

He was promoting two-way investment, two-way trade, two-way travel.

THIS WAS a long way to go for a chap born on a tenant farm in Pittsylvania County, Va.

Before dropping in on the Pole, Hodges had talked to President Sukarno of Indonesia, no lover of capitalist America; and to Prime Minister Nehru, no enemy of neutrality; and to President Nasser of Egypt, the sandlot neo-Socialist.

During the trip, which ended on Dec. 8, Hodges argued diplomatically but firmly in foreign lands that some of their businessmen could do better than putting their money in Swiss banks. They could invest and set up businesses in the United States. This would make money for them and jobs for our people.

In Japan he explained to businessmen how they could make a profit by manufacturing in the U.S. Typical of his breaking the barrier was his success in convincing Sekisui Chemical of Osaka to set up a plant in the U.S. The firm has decided to create a subsidiary, the Sekisui Plastics Co. It will operate in Eastern Pennsylvania.

When it gets into the production of polyesterene, a foam which has many industrial uses, the plant will create 100 new jobs for unemployed Americans. We can use these jobs — especially in that corner of Pennsylvania.

THE JAPANESE thus will be creating jobs here in the States, which will be a welcome change. Mr. Hodges is a great devotee of the principle of gold flowing into the country as well as out.

Thus he has set up permanent trade centers in Bangkok, Frankfurt and London. In the past, U. S. fairs have been mostly propaganda ventures set up by the United States Information Service. Now Hodges has a hard-sell network going — interested in getting orders from abroad.

If these are successful, tens of thousands of American jobs can be secured. Typical of what can be done is the new International General Electric sale of $91.5 million worth of electric utility equipment to the Chubu Electric Power Co. for a thermal power plant at Owase, on the shore of the Kii Peninsula southwest of Nagoya; and to the Tokyo Electric Power Co.

SUCH ORDERS create business not only for the GE turbine plant in Schenectady; but for GE installations in West Lynn, Mass., (instruments); Chamblee, Ga. (switchgear); Fitchburg, Mass. (turbine drives); Philadelphia (switchgear); Phoenix (computers); San Jose (motors). This is within the GE domestic network. Of course, a great many of the dollars are being spent with other domestic suppliers in other cities.

In addition to two-way investment and two-way trade, Mr. Hodges believes in two-way travel.

For the first time the U.S. now has permanent Travel Service headquarters in Tokyo; Sidney, Australia; and Paris. Since these were set up in June, 1961 there has been an 18 per cent increase in foreign visitors to the U.S. — and they brought cash with them. Gold flowing in.

Luther Hodges creates jobs in the U.S. on another front. He directs the Area Redevelopment Administration. This means little unless you translate it into human values. Hodges and his aides learned that little Carbondale, Ill. was in bad shape.

THEY PUT some $450,000 into an adhesive tape plant there. Local citizenry got up additional funds. Today the factory employs 500 people directly. Antoher 350 folks have found jobs indirectly connected with the plant. Thus hundreds were taken off the unemployed rolls.

This little adhesive tape plant now has created a new annual payroll of $4.3 million in Carbondale. And the community is saving as much in welfare costs a year as it borrowed from the government to set up the plant.

This has been accomplished in 537 areas. At least 44,000 new jobs have been made. There will be over 100,000 more. Hodges will see to that. That old swivel chair never gets him.

Today In History

Today is Saturday, Dec. 29, the 363rd day of 1962.

There are two days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1890, Gen. Nelson Miles led 900 U.S. cavalrymen to victory over 3,000 Sioux indians under Chief Big Foot. The engagement, known as the Battle of Wounded Knee, was fought in South Dakota.

On this day:

In 1778, the settlement of Savannah, Georgia, was captured by the British Redcoats.

In 1848, gas lights were installed in the White House.

In 1934, Japan denounced the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922.

In 1941, bomb-ravaged London suffered from its greatest castrophe since the great fire of 1666.

Today's birthdays:

Mexican painter David Siqueiros is 66. Former heavyweight boxing champion Jess Willard is 79.

Thought for today:

The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government — George Washington

Candles have been used to measure time and light. King Alfred the Great of England ordered the manufacture of time - keeping candles, six of them sized to burn in 24 hours.

Commercial candlemaking in the United States was pioneered in 1855 in Syracuse, N. Y. by Anton Will, a German immigrant. The firm he founded now makes candles for the Vatican.

Castro's Victory

By David Lawrence

He Has Been Given New Lease On Life

Did Castro really come out on top? Now that the 1,113 prisoners have been ransomed at a cost estimated at $70 million and President Kennedy has abandoned the idea of on - site inspection of missile bases in Cuba, the promise made by the President that Cuba will not be invaded takes on new significance.

David Lawrence

If Castro is immune from invasion — and if this means, also, that the United States has obligated itself to prevent any expedition by Cuban exiles from landing in Cuba to liberate their countrymen — then the Communist ruler of Cuba has indeed achieved a substantial victory for himself.

All the documents on or reports of the official conversations that preceded the withdrawal of the missiles and IL 28 bomber planes and the later release of the prisoners have not been made public. The world is in the dark as to what deal, if any, was made with Castro, either directly or by inference. But the published material is clear on one point — the United States is committed against any invasion of Cuba to liberate the oppressed people there.

And invasion by the United States government is to be sanctioned only if the Castro regime launches a military attack against another country in this hemisphere.

MR. KENNEDY, in his reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on Oct. 27, stated that if the "offensive" weapons were withdrawn from Cuba by the Soviets, then the United States would agree "(A) to remove the quarantine measures now in effect, and (B) to give assurances against an invasion of Cuba."

Then on Nov. 20 in a prepared statement read at his news conference, the President said:

"As for our part, if all offensive - weapons systems are removed from Cuba and kept out of the hemisphere in the future, under adequate verification and safeguards, and if Cuba is not used for the export of aggressive Communist purposes, there will be peace in the Caribbean. And, as I said in September, 'we shall neither initiate nor permit aggression in this hemisphere.'

"We will not, of course, abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba, nor our purpose and hope that the Cuban people shall some day be truly free. But these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

It didn't take long for Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, to convince Castro that Mr. Kennedy had really backed down and that there would be no further attempts through such a project as the Bay of Pigs expedition to invade Cuba again, with or without Cuban exile battalions.

Unquestionably Castro has come to feel secure against intervention from the outside. As a gesture of good will, he released the 1,113 prisoners and got some needed food and medicines.

PERHAPS the strongest indication that the United States had backed down on its original demands came from President Kennedy himself in his conversation with three newsmen over the major television networks on Dec. 17. He had been asked whether, if international inspection of missile sites in Cuba had been accomplished, it would have materially affected the chances of peace as between the Soviet Union and the United States. Mr. Kennedy replied:

"No, I don't think that would have materially affected it, because I don't think we would have gotten the kind of inspection which really is necessary, because a totalitarian system cannot accept the kind of inspection which really is desirable. What you are saying, really, is that Cuba be opened, the Soviet Union be opened. They are not going to open it, because a totalitarian system must exist only in secrecy."

But the Soviets did propose an international inspection in Cuba under United Nations auspices, and this helped to give the impression that the United States had won its point on this issue. Mr. Khrushchev in his Oct. 28 message had said:

"As I had informed you in the letter of Oct. 27, we are prepared to reach agreement to enable representatives of the United Nations to verify the dismantling of these means."

Mr. Kennedy had replied on the same day as follows:

"I welcome Chairman Khrushchev's statesmanlike decision to stop building bases in Cuba, dismantling offensive weapons and returning them to the Soviet Union under United Nations verification."

NOW THE DEBATE between American and Soviet representatives at U.N. headquarters in New York on the subject of inspection has become stalemated. The President's latest statement —on Dec. 17 — indicates that the United States has little chance now of verifying on the ground whether all the missiles and bombers have actually been removed.

Mr. Kennedy apparently is satisfied to take the word of the Soviets instead of insisting on inspection. This naturally gives Castro a free hand once more, and there is, of course, no blockade or "quarantine" of Soviet ships.

The Soviet government, moreover, still has a potential base 90 miles from the United States.

So the situation is back where it was before, but this time with Castro getting a new lease on life for his revolutionary government — secure against any invasion from the United States.

Smugglers Hit Benelux

By Roy Perrott

THE HAGUE

Large-scale smuggling of butter from Holland into Belgium is creating a slippery economic problem for the two governments.

If one leaves out all the intermediate stages in a complex situation—forget for a moment the dark operation at the frontier, the bullets, the armored cards, not to mention the salad oil and smoke screens—the conclusion is inescapable: because of the smuggling, the Dutch taxpayer is indirectly subsidising an artificial Belgian export trade in butter.

Small wonder that dark looks have occasionally been exchanged across the otherwise firm handclasp of the Benelux economic union.

The smuggling has grown to a scale that would arouse the envy of several legitimately butter-exporting nations. A Belgian government committee estimates that 28 million pounds of butter illicitly crossed the frontier in 1960 and that it has since increased to 40 million pounds, or roughly 45 tons every day of the year.

The smugglers are taking advantage of the price differences between the two countries. Butter costs less in Holland than in Belgium.

This is largely because the Dutch government, with an eye to competition in world markets, pays its producers a heavy subsidy based on production costs. The Belgian government, on the other hand, fixes butter prices by regulating the market at no cost to itself.

This is where the smugglers intervene; and the long and tortuous frontier between the two Benelux partners, crossed by 350 roads (only 40 have a customs post) and numerous canals, proves little hindrance to them.

They use tradesmen's vans with disguised armor-plating to dodge bullets, old but powerful American cars, motorcycle combinations, boats or just human lift and carry.

When pursued they have been known to throw spikes or homemade bombs on the road in front of customs' cars. Another device is to lay a smoke - screen by trailing salad oil from a pipe inside the car into the tail end of the hot exhaust-pipe.

Only 5 per cent of the smuggled butter is recovered. Still, in the four years 1957-61, 1,005 vehicles and one boat used for smuggling were captured and confiscated by the police. The successful smugglers continue to make about 15 per cent profit on a night's work.

The oddest result of the smuggling is that Belgium, who does not produce enough butter for its own domestic needs, is loaded with a large and unpredictable surplus.

The Project Mercury four-cent stamp, issued Feb. 20, 1962 within minutes after Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, Jr. completed his oribital flight, was the first stamp offered for sale almost simultaneously with the event it memorialized.

But had it not been for his parallel conviction that a man should have independence of mind, no one would need to know anything about the unpopular views of Cyrus Eaton.

Independence of mind . . .

You wonder what's behind it.

Most people have mirror minds that reflect the images that surround them.

Some have trick mirror minds that only reflect what the observer is supposed to see.

There are minds like leeches, clinging to whatever promises to keep them secure. They are the yes-men.

Then there are minds that are nothing, mental chalkboards that can be written on and wiped clean at will. They have no thoughts of their own, only the thoughts of everybody scribbles something in passing.

Saddest of all there are the independent minds that do not have the option of asserting themselves because their owners are not independently wealthy at an age when nothing can harm them any more.

These bottled-up minds are bursting with ideas that need to be given leg room but must be kept bottled up because their owners would be penalized for the effrontery of having a contrary opinion.

Here is a greater source of energy for the human race than nuclear fission, if anyone dared release it.

Independence of mind . . .

What would it be like if everybody dared to be like Cyrus Eaton and say what he thinks, even when it was contrary to what conventional minds were thinking? That would be mad, man—real mad.

This and That

Latest marvel of telephony is a new telephone transmission system which "slices up" the voice at the calling end of the line, translates the fragments into a mathematical language and then reconstructs the original sound at the receiving end. This enables 24 different telephone conversations to be transmitted simultaneously over just two pairs of wires.

A person's eyesight is not so keen while he is riding in a car as when he is sitting still. Apparently the car's vibrations make the eyeball vibrate and produces a slightly blurred vision.

The Problem: How To Get It Out

Hodges, Cabinet Member Of The Year

By Victor Riesel

There is a member of President Kennedy's Cabinet who has gone further than Arthur Goldberg. He is Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges. He's just been to the South Pole. He lived under ice there. He went in at McMurdo Sound. This was no lark. He wanted to be with scientists dispatched to the Antarctic by his department.

Victor Riesel

And because Luther Hodges, 64-year-old dean of the Cabinet gets off his swivel chair and flies into the desperate heat of the Orient and the deep freeze of the Pole, in the interests of his fellow men, quietly, unassumingly, self-effacingly, he's my Cabinet member of the year for '63.

It was 38 degrees below zero when he arrived at the South Pole station. He had come a long way. The icecap was part of his 13-nation, 32-day trip to "sell" the U.S. And it was a hard sell, too.

He was promoting two-way investment, two-way trade, two-way travel.

THIS WAS a long way to go for a chap born on a tenant farm in Pittsylvania County, Va.

Before dropping in on the Pole, Hodges had talked to President Sukarno of Indonesia, no lover of capitalist America; and to Prime Minister Nehru, no enemy of neutrality; and to President Nasser of Egypt, the sandlot neo-Socialist.

During the trip, which ended on Dec. 8, Hodges argued diplomatically but firmly in foreign lands that some of their businessmen could do better than putting their money in Swiss banks. They could invest and set up businesses in the United States. This would make money for them and jobs for our people.

In Japan he explained to businessmen how they could make a profit by manufacturing in the U.S. Typical of his breaking the barrier was his success in convincing Sekisui Chemical of Osaka to set up a plant in the U.S. The firm has decided to create a subsidiary, the Sekisui Plastics Co. It will operate in Eastern Pennsylvania.

When it gets into the production of polyesterene, a foam which has many industrial uses, the plant will create 100 new jobs for unemployed Americans. We can use these jobs — especially in that corner of Pennsylvania.

THE JAPANESE thus will be creating jobs here in the States, which will be a welcome change. Mr. Hodges is a great devotee of the principle of gold flowing into the country as well as out.

Thus he has set up permanent trade centers in Bangkok, Frankfurt and London. In the past, U. S. fairs have been mostly propaganda ventures set up by the United States Information Service. Now Hodges has a hard-sell network going — interested in getting orders from abroad.

If these are successful, tens of thousands of American jobs can be secured. Typical of what can be done is the new International General Electric sale of $91.5 million worth of electric utility equipment to the Chubu Electric Power Co. for a thermal power plant at Owase, on the shore of the Kii Peninsula southwest of Nagoya; and to the Tokyo Electric Power Co.

SUCH ORDERS create business not only for the GE turbine plant in Schenectady; but for GE installations in West Lynn, Mass., (instruments); Chamblee, Ga. (switchgear); Fitchburg, Mass. (turbine drives); Philadelphia (switchgear); Phoenix (computers); San Jose (motors). This is within the GE domestic network. Of course, a great many of the dollars are being spent with other domestic suppliers in other cities.

In addition to two-way investment and two-way trade, Mr. Hodges believes in two-way travel.

For the first time the U.S. now has permanent Travel Service headquarters in Tokyo; Sidney, Australia; and Paris. Since these were set up in June, 1961 there has been an 18 per cent increase in foreign visitors to the U.S. — and they brought cash with them. Gold flowing in.

Luther Hodges creates jobs in the U.S. on another front. He directs the Area Redevelopment Administration. This means little unless you translate it into human values. Hodges and his aides learned that little Carbondale, Ill. was in bad shape.

THEY PUT some $450,000 into an adhesive tape plant there. Local citizenry got up additional funds. Today the factory employs 500 people directly. Antoher 350 folks have found jobs indirectly connected with the plant. Thus hundreds were taken off the unemployed rolls.

This little adhesive tape plant now has created a new annual payroll of $4.3 million in Carbondale. And the community is saving as much in welfare costs a year as it borrowed from the government to set up the plant.

This has been accomplished in 537 areas. At least 44,000 new jobs have been made. There will be over 100,000 more. Hodges will see to that. That old swivel chair never gets him.

Today In History

Today is Saturday, Dec. 29, the 363rd day of 1962.

There are two days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1890, Gen. Nelson Miles led 900 U.S. cavalrymen to victory over 3,000 Sioux indians under Chief Big Foot. The engagement, known as the Battle of Wounded Knee, was fought in South Dakota.

On this day:

In 1778, the settlement of Savannah, Georgia, was captured by the British Redcoats.

In 1848, gas lights were installed in the White House.

In 1934, Japan denounced the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922.

In 1941, bomb-ravaged London suffered from its greatest catastrophe since the great fire of 1666.

Today's birthdays:

Mexican painter David Siqueiros is 66. Former heavyweight boxing champion Jess Willard is 79.

Thought for today:

The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government — George Washington

Odd Facts

Candles have been used to measure time and light. King Alfred the Great of England ordered the manufacture of time - keeping candles, six of them sized to burn in 24 hours.

Commercial candlemaking in the United States was pioneered in 1855 in Syracuse, N. Y. by Anton Will, a German immigrant. The firm he founded now makes candles for the Vatican.

Castro's Victory

By David Lawrence

He Has Been Given New Lease On Life

Did Castro really come out on top? Now that the 1,113 prisoners have been ransomed at a cost estimated at $70 million and President Kennedy has abandoned the idea of on - site inspection of missile bases in Cuba, the promise made by the President that Cuba will not be invaded takes on new significance.

David Lawrence

If Castro is immune from invasion — and if this means, also, that the United States has obligated itself to prevent any expedition by Cuban exiles from landing in Cuba to liberate their countrymen — then the Communist ruler of Cuba has indeed achieved a substantial victory for himself.

All the documents on or reports of the official conversations that preceded the withdrawal of the missiles and IL 28 bomber planes and the later release of the prisoners have not been made public. The world is in the dark as to what deal, if any, was made with Castro, either directly or by inference. But the published material is clear on one point — the United States is committed against any invasion of Cuba to liberate the oppressed people there.

And invasion by the United States government is to be sanctioned only if the Castro regime launches a military attack against another country in this hemisphere.

MR. KENNEDY, in his reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev on Oct. 27, stated that if the "offensive" weapons were withdrawn from Cuba by the Soviets, then the United States would agree "(A) to remove the quarantine measures now in effect, and (B) to give assurances against an invasion of Cuba."

Then on Nov. 20 in a prepared statement read at his news conference, the President said:

"As for our part, if all offensive - weapons systems are removed from Cuba and kept out of the hemisphere in the future, under adequate verification and safeguards, and if Cuba is not used for the export of aggressive Communist purposes, there will be peace in the Caribbean. And, as I said in September, 'we shall neither initiate nor permit aggression in this hemisphere.'

"We will not, of course, abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba, nor our purpose and hope that the Cuban people shall some day be truly free. But these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

It didn't take long for Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, to convince Castro that Mr. Kennedy had really backed down and that there would be no further attempts through such a project as the Bay of Pigs expedition to invade Cuba again, with or without Cuban exile battalions.

Unquestionably Castro has come to feel secure against intervention from the outside. As a gesture of good will, he released the 1,113 prisoners and got some needed food and medicines.

PERHAPS the strongest indication that the United States had backed down on its original demands came from President Kennedy himself in his conversation with three newsmen over the major television networks on Dec. 17. He had been asked whether, if international inspection of missile sites in Cuba had been accomplished, it would have materially affected the chances of peace as between the Soviet Union and the United States. Mr. Kennedy replied:

"No, I don't think that would have materially affected it, because I don't think we would have gotten the kind of inspection which really is necessary, because a totalitarian system cannot accept the kind of inspection which really is desirable. What you are saying, really, is that Cuba be opened, the Soviet Union be opened. They are not going to open it, because a totalitarian system must exist only in secrecy."

But the Soviets did propose an international inspection in Cuba under United Nations auspices, and this helped to give the impression that the United States had won its point on this issue. Mr. Khrushchev in his Oct. 28 message had said:

"As I had informed you in the letter of Oct. 27, we are prepared to reach agreement to enable representatives of the United Nations to verify the dismantling of these means."

Mr. Kennedy had replied on the same day as follows:

"I welcome Chairman Khrushchev's statesmanlike decision to stop building bases in Cuba, dismantling offensive weapons and returning them to the Soviet Union under United Nations verification."

NOW THE DEBATE between American and Soviet representatives at U.N. headquarters in New York on the subject of inspection has become stalemated. The President's latest statement —on Dec. 17 — indicates that the United States has little chance now of verifying on the ground whether all the missiles and bombers have actually been removed.

Mr. Kennedy apparently is satisfied to take the word of the Soviets instead of insisting on inspection. This naturally gives Castro a free hand once more, and there is, of course, no blockade or "quarantine" of Soviet ships.

The Soviet government, moreover, still has a potential base 90 miles from the United States.

So the situation is back where it was before, but this time with Castro getting a new lease on life for his revolutionary government — secure against any invasion from the United States.

Smugglers Hit Benelux

By Roy Perrott

THE HAGUE

Large-scale smuggling of butter from Holland into Belgium is creating a slippery economic problem for the two governments.

If one leaves out all the intermediate stages in a complex situation—forget for a moment the dark operation at the frontier, the bullets, the armored cards, not to mention the salad oil and smoke screens—the conclusion is inescapable: because of the smuggling, the Dutch taxpayer is indirectly subsidising an artificial Belgian export trade in butter.

Small wonder that dark looks have occasionally been exchanged across the otherwise firm handclasp of the Benelux economic union.

The smuggling has grown to a scale that would arouse the envy of several legitimately butter-exporting nations. A Belgian government committee estimates that 28 million pounds of butter illicitly crossed the frontier in 1960 and that it has since increased to 40 million pounds, or roughly 45 tons every day of the year.

The smugglers are taking advantage of the price differences between the two countries. Butter costs less in Holland than in Belgium.

This is largely because the Dutch government, with an eye to competition in world markets, pays its producers a heavy subsidy based on production costs. The Belgian government, on the other hand, fixes butter prices by regulating the market at no cost to itself.

This is where the smugglers intervene; and the long and tortuous frontier between the two Benelux partners, crossed by 350 roads (only 40 have a customs post) and numerous canals, proves little hindrance to them.

They use tradesmen's vans with disguised armor-plating to dodge bullets, old but powerful American cars, motorcycle combinations, boats or just human lift and carry.

When pursued they have been known to throw spikes or home-made bombs on the road in front of customs' cars. Another device is to lay a smoke - screen by trailing salad oil from a pipe inside the car into the tail end of the hot exhaust-pipe.

Only 5 per cent of the smuggled butter is recovered. Still, in the four years 1957-61, 1,005 vehicles and one boat used for smuggling were captured and confiscated by the police. The successful smugglers continue to make about 15 per cent profit on a night's work.

The oddest result of the smuggling is that Belgium, who does not produce enough butter for its own domestic needs, is loaded with a large and unpredictable surplus.

Welfare Unit Makes Public Study About Birth Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Welfare Department has made public a study on birth control research which had been withheld for fear laymen would not understand and might "read things into it that are not there."

In an introduction to the 127-page booklet, the department declares that the study "neither advocates nor condemns birth control, or any of the methods described."

The report was issued Friday without critical evaluation by the department, by the Public Health Service or by the National Institutes of Health, which prepared it.

It carries the title, "A survey of Research in Reproduction Related to Birth and Population Control of December 1962)."

Even before it was published the report created a stir.

In September, U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry disclosed that its publication had been held up. There had been published reports that the study was part of Kennedy administration efforts to combat the world's population explosion but had been shelved out of fear of harsh public reaction.

Terry denied there was any White House connection with preparation of the report or the decision to withhold it.

"Both professional and lay people who reviewed it indicated a lack of ability of laymen to get anything out of it and a tendency to read things into it that are not there," he said.

"The report included much research on border fringes and this could give someone not highly qualified in interpretation of scientific material a distorted picture of the work being done."

Terry said he was returning the study to the National Institutes of Health for updating since it was then more than a year old.

But the day after Terry's announcement, the newly appointed secretary of welfare, Anthony J. Celebrezze, said he had reviewed the matter with Terry and decided the report would be released before the end of the year.

The report, written in technical language, attempts to catalog some 400 research projects dealing with the biology of reproduction relevant to birth and population control.

Patrolman Could Be Thankful For Pistol Practice

CLEVELAND (AP)—Patrolman Russell Corbin could be thankfull today for all the hours he spent practicing on the pistol range in suburban Lakewood.

The 28-year-old officer, rated one of the best shots on the force, got caught in a gun battle at almost point-blank range Friday night and fired six bullets through Thomas Grugel, 25, who allegedly had drawn a gun in a store.

Grugel drew and fired first when the policeman tried to stop him, police reported, but Corbin escaped with only a slight flesh wound in the right leg.

Held at Lakewood Hospital under police guard, Grugel was reported in fair condition. The bullets went through his shoulder, groin, arm and leg from a distance of about eight feet.

Police said Grugel pulled the .25-caliber pistol in Fazio's Fashion Shop when he was challenged on a check he tried to cash.

Welfare Unit Makes Public Study About Birth Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Welfare Department has made public a study on birth control research which had been withheld for fear laymen would not understand and might "read things into it that are not there."

In an introduction to the 127-page booklet, the department declares that the study "neither advocates nor condemns birth control, or any of the methods described."

The report was issued Friday without critical evaluation by the department, by the Public Health Service or by the National Institutes of Health, which prepared it.

It carries the title, "A survey of Research in Reproduction Related to Birth and Population Control of December 1962)."

Even before it was published the report created a stir.

In September, U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry disclosed that its publication had been held up. There had been published reports that the study was part of Kennedy administration efforts to combat the world's population explosion but had been shelved out of fear of harsh public reaction.

Terry denied there was any White House connection with preparation of the report or the decision to withhold it.

"Both professional and lay people who reviewed it indicated a lack of ability of laymen to get anything out of it and a tendency to read things into it that are not there," he said.

"The report included much research on border fringes and this could give someone not highly qualified in interpretation of scientific material a distorted picture of the work being done."

Terry said he was returning the study to the National Institutes of Health for updating since it was then more than a year old.

But the day after Terry's announcement, the newly appointed secretary of welfare, Anthony J. Celebrezze, said he had reviewed the matter with Terry and decided the report would be released before the end of the year.

The report, written in technical language, attempts to catalog some 400 research projects dealing with the biology of reproduction relevant to birth and population control.

The estimate of funds to be received from real estate taxes during 1963 was received by the Liverpool Township trustees at a meeting Friday night at City Hall.

The trustees were informed by the Columbiana County Budget Commission the township will receive $4,121 for the general fund, $20,604 for the road and bridge fund, and $6,868 for the fire departments.

This is only money from real estate. The 1.3-mill fire levy will be cut to one mill under the new property valuation. Other millage inside the 10-mill limitation also will be lowered.

Trustees approved bills totaling $5,574.52.

A letter was received from residents of Dairy Rd. asking that a fire plug be installed in their neighborhood. As the trustees and East Liverpool Board of Public Utilities have never arrived at a rental fee on plugs, the residents were referred to the board.

A. R. Smith of the LaCroft Parent - Teacher Association asked in a letter that the township pay for a guard at a school crossing on the Lincoln Highway. The State Highway Department recently installed a stop sign at the crossing. No action was taken. The trustees said it would be up to the Board of Education to pay for a guard.

A bid for radio equipment for fire trucks was received from James M. Pelley. Other bids will be sought.

A representative of the Brown Brothers Construction Co. of Midland gave prices on slag. The trustees will investigate as the prices apparently are lower than those now being paid.

Robert Badger, township fire chief, reported the departments responded to three fires during November. Damage was estimated at $1,100. Thirty-seven men responded. Both the East and West departments held two practices during the month.

A new bond was received for Robert Beaver, road foreman, and he was sworn in for another year. Next regular meeting is Jan. 11.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

An occasional child is extreme in his urge for bodily and personal cleanliness, especially if he has acquired a kind of neurotic fear of disease germs. But most children up to eight or ten years of age, especially boys, are very little concerned about keeping their bodies and clothes neat and clean.

Dr Garry Meyers

They are not sensitive to odors from their own bodies and clothes and do not readily observe personal untidiness in themselves. But for the constant vigilance and requirements of their parents, most of these children would often become filthy.

—:—

UNPROMPTED OR unrequired, how many would be endurable by other sensitive persons? How many would always wash their hands before eating or after using the toilet? How many would take a bath even once a week? How many would change their underwear and other clothing with reasonable frequency?

Observing reasonable habits of cleanliness often interferes with what the youngster prefers to do at the moment and may require considerable effort and self-discipline.

Also, the ineffective ways in which mothers try to cultivate habits of cleanliness often hamper this development. Often parents scold and exhort without being decisive. Often they are inconsistent or lenient.

The more a youngster is annoyed over practice of cleanliness, the less he co-operates in this practice. Even to be told he ought to have a bath or ought to put on clean underwear or a clean shirt, without knowing he must do it, can weaken his urge or will to do so.

SOME CHILDREN DO well at cultivating cleanly habits when they have a chart they must follow for changes of clothing, bathing and the like. Where a daily bath is the rule, it works best, of course.

Over the years, and especially in recent years, I have read many a letter about the child of elementary school age who wets and soils his clothes. It's more often a boy than a girl.

Most letters reveal that there has been ample medical check, but that the problem is chiefly in the slovenly attitude and habits of the youngster toward bodily cleanliness.

Always I urge the mother of such a child to require him to bathe daily and change to fresh clothing even after each clothes' soiling when possible, not as punishment, but as practice in cleanliness. She should also require the child, while home, to follow rigidly a posted program of trips to the bathroom.

I've often wondered how many of these incontinent children were trained very late and ineffectively in toilet habits when they were tots. Parents who suppose the child will train himself by the time he is three or four are pretty late in cultivating good ideals and habits of cleanliness.

My bulletins, "Training Child in Toilet Habits" and "The Psychology of Bedwetting", may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Cleveland Woman Receives Belated Christmas Present

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 62-year-old Cleveland woman received a belated Christmas gift early today when she was reunited with her daughter from Hungary.

It was the first time that Mrs. Edmund Czapp had seen her daughter since the mother and her husband came to Cleveland from Hungary 17 years ago. Mrs. Czapp also met her son-in-law and granddaughter for the first time.

The daughter, Mrs. Eva Deak, 41, her husband, Geza, 56, and their 12-year-old daughter, Eva, arrived at Cleveland Hopkins Airport from Newark, N. J., on the last leg of their flight from Budapest.

The joyful reunion between mother and daughter was tempered with sadness when Mrs. Deak was informed that her father had died last September following an operation. Czapp had been a maintenance man employed by the Cleveland Board of Education.

Mrs. Czapp explained that she had not told her daughter of the father's death because she did not want to add to the nervous strain she was under in her efforts to get out of Hungary.

Klein said that to his knowledge the Deaks were the first family the Communists had permitted to leave Hungary as a unit. They were not permitted to take any money out of the country and arrived with only the clothing they wore and a few meager possessions that they could carry with them.

It took all of Mrs. Czapp's life savings of some $1,400 to pay for the family's plane fare.

Careless Americans 'Lose' 700 Million Yearly In Crime

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Careless Americans encourage crime by "losing" more than $700 million in cash a year, crime experts were told today.

They tempt and help support criminals by making it easy to be relieved of money, said Michael Fooner of the Association for Applied Psychoanalysis, New York City.

One survey showed 9½ million American adults lost sums of cash in a single year, averaging $75 each, with nearly 1¼ million out of pocket for $200 or more.

They generally left money and valuables unguarded in hotel rooms or at home and were careless in carrying money in wallets or handbags.

Such carelessness creates a massive number of temptations and opportunities, Fooner told a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Men and women lose cash with equal frequency, but women lost it three times more often than men while out shopping, he said.

Both lose money while traveling, while shopping, while at work, in public gathering places and around the house. The highest loss is in money that simply seems to disappear, reflecting the skill of pickpockets.

Maybe, Fooner said, in our affluent society, many people have subconscious feelings or fear, guilt, dependence and other psychological disturbances that make them prone to losing money, much as some people seem to be accident prone.

Croyle Returned By Goodballet As City Dog Warden

Robert J. Croyle, 175 Thompson Ave., has been appointed again as city dog warden for a one-year term beginning Tuesday, replacing William L. Cline, rear 305 Moore St., whose term expires Monday midnight, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet announced today.

Cline was appointed July 1 to fill out the six months in the unexpired 1962 term of Croyle, who resigned. Prior to resigning in mid-year, Croyle had served several years as warden. He is an employe of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The warden's post now pays $120 monthly under a schedule of salary increases that took effect Dec. 1. The previous salary was $100 for the part - time post.

The City Code provides that the warden is appointed for a one-year term. Prior to Jan. 1 each year, the mayor is required to name some "suitable person" for the post, the code provides.

Cline thanked the public for its co-operation during his service. He said he found homes for 150 to 200 abandoned dogs during the six months.

Saxbe Attacks McElroy's Suits Against 7 Firms

MECHANICSBURG, Ohio (AP) —Atty. Gen.-Elect William L. Saxbe termed "ridiculous" Friday night Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy's suits to dissolve seven corporations for doing allegedly illegal Sunday business.

Saxbe, contacted at his Champaign County home here by the Dayton Journal Herald, called McElroy's action in the Ohio Supreme Court a last minute, lame duck maneuver to "make a name for himself."

Saxbe, a Republican and former attorney general, returns to office Jan. 14 with the GOP administration succeeding democrats including McElroy.

Saxbe said McElroy neither consulted with him or advised him on the Sunday closing enforcement issue.

Saxbe told the Journal Herald he has no intention of becoming heir to a "bucket of worms." He said he believes any enforcement drive will end with little or no results.

"All corporations would have to do," Saxbe commented, "is rub the 'Inc.' off the front of their stores and go on doing business." The McElroy move would affect only firms having corporate charters, which must be franchised by the secretary of state for them to do business in Ohio.

The estimate of funds to be received from real estate taxes during 1963 was received by the Liverpool Township trustees at a meeting Friday night at City Hall.

The trustees were informed by the Columbiana County Budget Commission the township will receive $4,121 for the general fund, $20,604 for the road and bridge fund, and $6,868 for the fire departments.

This is only money from real estate. The 1.3-mill fire levy will be cut to one mill under the new property valuation. Other millage inside the 10-mill limitation also will be lowered.

Trustees approved bills totaling $5,574.52.

A letter was received from residents of Dairy Rd. asking that a fire plug be installed in their neighborhood. As the trustees and East Liverpool Board of Public Utilities have never arrived at a rental fee on plugs, the residents were referred to the board.

A. R. Smith of the LaCroft Parent - Teacher Association asked in a letter that the township pay for a guard at a school crossing on the Lincoln Highway. The State Highway Department recently installed a stop sign at the crossing. No action was taken. The trustees said it would be up to the Board of Education to pay for a guard.

A bid for radio equipment for fire trucks was received from James M. Pelley. Other bids will be sought.

A representative of the Brown Brothers Construction Co. of Midland gave prices on slag. The trustees will investigate as the prices apparently are lower than those now being paid.

Robert Badger, township fire chief, reported the departments responded to three fires during November. Damage was estimated at $1,100. Thirty-seven men responded. Both the East and West departments held two practices during the month.

A new bond was received for Robert Beaver, road foreman, and he was sworn in for another year. Next regular meeting is Jan. 11.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

An occasional child is extreme in his urge for bodily and personal cleanliness, especially if he has acquired a kind of neurotic fear of disease germs. But most children up to eight or ten years of age, especially boys, are very little concerned about keeping their bodies and clothes neat and clean. They are not sensitive to odors from their own bodies and clothes and do not readily observe personal untidiness in themselves. But for the constant vigilance and requirements of their parents, most of these children would often become filthy.

UNPROMPTED OR unrequired, how many would be endurable by other sensitive persons? How many would always wash their hands before eating or after using the toilet? How many would take a bath even once a week? How many would change their underwear and other clothing with reasonable frequency?

Observing reasonable habits of cleanliness often interferes with what the youngster prefers to do at the moment and may require considerable effort and self-discipline.

Also, the ineffective ways in which mothers try to cultivate habits of cleanliness often hamper this development. Often parents scold and exhort without being decisive. Often they are inconsistent or lenient.

The more a youngster is annoyed over practice of cleanliness, the less he co-operates in this practice. Even to be told he ought to have a bath or ought to put on clean underwear or a clean shirt, without knowing he must do it, can weaken his urge or will to do so.

SOME CHILDREN DO well at cultivating cleanly habits when they have a chart they must follow for changes of clothing, bathing and the like. Where a daily bath is the rule, it works best, of course.

Over the years, and especially in recent years, I have read many a letter about the child of elementary school age who wets and soils his clothes. It's more often a boy than a girl.

Most letters reveal that there has been ample medical check, but that the problem is chiefly in the slovenly attitude and habits of the youngster toward bodily cleanliness.

Always I urge the mother of such a child to require him to bathe daily and change to fresh clothing even after each clothes' soiling when possible, not as punishment, but as practice in cleanliness. She should also require the child, while home, to follow rigidly a posted program of trips to the bathroom.

I've often wondered how many of these incontinent children were trained very late and ineffectively in toilet habits when they were tots. Parents who suppose the child will train himself by the time he is three or four are pretty late in cultivating good ideals and habits of cleanliness.

My bulletins, "Training Child in Toilet Habits" and "The Psychology of Bedwetting", may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Cleveland Woman Receives Belated Christmas Present

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 62-year-old Cleveland woman received a belated Christmas gift early today when she was reunited with her daughter from Hungary.

It was the first time that Mrs. Edmund Czapp had seen her daughter since the mother and her husband came to Cleveland from Hungary 17 years ago. Mrs. Czapp also met her son-in-law and granddaughter for the first time.

The daughter, Mrs. Eva Deak, 41, her husband, Geza, 56, and their 12-year-old daughter, Eva, arrived at Cleveland Hopkins Airport from Newark, N. J., on the last leg of their flight from Budapest.

The joyful reunion between mother and daughter was tempered with sadness when Mrs. Deak was informed that her father had died last September following an operation. Czapp had been a maintenance man employed by the Cleveland Board of Education.

Mrs. Czapp explained that she had not told her daughter of the father's death because she did not want to add to the nervous strain she was under in her efforts to get out of Hungary.

Klein said that to his knowledge the Deaks were the first family the Communists had permitted to leave Hungary as a unit. They were not permitted to take any money out of the country and arrived with only the clothing they wore and a few meager possessions that they could carry with them.

It took all of Mrs. Czapp's life savings of some $1,400 to pay for the family's plane fare.

Careless Americans 'Lose' 700 Million Yearly In Crime

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Careless Americans encourage crime by "losing" more than $700 million in cash a year, crime experts were told today.

They tempt and help support criminals by making it easy to be relieved of money, said Michael Fooner of the Association for Applied Psychoanalysis, New York City.

One survey showed 9½ million American adults lost sums of cash in a single year, averaging $75 each, with nearly 1¼ million out of pocket for $200 or more.

They generally left money and valuables unguarded in hotel rooms or at home and were careless in carrying money in wallets or handbags.

Such carelessness creates a massive number of temptations and opportunities, Fooner told a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Men and women lose cash with equal frequency, but women lost it three times more often than men while out shopping, he said.

Both lose money while traveling, while shopping, while at work, in public gathering places and around the house. The highest loss is in money that simply seems to disappear, reflecting the skill of pickpockets.

Maybe, Fooner said, in our affluent society, many people have subconscious feelings or fear, guilt, dependence and other psychological disturbances that make them prone to losing money, much as some people seem to be accident prone.

Croyle Returned By Goodballet As City Dog Warden

Robert J. Croyle, 175 Thompson Ave., has been appointed again as city dog warden for a one-year term beginning Tuesday, replacing William L. Cline, rear 305 Moore St., whose term expires Monday midnight, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet announced today.

Cline was appointed July 1 to fill out the six months in the unexpired 1962 term of Croyle, who resigned. Prior to resigning in mid-year, Croyle had served several years as warden. He is an employe of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The warden's post now pays $120 monthly under a schedule of salary increases that took effect Dec. 1. The previous salary was $100 for the part - time post.

The City Code provides that the warden is appointed for a one-year term. Prior to Jan. 1 each year, the mayor is required to name some "suitable person" for the post, the code provides.

Cline thanked the public for its co-operation during his service. He said he found homes for 150 to 200 abandoned dogs during the six months.

Saxbe Attacks McElroy's Suits Against 7 Firms

MECHANICSBURG, Ohio (AP) —Atty. Gen.-Elect William L. Saxbe termed "ridiculous" Friday night Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy's suits to dissolve seven corporations for doing allegedly illegal Sunday business.

Saxbe, contacted at his Champaign County home here by the Dayton Journal Herald, called McElroy's action in the Ohio Supreme Court a last minute, lame duck maneuver to "make a name for himself."

Saxbe, a Republican and former attorney general, returns to office Jan. 14 with the GOP administration succeeding democrats including McElroy.

Saxbe said McElroy neither consulted with him or advised him on the Sunday closing enforcement issue.

Saxbe told the Journal Herald he has no intention of becoming heir to a "bucket of worms." He said he believes any enforcement drive will end with little or no results.

"All corporations would have to do," Saxbe commented, "is rub the 'Inc.' off the front of their stores and go on doing business." The McElroy move would affect only firms having corporate charters, which must be franchised by the secretary of state for them to do business in Ohio.

Kentucky Slates Treasure Hunt

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A treasure hunt is scheduled to start in northern Kentucky next week.

The treasure is buried, but it isn't doubloons, pieces of eight or a chest of gems. Instead, it's chunks of metal that hurtled in from outer space in a meteorite shower 73 years ago.

The search will be in Kenton and Campbell counties.

Prof. William G. Reed, Lawrence College geologist, will head the search, using only scant clues and a geiger counter.

Professor Reed said he hopes to find a few pieces to take back to his Appleton, Wis., laboratories for study.

The hunt is linked to a federal program to locate and record meteorites that have fallen on the United States.

Carl A. Wicklund, former agricultural agent enisted to help in the search, said one meteorite fell about nine miles south of Independence, and another west of Brent in Campbell County.

Commemoration Set For March Of Dimes

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis plans to commemorate its March of Dimes program here Jan. 2-3, with a parade and a dinner.

The 6:30 p.m. dinner Jan. 2 will be held at the Coshocton Town & County Club and will honor former March of Dimes poster children from across the nation, and the past and present members of the Coshocton County Chapter of the National Foundation.

A noon parade is set for Jan. 3, ending up at the home of a polio patient confined to respirator equipment. Highlight of the parade will be closing, by proclamation, of the Coshocton schools and business places.

The Foundation says the parade will serve to kick off the nationwide March of Dimes campaign.

Fair Board Will Select Secretary, Treasurer

LISBON — Appointment of a 10th member and of a secretary and a treasurer will highlight the first 1963 meeting of the Columbiana County Fair Board Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the extension service office.

Ben Weingart of Leetonia, president, said the new member will replace Dale Rudibaugh of Wellsville, who resigned.

Richard Stamp of Salem, secretary, and V. B. Lemley of Lisbon, treasurer, have asked to be relieved of their duties since their terms expired last month. They agreed to continue in office until replacements are named.

Ohioville Grange Sets New Year's Eve Fete

A New Year's Eve party will be held in the Fairview Grange Hall in Ohioville Monday night for Grangers and their families.

A coverdish dinner will begin at 6:30 and each family is to bring sauerkraut and spareribs to be cooked in the Grange kitchen and served at midnight.

A New Year's hop will be held in the hall Jan. 5 by the newly-formed Fairview Grange Youth Club. The dance is open to the public for students of high school age. The Grange will meet Jan. 15.

WHITE NEW YEAR

Each new year is like a new-fallen snow — unmarked until errant footsteps destroy its gleaming splendor. But short-lived is that spell of peace and perfection. Soon the newness is trampled out, the same old trails show themselves again.

Tearing the last page off the calendar can change the year. But, it cannot change the MAN. We'll make of each new year just what we have made of the old ones — unless we direct our lives anew toward God and neighbor, unless we re-evaluate destiny and self.

In this New Year don't expect a blanket of perfection to hide the old failures. But seek the better Way. The Church helps men discover new trails . . . and follow them with new hope . . . to a new vision of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Kentucky Slates Treasure Hunt

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A treasure hunt is scheduled to start in northern Kentucky next week.

The treasure is buried, but it isn't doubloons, pieces of eight or a chest of gems. Instead, it's chunks of metal that hurtled in from outer space in a meteorite shower 73 years ago.

The search will be in Kenton and Campbell counties.

Prof. William G. Reed, Lawrence College geologist, will head the search, using only scant clues and a geiger counter.

Professor Reed said he hopes to find a few pieces to take back to his Appleton, Wis., laboratories for study.

The hunt is linked to a federal program to locate and record meteorites that have fallen on the United States.

Carl A. Wicklund, former agricultural agent enisted to help in the search, said one meteorite fell about nine miles south of Independence, and another west of Brent in Campbell County.

Commemoration Set For March Of Dimes

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis plans to commemorate its March of Dimes program here Jan. 2-3, with a parade and a dinner.

The 6:30 p.m. dinner Jan. 2 will be held at the Coshocton Town & County Club and will honor former March of Dimes poster children from across the nation, and the past and present members of the Coshocton County Chapter of the National Foundation.

A noon parade is set for Jan. 3, ending up at the home of a polio patient confined to respirator equipment. Highlight of the parade will be closing, by proclamation, of the Coshocton schools and business places.

The Foundation says the parade will serve to kick off the nationwide March of Dimes campaign.

Fair Board Will Select Secretary, Treasurer

LISBON — Appointment of a 10th member and of a secretary and a treasurer will highlight the first 1963 meeting of the Columbiana County Fair Board Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the extension service office.

Ben Weingart of Leetonia, president, said the new member will replace Dale Rudibaugh of Wellsville, who resigned.

Richard Stamp of Salem, secretary, and V. B. Lemley of Lisbon, treasurer, have asked to be relieved of their duties since their terms expired last month. They agreed to continue in office until replacements are named.

Ohioville Grange Sets New Year's Eve Fete

A New Year's Eve party will be held in the Fairview Grange Hall in Ohioville Monday night for Grangers and their families.

A coverdish dinner will begin at 6:30 and each family is to bring sauerkraut and spareribs to be cooked in the Grange kitchen and served at midnight.

A New Year's hop will be held in the hall Jan. 5 by the newly-formed Fairview Grange Youth Club. The dance is open to the public for students of high school age. The Grange will meet Jan. 15.

WHITE NEW YEAR

Each new year is like a new-fallen snow — unmarked until errant footsteps destroy its gleaming splendor. But short-lived is that spell of peace and perfection. Soon the newness is trampled out, the same old trails show themselves again.

Tearing the last page off the calendar can change the year. But, it cannot change the MAN. We'll make of each new year just what we have made of the old ones — unless we direct our lives anew toward God and neighbor, unless we re-evaluate destiny and self.

In this New Year don't expect a blanket of perfection to hide the old failures. But seek the better Way. The Church helps men discover new trails . . . and follow them with new hope . . . to a new vision of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Even Before Details Are Known

Battle Lines Are Drawn For Tax Reduction Fight

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Anything as popular as lower taxes shouldn't be a call to battle. But the program which the Kennedy administration has drawn up at Palm Beach, Fla., and which it will disclose to Congress in about two weeks in chilly Washington, finds the battle lines well established even before the details are known.

Business wants one kind of tax cut. Labor makes it plain it wants another. The administration may well want a third.

Liberals favor tax cutting—if along certain lines—and forget about any Treasury deficits. Conservatives frown on tax cutting unless government spending also drops so the federal budget can be kept in balance, or nearly so.

The amount of the reduction is in dispute. The timing of the cut is, too. And, above all, the question is who gets the cut and how much—and will it be offset by loss of certain privileges in the present tax laws.

Business spokesmen tend to stress the good that would flow from a drop in the present 52 per cent levy on corporate earnings. The money saved, they say, could be used for modernization or expansion, and hence for faster economic growth. They also favor drastic trimming of the top brackets of individual income taxes. The argument is that this would be money most likely to flow into investment markets for new ventures or expansion.

Labor leaders have put forth a different idea. Let the corporate changes go over for a year. The first cut should be in the lowest brackets of personal incomes. This would provide increased purchasing power, benefitting business and thus creating jobs for those now out of work.

Conservative spokesmen argue against this, contending that since the great dollar volume of tax collections come from the multitudes in the lower and middle brackets, any cut sizable enough to do them much good individually would mean a pyramiding of the federal budget deficit. The conservative argument is that such a deficit could lead to monetary inflation, a rise in consumer prices, and the individuals would be no better off at the end of the year.

Many liberals are on record as favoring both corporate and individual cuts as soon as possible. Their position is that together this would get the economy moving fast enough to provide enough business earnings and personal income for the Treasury to tax at the lower rates and still balance its books.

So the battle lines are drawn. And whatever the program the President presents to the new Congress next month, it's pretty sure to displease some people—and perhaps disappoint a lot of them.

Night Spots Set Programs To Keep People Off Road

NEW YORK (AP)—A number of establishments catering to New Year's Eve celebrants are emphasizing programs to keep their patrons off the highways.

Setting the pace are big clubs and hotels in Los Angeles. A newspaper cafe columnist says police warning on drunken driving, police roadblocks and a crackdown on traffic violations have made it harder to lure people out of the big suburban areas for an evening of celebrating in the city.

Several Los Angeles hotels are offering a free room with their package deals for the evening at prices up to $87.

One hotel's plan includes a party at the Coconut Grove, a night's lodging and a bus ride the next morning to the Rose Parade in Pasadena.

A hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif., has changed its package deal to exclude drinks, making the price cheaper, and eliminating the obligation of celebrators to drink up their money's worth before heading home.

Howard Johnson's motor lodge chain in Columbus, Ohio, has a $17-per-couple deal with overnight accommodations for two, dancing, swimming, buffet supper and breakfast on New Year's Day. Other clubs in the city have cover charges from $3 to $3.50.

Millions of people will not celebrate the new year in clubs and hotels.

Churches throughout the nation will open their doors for services where prayers will be offered for world peace.

Many families will spend New Year's Eve at their hearthside. Others will celebrate with friends in private homes.

In Cherryville, N.C., the colorful 151-year-old custom of heralding the new year begins at midnight.

Two separate groups will call at every home in the town of 4,000. At each, a crier sings out a chant of several verses beginning: "Good morning to you, sir. We wish you a Happy New Year. Good health, long life. . ."

Then some 30 men, each armed with old muskets, will fire a volley. The custom was brought to Gaston County, N.C., by early German settlers.

At Colorado Springs, Colo., the AdAmAn club will make its annual climb to the top of Pike's Peak to shoot fireworks at midnight December 31. This custom was started three decades ago.

One of the world's most famous celebrations will be in New York City's Times Square, where thousands jam streets and sidewalks to yell cheer and have their toes and ribs bruised.

Even Before Details Are Known

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Anything as popular as lower taxes shouldn't be a call to battle. But the program which the Kennedy administration has drawn up at Palm Beach, Fla., and which it will disclose to Congress in about two weeks in chilly Washington, finds the battle lines well established even before the details are known.

Business wants one kind of tax cut. Labor makes it plain it wants another. The administration may well want a third.

Liberals favor tax cutting—if along certain lines—and forget about any Treasury deficits. Conservatives frown on tax cutting unless government spending also drops so the federal budget can be kept in balance, or nearly so.

The amount of the reduction is in dispute. The timing of the cut is, too. And, above all, the question is who gets the cut and how much—and will it be offset by loss of certain privileges in the present tax laws.

Business spokesmen tend to stress the good that would flow from a drop in the present 52 per cent levy on corporate earnings. The money saved, they say, could be used for modernization or expansion, and hence for faster economic growth. They also favor drastic trimming of the top brackets of individual income taxes. The argument is that this would be money most likely to flow into investment markets for new ventures or expansion.

Labor leaders have put forth a different idea. Let the corporate changes go over for a year. The first cut should be in the lowest brackets of personal incomes. This would provide increased purchasing power, benefitting business and thus creating jobs for those now out of work.

Baldwin Tallies 20 In Third Win

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's once-beaten Tigers encountered only a minimum of difficulty in sweeping past perfect - record Lisbon, 72-47, in their first action in 13 days.

Quickly peeling the dangerous label off the Blue Devils — winner of four straight — Wellsville used a second quarter blitz to open up a comfortable halftime margin and coasted the rest of the way Friday night before a crowd of 900 at Beacom Memorial gym.

STEVE Baldwin, 6-5 center, led the Tigers to their third conquest in a row with a 20-point effort and his strongest performance to date. The big senior had been slowed by the effects of foot surgery and the long holiday layoff evidently provided the needed rest.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Tigers cut down Lisbon with one of their best games thus far in field goal shooting, and their fast - moving zone defense also played a major part in the victory.

Wellsville fired 47 per cent for the night (30 of 64) and left Lisbon trailing with a second quarter splurge that found guard Jim Powell collecting three straight goals with Baldwin making the assists from the pivot.

AGGRESSIVE but erratic Lisbon hit only 26 per cent (15 of 57) and lacked both the size and shooting power to remain a strong contender after the opening period.

But Coach Gary Pike's Devils got in their licks in the opening quarter, tying the score at 10-10 with 1:10 to go and moving to a 14-12 lead, scoring chiefly from the foul line.

The lead was short - lived, however, as the Tigers zoomed quickly in front, 20-14, behind the Baldwin-to-Powell scoring combination. Wellsville pulled ahead by 30-20 and never let up the rest of the way to bag an easy victory.

BALDWIN moved smoothly in the pivot throughout to toss in 10 field goals, five in the first period. Powell checked in with a hustling brand of ball and finished with 11 points.

Everyone on the Tiger bench saw action as McDevitt called on the reserves for mopping up operations late in the game. Among the other starters, Andy Dash hit eight points and southpaw Ed Nelson nine.

Tall Milton Martin, playing for the first time with new contact lenses, failed to score but was effective around the boards. Late in the game, the senior forward lost the tiny lenses in a scuffle and action was halted while a search got underway. They turned up undamaged and Milt finished with his eyeglasses brought along for just such an emergency.

MCDEVITT said he was pleased with the shooting ability exhibited by his club, but indicated additional work is needed to add polish to their offensive attack before Sectional play continues against Toronto.

Lisbon, listing fair size, showed plenty of zip but little in the way of precision or accuracy from the floor in losing its first game in four starts.

Craig Pannier, 6-2, and Dave Rose, 6-1, topped the scorers with 12 points each, while husky Larry McPherson contributed 10. Only Pannier was able to hit from the outside to any significance.

In the preliminary, Wellsville's Reserves whipped up a driving finish for towel - waving Coach Chick McMillan and beat the Lisbon Reserves, 48-38.

LISBON came from behind to trail by only two points with less than two minutes to go, but the Tigers (3-1) turned on the steam to pull it out behind the scoring of Tom Betz. Betz dropped in a few foul shots and two goals from long range in the late stages to spark the young Tigers.

Terry Flesch, 6-2 junior, and Jeff MacLean, bespectacled guard, also were factors in the victory. MacLean led the scoring with 11 points, while Flesch hit 10 and Betz eight. Flesch also got into the varsity game and made nine points.

Tim Bucher led the Lisbon reserves with 15 points.

Both Have Easy Time In Openers

By ANDY NUZZO

After winning in a surprisingly easy fashion, the Midland Leopards and Martins Ferry Purple Raiders will clash for the championship of the Midland Leopard Boosters' Holiday Tournament tonight. Midland won the tourney last season.

On Friday evening Hank Kuzma's quintet racked up their sixth win in seven starts, when they buried the Munhall Indians, 63-51, in the second game of the tourney.

In the tourney opener, George Milby's Ferry five routed the pre-tourney favorite, Pittsburgh South Hills Catholic, 60-45.

This is the second consecutive year that the pre-tourney favorite has lost. Last year Monaca dumped Fort Cherry, 44-42, in an overtime battle. Fort Cherry had been the pick to win the tourney.

The consolation game will get under way at seven and Press Thomas' Munhall Indians will be out to avenge an earlier season loss suffered at the hands of South Hills Catholic. Both teams have 5-2 records.

Midland featured its best balanced scoring attack of the season in defeating the Indians. Four starters scored in double figures. Sophomore Ron Brown led the scoring parade with 15 points on five field goals and five of seven free throws.

Senior Bill Sallis and sophomore Sim Hill followed with 11 points apiece. Sallis dropped in three field goals and five of seven free throws. Hill swished four fielders and three of four free throws.

The fourth starter to hit double figures was senior Gary Perkins who canned five fielders for 10 points.

Munhall sharpshooter Don Qualters scored more than half of his team's total points, hitting 11 of 18 field goal attempts and four free throws for 26 markers. He scored all the Munhall points in the first period.

Both Midland and Munhall had hot hands from the field. The Leopards canned 22 of 54 shots for 41 per cent, while the Indians converted 19 of 49 attempts for 39 per cent.

Midland jumped off to a quick 16-7 lead at the end of the opening period and increased it to 30-14 at halftime.

Both teams scored 14 points in points, but were never in contention.

In the opener, Tony Bumbico led the Purple Raiders to their victory over the Knights of Gerald Conroy. He swished eight fielders and made five of seven free throws for 21 points. Twelve of these markers came in the second quarter when Martins Ferry broke the game open with a 27 - point outburst.

This followed a very erratic first period in which both the teams pressed one another with the Knights leading at the buzzer by an 8-5 margin.

The press used by the Purple Raiders throughout the game had the Knights rattled and forced them to make costly mistakes.

Supporting Bumbico was Buck Worley, who chipped in 14 points and played an outstanding defensive game. Gene Joseph, starting center for Ferry, played only the first half of the game but netted 10 points while he was in the game.

Fred Lavura led the Knights with 12 points.

Martins Ferry dealt a hot hand from the field, hitting on 22 of 55 shots for 40 percent. The Knights sank only 20 of 70 shots for 29 per cent.

At the conclusion of the championship game trophies will be presented and a dinner will be served to the four teams in the lunch room of the Midland gym.

Rain Predicted For 25th Annual North-South Tilt

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Coaches predicted touchdowns and the weatherman predicted showers as Yankee met Rebel today in the 25th annual Blue-Gray football game here.

The forecast of occasional showers cast a shadow over predictions of a wide-open game.

Although some of the all-star meetings in the past have resulted in high scores, never before have the pre-game predictions and practice routines had such an offensive luster as this year.

Southern Coach Tom Nugent of Maryland hasn't pulled any punches about his strategy. The Gray squad has practiced offense and more offense.

The Blue squad too, under the tutoring of Coach Robert Devaney of Nebraska, has leaned heavily toward offense through the week's drills.

The South has a 14-9 edge in the series.

The South broke a three-year winning streak by the Blues last year with a narrow 9-7 victory.

Steers Minus Bridges Bow To Rens, 102-93

By The Associated Press

Well, Bill Bridges took a night off and look what happened to the Kansas City Steers.

Bridges was sidelined with a knee injury Friday night as the Steers put their 10-game winning streak on the line in an American Basketball League game against third-place Pittsburgh. The Rens grabbed the opportunity and knocked off the league-leaders 102-93.

In the only other game scheduled, the Chicago Majors whipped Philadelphia 93-83 and ended a four-game losing streak while extending the Tapers' losing string to seven.

Louis Wolfson's Harbor View Farm won $525,650 in purses during the first 11 months of 1962.

East's Gridders Seek Revenge In Shrine Classic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was "Johnny bar the gates and anything can happen" today as a star-studded East team sought revenge for last year's 21-8 upset against a hero-studded West team in the 38th annual East - West Shrine football classic.

Most oddsmakers rated the contest a tossup, but some made the West a one-point favorite on the basis of a slightly heavier line and what appeared to be a top notch pass-catch combination.

In drills this week, West quarterback Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian frequently found the waiting hands of Washington State's Hugh Campbell.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue said he felt the East could mount a better running attack this year than it did last year even with such greats as Ernie Davis and Bob Ferguson.

Missouri's Dan Devine, who headed the West team, was equally confident.

Cincy U. Cage Boosters Given Good, Bad News

CINCINNATI (AP)—University of Cincinnati basketball boosters received good and bad news Friday from Coach Ed Jucker.

Dale Heidotting, 6-foot-8 UC starter, suffered a sprained ankle in the Dayton game last week and will be out indefinitely. On the other hand, Ron Krick is recovering satisfactorily from a shoulder operation at Jewish Hospital.

Heidotting, Jucker said, "injured the ankle on a rebound in the Dayton game and it's more serious then we expected. He was just rounding into top form, too. That will probably keep him out of our first conference game (Missouri Valley), and that will hurt us, especially against Wichita, because they are tall."

Of Krick, 6-9 sophomore who had hoped to make the team, but suffered chronic shoulder dislocations, Jucker said: He "is recovering quite satisfactorily," and "the doctors say Krick came through fine." A second operation on the other shoulder is scheduled for spring, if the first is successful.

Midland, Martins Ferry To Clash In Tourney Finals

Baldwin Tallies 20 In Third Win

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's once-beaten Tigers encountered only a minimum of difficulty in sweeping past perfect - record Lisbon, 72-47, in their first action in 13 days.

Quickly peeling the dangerous label off the Blue Devils — winner of four straight — Wellsville used a second quarter blitz to open up a comfortable halftime margin and coasted the rest of the way Friday night before a crowd of 900 at Beacom Memorial gym.

STEVE Baldwin, 6-5 center, led the Tigers to their third conquest in a row with a 20-point effort and his strongest performance to date. The big senior had been slowed by the effects of foot surgery and the long holiday layoff evidently provided the needed rest.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Tigers cut down Lisbon with one of their best games thus far in field goal shooting, and their fast - moving zone defense also played a major part in the victory.

Wellsville fired 47 per cent for the night (30 of 64) and left Lisbon trailing with a second quarter splurge that found guard Jim Powell collecting three straight goals with Baldwin making the assists from the pivot.

AGGRESSIVE but erratic Lisbon hit only 26 per cent (15 of 57) and lacked both the size and shooting power to remain a strong contender after the opening period.

But Coach Gary Pike's Devils got in their licks in the opening quarter, tying the score at 10-10 with 1:10 to go and moving to a 14-12 lead, scoring chiefly from the foul line.

The lead was short - lived, however, as the Tigers zoomed quickly in front, 20-14, behind the Baldwin-to-Powell scoring combination. Wellsville pulled ahead by 30-20 and never let up the rest of the way to bag an easy victory.

BALDWIN moved smoothly in the pivot throughout to toss in 10 field goals, five in the first period. Powell checked in with a hustling brand of ball and finished with 11 points.

Everyone on the Tiger bench saw action as McDevitt called on the reserves for mopping up operations late in the game. Among the other starters, Andy Dash hit eight points and southpaw Ed Nelson nine.

Tall Milton Martin, playing for the first time with new contact lenses, failed to score but was effective around the boards. Late in the game, the senior forward lost the tiny lenses in a scuffle and action was halted while a search got underway. They turned up undamaged and Milt finished with his eyeglasses brought along for just such an emergency.

MCDEVITT said he was pleased with the shooting ability exhibited by his club, but indicated additional work is needed to add polish to their offensive attack before Sectional play continues against Toronto.

Lisbon, listing fair size, showed plenty of zip but little in the way of precision or accuracy from the floor in losing its first game in four starts.

Craig Pannier, 6-2, and Dave Rose, 6-1, topped the scorers with 12 points each, while husky Larry McPherson contributed 10. Only Pannier was able to hit from the outside to any significance.

In the preliminary, Wellsville's Reserves whipped up a driving finish for towel - waving Coach Chick McMillan and beat the Lisbon Reserves, 48-38.

LISBON came from behind to trail by only two points with less than two minutes to go, but the Tigers (3-1) turned on the steam to pull it out behind the scoring of Tom Betz. Betz dropped in a few foul shots and two goals from long range in the late stages to spark the young Tigers.

Terry Flesch, 6-2 junior, and Jeff MacLean, bespectacled guard, also were factors in the victory. MacLean led the scoring with 11 points, while Flesch hit 10 and Betz eight. Flesch also got into the varsity game and made nine points.

Tim Bucher led the Lisbon reserves with 15 points.

Both Have Easy Time In Openers

By ANDY NUZZO

After winning in a surprisingly easy fashion, the Midland Leopards and Martins Ferry Purple Raiders will clash for the championship of the Midland Leopard Boosters' Holiday Tournament tonight. Midland won the tourney last season.

On Friday evening Hank Kuzma's quintet racked up their sixth win in seven starts, when they buried the Munhall Indians, 63-51, in the second game of the tourney.

In the tourney opener, George Milby's Ferry five routed the pre-tourney favorite, Pittsburgh South Hills Catholic, 60-45.

This is the second consecutive year that the pre-tourney favorite has lost. Last year Monaca dumped Fort Cherry, 44-42, in an overtime battle. Fort Cherry had been the pick to win the tourney.

The consolation game will get under way at seven and Press Thomas' Munhall Indians will be out to avenge an earlier season loss suffered at the hands of South Hills Catholic. Both teams have 5-2 records.

Midland featured its best balanced scoring attack of the season in defeating the Indians. Four starters scored in double figures. Sophomore Ron Brown led the scoring parade with 15 points on five field goals and five of seven free throws.

Senior Bill Sallis and sophomore Sim Hill followed with 11 points apiece. Sallis dropped in three field goals and five of seven free throws. Hill swished four fielders and three of four free throws.

The fourth starter to hit double figures was senior Gary Perkins who canned five fielders for 10 points.

Munhall sharpshooter Don Qualters scored more than half of his team's total points, hitting 11 of 18 field goal attempts and four free throws for 26 markers. He scored all the Munhall points in the first period.

Both Midland and Munhall had hot hands from the field. The Leopards canned 22 of 54 shots for 41 per cent, while the Indians converted 19 of 49 attempts for 39 per cent.

Midland jumped off to a quick 16-7 lead at the end of the opening period and increased it to 30-14 at halftime.

Both teams scored 14 points in points, but were never in contention.

In the opener, Tony Bumbico led the Purple Raiders to their victory over the Knights of Gerald Conroy. He swished eight fielders and made five of seven free throws for 21 points. Twelve of these markers came in the second quarter when Martins Ferry broke the game open with a 27 - point outburst.

This followed a very erratic first period in which both the teams pressed one another with the Knights leading at the buzzer by an 8-5 margin.

The press used by the Purple Raiders throughout the game had the Knights rattled and forced them to make costly mistakes.

Supporting Bumbico was Buck Worley, who chipped in 14 points and played an outstanding defensive game. Gene Joseph, starting center for Ferry, played only the first half of the game but netted 10 points while he was in the game.

Fred Lavura led the Knights with 12 points.

Martins Ferry dealt a hot hand from the field, hitting on 22 of 55 shots for 40 percent. The Knights sank only 20 of 70 shots for 29 per cent.

At the conclusion of the championship game trophies will be presented and a dinner will be served to the four teams in the lunch room of the Midland gym.

The Beavers had dropped six straight games before hitting the win column last night.

The most responsible cager in the victory was Larry Robinson who hit for 22 points while Pat Marron dropped in 11.

Western Beaver and South Side were locked in an 8-8 first period tie and after leading by a narrow 21-20 edge at halftime the winners took a commanding 42-31 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Jerome Szatkowski paced South Side with 17 markers.

Rain Predicted For 25th Annual North-South Tilt

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Coaches predicted touchdowns and the weatherman predicted showers as Yankee met Rebel today in the 25th annual Blue-Gray football game here.

The forecast of occasional showers cast a shadow over predictions of a wide-open game.

Although some of the all-star meetings in the past have resulted in high scores, never before have the pre-game predictions and practice routines had such an offensive luster as this year.

Southern Coach Tom Nugent of Maryland hasn't pulled any punches about his strategy. The Gray squad has practiced offense and more offense.

The Blue squad too, under the tutoring of Coach Robert Devaney of Nebraska, has leaned heavily toward offense through the week's drills.

The South has a 14-9 edge in the series.

The South broke a three-year winning streak by the Blues last year with a narrow 9-7 victory.

Steers Minus Bridges Bow To Rens, 102-93

By The Associated Press

Well, Bill Bridges took a night off and look what happened to the Kansas City Steers.

Bridges was sidelined with a knee injury Friday night as the Steers put their 10-game winning streak on the line in an American Basketball League game against third-place Pittsburgh. The Rens grabbed the opportunity and knocked off the league-leaders 102-93.

In the only other game scheduled, the Chicago Majors whipped Philadelphia 93-83 and ended a four-game losing streak while extending the Tapers' losing string to seven.

Louis Wolfson's Harbor View Farm won $525,650 in purses during the first 11 months of 1962.

East's Gridders Seek Revenge In Shrine Classic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was "Johnny bar the gates and anything can happen" today as a star-studded East team sought revenge for last year's 21-8 upset against a hero-studded West team in the 38th annual East - West Shrine football classic.

Most oddsmakers rated the contest a tossup, but some made the West a one-point favorite on the basis of a slightly heavier line and what appeared to be a top notch pass-catch combination.

In drills this week, West quarterback Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian frequently found the waiting hands of Washington State's Hugh Campbell.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue said he felt the East could mount a better running attack this year than it did last year even with such greats as Ernie Davis and Bob Ferguson.

Missouri's Dan Devine, who headed the West team, was equally confident.

Cincy U. Cage Boosters Given Good, Bad News

CINCINNATI (AP)—University of Cincinnati basketball boosters received good and bad news Friday from Coach Ed Jucker.

Dale Heidotting, 6-foot-8 UC starter, suffered a sprained ankle in the Dayton game last week and will be out indefinitely. On the other hand, Ron Krick is recovering satisfactorily from a shoulder operation at Jewish Hospital.

Heidotting, Jucker said, "injured the ankle on a rebound in the Dayton game and it's more serious then we expected. He was just rounding into top form, too. That will probably keep him out of our first conference game (Missouri Valley), and that will hurt us, especially against Wichita, because they are tall."

Of Krick, 6-9 sophomore who had hoped to make the team, but suffered chronic shoulder dislocations, Jucker said: He "is recovering quite satisfactorily," and "the doctors say Krick came through fine." A second operation on the other shoulder is scheduled for spring, if the first is successful.

Loyola, Illinois And Arizona State Eye Cage Titles

Mounties Tangle With Big 10 Five

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Out of a staggering total of 60 basketball tournaments—some big and some so tiny you'd need a map to find them—three of the ranking teams in the country—Loyola of Chicago, Illinois and Arizona State—will shoot for major titles tonight.

Loyola, the nation's highest scoring team, rolled over Memphis State, 94-82, in the semifinals of the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City and will meet Wyoming for the crown. Jerry Harkness led the Ramblers, No. 3 in the current Associated Press poll, with 26 points. Wyoming advanced with a 65-64 decision over Oklahoma City.

Illinois, No. 4 downed New York University, 91-84, after trailing by 13 points at the end of the first half. The undefeated Illini will play West Virginia, 94-82 victor over St. Bonaventure, in the final in Madison Square Garden that will be televised nationally.

Arizona State, once beaten and No. 6 in the country, clashes with Canisius in the final of the Queen City Tournament in Buffalo, N.Y. Both were idle Friday.

But the mad whirl will stop abruptly after tonight's games. All the tournaments will be decided and the teams will prepare for the serious business of conference races starting next week.

Two of the big ones were settled Friday night when Georgia Tech edged Florida 63-61 in the final of the Gator Bowl Tournament in Jacksonville, Fla., and Miami, Fla. squeaked past Pitt, 86-85, in the windup of the Hurricane Tournament in Miami Beach.

Mississippi State, No. 10 in the rankings, dropped a 79-76 decision to Houston in the Sugar Bowl Tournament in New Orleans. Houston will meet undefeated Auburn in the final, which was won by Mississippi State last year. Auburn came from behind in the last 4 minutes to whip Xavier of Ohio, 64-57.

Duke, No. 8, and striving to protect its ranking after two straight losses, turned back Princeton, 85-74, with Jeff Mullins dropping in 28 points.

Here are the semifinal results of some of the major tournaments:

Quaker City at Philadelphia—Brigham Young 81, Providence 78 and St. Joseph's 59, Villanova 54. Villanova was the defending champion.

Big 8—at Kansas City—Kansas 61, Iowa State 51 and Kansas State 52, Oklahoma State 44. Kansas State is seeking an unprecedented third straight crown.

Far West at Portland, Ore.—Iowa 62, Oregon 48 and Oregon State 58, California 50.

WCAC at San Francisco—San Jose 65, Santa Clara 62 and St. Mary's 63, San Francisco 62.

Defense May Hold 'Key' To Victory In Rose Bowl

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—National champion Southern California and runner-up Wisconsin each pack explosive scoring attacks, but few observers would be surprised by a hard-nosed defensive battle in the 49th Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

"We believe defense will be the key to the game—and we think we have a very good defense," Southern Cal Coach John McKay said today.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn agrees that defense will play a major role in the first post-season meeting of the nation's top two college powers. And he's as proud of his defensive players as he is of those who account for the scoring.

"We've came a long way this year because everyone has done his job," Bruhn said. "It's difficult now to tell some of the sophomores and juniors from the seniors without knowing them personally or by number."

The Badgers led the nation in scoring with an average of 31.7 points they gained in posting an 8-1 record. However, the Trojans weren't too far behind as they averaged 21.9 points a game while winning the national title with 10 straight victories.

There is little difference between the clubs on defense. Southern Cal allowed only 55 points, less than a touchdown per game and had three shutouts—7-0 over Iowa, 14-0 over Washington and 25-0 in the regular season windup with Notre Dame.

In one less game, Wisconsin surrendered 88 points, but many were scored late in the outings already clinched. No opponent scored more than two touchdowns despite the Badgers' rugged seven game Big Ten schedule and meetings with New Mexico State and Notre Dame. The only loss was 14-7 to Ohio State.

Penn State Aims At 4th Straight Post-Season Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Penn State is aiming for a fourth straight post-season victory against Florida in the Gator Bowl football game today and is a solid favorite to accomplish that mission.

A sellout crowd of 50,000 plus a national television audience (CBS, 1:45 p.m., EST) were set to watch this 18th edition of the classic pitting the two-time Eastern champions against the unpredictable Florida Gators (6-4) of the Southeastern Conference.

Led by All-America end Dave Robinson and a host of professional draft plums, the Nittany Lions of Coach Rip Engle had the best record (9-1) and most solid November stretch run of any of his 13 clubs at University Park, Pa.

Engle insisted delays by weather and a wild plane ride here never permitted him to whip the squad back into its November form. At the Florida camp, Coach Ray Graves thought his Gators were as ready as they could be.

Check Is Accepted To Seal Tranfer Deal

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Acting quickly on the heels of Ohio Supreme Court refusal to rehear a protest, Greenfield City Council accepted a check Friday night for $1,153,357 to complete transfer of the municipal electric system to Dayton Power & Light Co.

Winters National Bank & Trust Co., Dayton, delivered the check sealing the deal. Dayton Power & Light has been in possession of and operating the system since Nov. 21, 1961, in accord with an escrow agreement between the city and the company.

Voters approved sale of the system to the utility on Nov. 8, 1960. Leon Harvey of Greenfield brought suit Dec. 23, 1960, for an injunction to block the transaction and the matter had been in the courts since.

Ohio Quintets Win 4, Lose 4 In Tourneys

By The Associated Press

It was a four-won, four-lost standoff between Ohio teams and outside opponents in holiday tournament basketball play around the nation Friday night.

The balance for the night tipped in favor of Buckeyeland when Dayton whipped Dartmouth 62-45 in the only non-tourney action.

Winners were Miami, 70-53 over Morris Harvey in the first round of the Alpine meet at Charleston, W. Va.; Bowling Green, 80-73 in consolation fare at the Quaker City tourney in Philadelphia, and Ohio Conference stalwarts Hiram and Mount Union in the Mounts' four-team event at Alliance. Hiram nipped Randolph-Macon 93-90 and Mount Union drubbed Waynesburg 60-44.

Losers were Xavier, 64-57 to Auburn in the first round of the Sugar Bowl Classic in New Orleans; Toledo, 58-55 to Arkansas in a consolation tilt in the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City; Ohio Wesleyan, 73-68 to LaFayette in an opener of the Loyola Invitational at Baltimore, and Findlay, 77-72 to Franklin in the Indianapolis Classic.

In the interstate Ashland tournament, the host Eagles dumped Heidelberg 97-78 and Kenyon tripped Denison 45-41 in first rounders.

Miami broke open a nip-and-tuck battle in the second half to beat Morris Harvey behind Jeff Gehring's 21 points, moving the Redskins into the title game against Penn State. Gangling Nate Thurmond collected 30 markers as once-beaten Bowling Green conquered the Jaspers despite the fact Beegee backcourt ace Butch Komives didn't play.

Xavier led undefeated Auburn 53-52 with 3:39 to play but fell behind, then lost on fouls—including two technicals called in the last minute for protesting officials' calls. Steve Thomas, gunning from long range, netted 27 Musketeer points.

Toledo led Arkansas 37-34 at the half, but the Porkers took a 50-48 lead then played a ball-control game the last seven minutes.

Ohio Wesleyan was another to blow an advantage. The Bishops, who got 30 points from Barry Clemens, led Lafayette 66-62 with 4:27 to play, then went into a freeze. It backfired as Gene Denhan made three steals resulting in four Leopard baskets.

Dayton led Dartmouth only 26-24 at halftime, then swept nearly all the rebounds in the second half and romped away.

At Alliance, Bill Meyers scored 25 points, Ken Rowen 25 and Terry Brown 25 as Hiram beat the Virginia invaders in a racehorse game. Mount Union found Waynesburg a soft touch in the nightcap.

At Ashland, the host school lived up to it's favorite's role to retain the crown it won in its 1959 and 1961 tourneys. Larry Aulger scored 29 points and little Boze Johnson 27 to lead the Eagles past Heidelberg. Kenyon-Denison was close all the way before the Lords prevailed.

Findlay led Franklin 41-40 at halftime but couldn't hold on.

Waning Interest and Empty Pocketbooks, those two bowl bandits who've been bumping 'em off with startling rapidity this year, have struck again.

On the last weekend of post-season football activity for the collegians, the twin terrors who eliminated the National Trophy Bowl, scarred the Gotham Bowl and threatened the North-South game, began to move in on tonight's All-American Bowl.

Only a small college victory—and a profit — might save the game, the fifth annual meeting at Tucson, Ariz., between picked stars from major colleges and little schools. In an effort to hold off the bandits, sponsors have switched to a night game.

The All-American Bowl, built around the theory that the little boys can handle the big boys—once in a while at least—has been somewhat less than a lukewarm success. The main reason: The small college team is still looking for its first victory.

The all-star game is one of four post-season classics scheduled for today, starting a heavy weekend that winds up with the four big ones New Year's Day — Rose, Orange, Sugar and Cotton. Here's the line-up:

TODAY

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Penn State, 9-1, vs. Florida, 6-4, 1:45 p.m., EST, CBS-TV.

Blue-Gray Game at Montgomery, Ala. — North All-Stars vs. South All-Stars, 2 p.m. NBC-TV.

East-West Game at San Francisco—East All-Stars vs. West All-Stars, 4:30 p.m., NBC-TV.

All-American Bowl—Major College All-Stars vs. Small College All-Stars, 8 p.m., no television.

MONDAY

Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.—West Texas State, 8-2, vs. Ohio U. —8-4, 4 p.m. no television.

TUESDAY

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.—Southern California, 10-0, vs. Wisconsin, 8-1, 5 p.m., NBC-TV.

Orange Bowl at Miami—Oklahoma, 8-2, vs. Alabama, 9-1, 2 p.m., ABC-TV.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—Arkansas, 9-1, vs. Mississippi, 9-0, 2 p.m., NBC-TV.

Cotton Bowl at Dallas—Texas, 9-0-1, vs. LSU, 8-1-1, 3 p.m., CBS-TV.

As Florida Coach Ray Graves and Penn State Coach Rip Engle sent their teams out for the Gator Bowl, both figured on a high scoring game.

"I look for an offensive game," said Graves. "It probably will take three touchdowns to win it."

Engle agreed, then said, "I think Florida is as good as any team we've played in a bowl. We are not near the team we were in November. We had only eight practice sessions compared to 12 last year."

Nevertheless, Penn State was favored.

The Blue-Gray faced the prospect of rainy weather, which would hamper the fleet Southern forces. The East-West seemed headed for a duel between rival quarterbacks Daryle Lamonica of Notre Dame and the East and Sonny Gibbs of TCU and the West.

Packers One TD Choice Over Giants On Sunday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay remains a one-touchdown favorite over the New York Giants in Sunday's National Football League title game with a chance of a heavy field at Yankee Stadium.

The weatherman's revised forecast called for a chance of snow, mixed with rain tonight, rain Sunday morning and partial clearing in the afternoon. The field, covered against the weather, was firm for the two clubs' final drills today.

Vince Lombardi, coach of the defending champion Packers, said Paul Hornung's injured knee was "perfect" but hedged when asked if he would start the Golden Boy of 1961 at halfback.

"I'll know better about that Sunday," said Lombardi Friday night in a mass interview at press headquarters. "The other boy (Tom Moore) has been playing well, too. It all depends on how he (Hornung) feels and how I feel Sunday morning."

Lombardi said Jerry Kramer, who took over the placement and field goal kicking jobs after Hornung's knee was injured in midseason, would continue. Hornung has been kicking this week in practice at Green Bay but Lombardi said he was not kicking well. Either Kramer or Willie Wood will kick off for the Packers.

Asked if he preferred mud or a dry field, Lombardi said, "I don't care."

In reply to the same type of question, Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants had said, "I don't care about the weather as long as it is dry and doesn't rain or sleet."

Most observers felt the Packers would gain a decided advantage in heavy going for their offense is based primarily on the power running of fullback Jim Taylor and Hornung or Moore behind the strong blocking of the offensive line, anchored by center Jim Ringo.

The Giants, on the other hand, are primarily a passing team. Y. A. Tittle, their bald quarterback, set a league record by throwing 33 touchdown passes and is primed for a superior effort to erase the memory of last year's 37-0 rout by the Packers when he had four passes intercepted.

The game, scheduled for 2 p.m., EST is a complete sellout with 64,891 fans paying a gross gate of $615,596 plus another $615,000 for radio-television network (NBC) rights and another $17,500 for local radio and films bringing the over-all gross total close to $1,250,000.

The game will be blacked out in a 75-mile area around New York, a decision backed up by a federal judge who refused, under heavy pressure, to order the blackout lifted.

Fans from the New York area were booking reservations in motels and taverns in the area outside the blackout. Some 5,500 fans were expected to see a closed circuit telecast in the New Haven Arena, where the league and network lost a move to stop the show.

Green Bay romped through the Western Conference with 10 straight victories before it came a cropper in Detroit Thanksgiving Day. The Packers wound up with a 13-1 record. The Giants won their last nine for a 12-2 record, bowing only to Cleveland in the opener and Pittsburgh in their fifth game.

Heintz To Referee Packers-Giants Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Emil Heintz will referee Sunday's National Football League title game between the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants at Yankee Stadium.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle named Heintz Friday and also announced that Joseph Connell would be the umpire, George Murphy the head linesman, Thomas Kelleher the back judge and Fred Swearingen the field judge.

Beaver Local Matmen 2nd In Tourney

Beaver Local relinquished the championship of the North Canton Holiday Wrestling Tournament Friday in finishing second in a field of eight teams.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's grapplers concluded a two - year reign as champion. The Beavers compiled 50 points to trail Stow of the Kent area, the winner with 90.

Following in order were Massillon, 47 points; Louisville 44, Canton Timken 35, North Canton 34, Southeast 24 and Marlington 12.

Jim Obney (103) and Les McKenzie (127) of Beaver Local returned home with individual trophies representing first places.

Gary Bookman won a second place, beaten 1-0 by Kruse of Southeast who performed in the state tournament last year. The loss was Bookman's first of the season.

Keith Berger (175) finished third. Finishing fourth were Bill Tychonievich (120), Mike Fisher (133), and Bill Grimes (165).

The Beavers also placed second in their own wrestling tournament this year. However, O'Rourke's squad is unbeaten in dual competition with a 4-0 record.

The Beavers host Weirton Thursday night at 7:30 and East Liverpool Saturday night at 7:30.

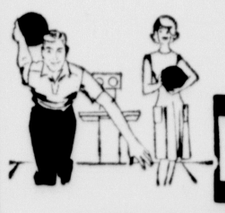

Ohio Man Elected

CHICAGO (AP)—Erwin C. Zepp director of the Ohio Historical Society, has been named secretary of the U.S. Grant Association, succeeding the late Ohio author-historian, Robert S. Harper. The appointment came during the annual American Historical Association meeting.

Smart Deb, bred by Russell L. Reineman and racing in the colors of Mrs. Reineman, is the first stakes winner for the sire Dedicate.

Sentenced To Death

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Death in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair is scheduled April 22 for James Mike Gilkerson, 41, of Dayton. A panel of three common pleas court judges so decreed Friday. They passed sentence on Gilkerson, whom they convicted last July 21 of fatally shooting his wife on Dec. 3, 1961. The long delay was due to legal maneuvering.

Loyola, Illinois And Arizona State Eye Cage Titles

Mounties Tangle With Big 10 Five

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Out of a staggering total of 60 basketball tournaments—some big and some so tiny you'd need a map to find them—three of the ranking teams in the country—Loyola of Chicago, Illinois and Arizona State—will shoot for major titles tonight.

Loyola, the nation's highest scoring team, rolled over Memphis State, 94-82, in the semifinals of the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City and will meet Wyoming for the crown. Jerry Harkness led the Ramblers, No. 3 in the current Associated Press poll, with 26 points. Wyoming advanced with a 65-64 decision over Oklahoma City.

Illinois, No. 4 downed New York University, 91-84, after trailing by 13 points at the end of the first half. The undefeated Illini will play West Virginia, 94-82 victor over St. Bonaventure, in the final in Madison Square Garden that will be televised nationally.

Arizona State, once beaten and No. 6 in the country, clashes with Canisius in the final of the Queen City Tournament in Buffalo, N.Y. Both were idle Friday.

But the mad whirl will stop abruptly after tonight's games. All the tournaments will be decided and the teams will prepare for the serious business of conference races starting next week.

Two of the big ones were settled Friday night when Georgia Tech edged Florida 63-61 in the final of the Gator Bowl Tournament in Jacksonville, Fla., and Miami, Fla. squeaked past Pitt, 86-85, in the windup of the Hurricane Tournament in Miami Beach.

Mississippi State, No. 10 in the rankings, dropped a 79-76 decision to Houston in the Sugar Bowl Tournament in New Orleans. Houston will meet undefeated Auburn in the final, which was won by Mississippi State last year. Auburn came from behind in the last 4 minutes to whip Xavier of Ohio, 64-57.

Duke, No. 8, and striving to protect its ranking after two straight losses, turned back Princeton, 85-74, with Jeff Mullins dropping in 28 points.

Here are the semifinal results of some of the major tournaments:

Quaker City at Philadelphia—Brigham Young 81, Providence 78 and St. Joseph's 59, Villanova 54. Villanova was the defending champion.

Big 8—at Kansas City—Kansas 61, Iowa State 51 and Kansas State 52, Oklahoma State 44. Kansas State is seeking an unprecedented third straight crown.

Far West at Portland, Ore.—Iowa 62, Oregon 48 and Oregon State 58, California 50.

WCAC at San Francisco—San Jose 65, Santa Clara 62 and St. Mary's 63, San Francisco 62.

Ohio Quintets Win 4, Lose 4 In Tourneys

By The Associated Press

It was a four-won, four-lost standoff between Ohio teams and outside opponents in holiday tournament basketball play around the nation Friday night.

The balance for the night tipped in favor of Buckeyeland when Dayton whipped Dartmouth 62-45 in the only non-tourney action.

Winners were Miami, 70-53 over Morris Harvey in the first round of the Alpine meet at Charleston, W. Va.; Bowling Green, 80-73 in consolation fare at the Quaker City tourney in Philadelphia, and Ohio Conference stalwarts Hiram and Mount Union in the Mounts' four-team event at Alliance. Hiram nipped Randolph-Macon 93-90 and Mount Union drubbed Waynesburg 60-44.

Losers were Xavier, 64-57 to Auburn in the first round of the Sugar Bowl Classic in New Orleans; Toledo, 58-55 to Arkansas in a consolation tilt in the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City; Ohio Wesleyan, 73-68 to LaFayette in an opener of the Loyola Invitational at Baltimore, and Findlay, 77-72 to Franklin in the Indianapolis Classic.

In the interstate Ashland tournament, the host Eagles dumped Heidelberg 97-78 and Kenyon tripped Denison 45-41 in first rounders.

Miami broke open a nip-and-tuck battle in the second half to beat Morris Harvey behind Jeff Gehring's 21 points, moving the Redskins into the title game against Penn State. Gangling Nate Thurmond collected 30 markers as once-beaten Bowling Green conquered the Jaspers despite the fact Beegee backcourt ace Butch Komives didn't play.

Xavier led undefeated Auburn 53-52 with 3:39 to play but fell behind, then lost on fouls—including two technicals called in the last minute for protesting officials' calls. Steve Thomas, gunning from long range, netted 27 Musketeer points.

Toledo led Arkansas 37-34 at the half, but the Porkers took a 50-48 lead then played a ball-control game the last seven minutes.

Ohio Wesleyan was another to blow an advantage. The Bishops, who got 30 points from Barry Clemens, led Lafayette 66-62 with 4:27 to play, then went into a freeze. It backfired as Gene Denhan made three steals resulting in four Leopard baskets.

Dayton led Dartmouth only 26-24 at halftime, then swept nearly all the rebounds in the second half and romped away.

At Alliance, Bill Meyers scored 25 points, Ken Rowen 25 and Terry Brown 25 as Hiram beat the Virginia invaders in a racehorse game. Mount Union found Waynesburg a soft touch in the nightcap.

At Ashland, the host school lived up to it's favorite's role to retain the crown it won in its 1959 and 1961 tourneys. Larry Aulger scored 29 points and little Boze Johnson 27 to lead the Eagles past Heidelberg. Kenyon-Denison was close all the way before the Lords prevailed.

Findlay led Franklin 41-40 at halftime but couldn't hold on.

Defense May Hold 'Key' To Victory In Rose Bowl

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—National champion Southern California and runner-up Wisconsin each pack explosive scoring attacks, but few observers would be surprised by a hard-nosed defensive battle in the 49th Rose Bowl game New Year's Day.

"We believe defense will be the key to the game—and we think we have a very good defense," Southern Cal Coach John McKay said today.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn agrees that defense will play a major role in the first post-season meeting of the nation's top two college powers. And he's as proud of his defensive players as he is of those who account for the scoring.

"We've came a long way this year because everyone has done his job," Bruhn said. "It's difficult now to tell some of the sophomores and juniors from the seniors without knowing them personally or by number."

The Badgers led the nation in scoring with an average of 31.7 points they gained in posting an 8-1 record. However, the Trojans weren't too far behind as they averaged 21.9 points a game while winning the national title with 10 straight victories.

There is little difference between the clubs on defense. Southern Cal allowed only 55 points, less than a touchdown per game and had three shutouts—7-0 over Iowa, 14-0 over Washington and 25-0 in the regular season windup with Notre Dame.

In one less game, Wisconsin surrendered 88 points, but many were scored late in the outings already clinched. No opponent scored more than two touchdowns despite the Badgers' rugged seven game Big Ten schedule and meetings with New Mexico State and Notre Dame. The only loss was 14-7 to Ohio State.

Penn State Aims At 4th Straight Post-Season Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Penn State is aiming for a fourth straight post-season victory against Florida in the Gator Bowl football game today and is a solid favorite to accomplish that mission.

A sellout crowd of 50,000 plus a national television audience (CBS, 1:45 p.m., EST) were set to watch this 18th edition of the classic pitting the two-time Eastern champions against the unpredictable Florida Gators (6-4) of the Southeastern Conference.

Led by All-America end Dave Robinson and a host of professional draft plums, the Nittany Lions of Coach Rip Engle had the best record (9-1) and most solid November stretch run of any of his 13 clubs at University Park, Pa.

Engle insisted delays by weather and a wild plane ride here never permitted him to whip the squad back into its November form. At the Florida camp, Coach Ray Graves thought his Gators were as ready as they could be.

Check Is Accepted To Seal Tranfer Deal

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Acting quickly on the heels of Ohio Supreme Court refusal to rehear a protest, Greenfield City Council accepted a check Friday night for $1,153,357 to complete transfer of the municipal electric system to Dayton Power & Light Co.

Winters National Bank & Trust Co., Dayton, delivered the check sealing the deal. Dayton Power & Light has been in possession of and operating the system since Nov. 21, 1961, in accord with an escrow agreement between the city and the company.

Voters approved sale of the system to the utility on Nov. 8, 1960. Leon Harvey of Greenfield brought suit Dec. 23, 1960, for an injunction to block the transaction and the matter had been in the courts since.

Packers One TD Choice Over Giants On Sunday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay remains a one-touchdown favorite over the New York Giants in Sunday's National Football League title game with a chance of a heavy field at Yankee Stadium.

The weatherman's revised forecast called for a chance of snow, mixed with rain tonight, rain Sunday morning and partial clearing in the afternoon. The field, covered against the weather, was firm for the two clubs' final drills today.

Vince Lombardi, coach of the defending champion Packers, said Paul Hornung's injured knee was "perfect" but hedged when asked if he would start the Golden Boy of 1961 at halfback.

"I'll know better about that Sunday," said Lombardi Friday night in a mass interview at press headquarters. "The other boy (Tom Moore) has been playing well, too. It all depends on how he (Hornung) feels and how I feel Sunday morning."

Lombardi said Jerry Kramer, who took over the placement and field goal kicking jobs after Hornung's knee was injured in midseason, would continue. Hornung has been kicking this week in practice at Green Bay but Lombardi said he was not kicking well. Either Kramer or Willie Wood will kick off for the Packers.

Asked if he preferred mud or a dry field, Lombardi said, "I don't care."

In reply to the same type of question, Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants had said, "I don't care about the weather as long as it is dry and doesn't rain or sleet."

Most observers felt the Packers would gain a decided advantage in heavy going for their offense is based primarily on the power running of fullback Jim Taylor and Hornung or Moore behind the strong blocking of the offensive line, anchored by center Jim Ringo.

The Giants, on the other hand, are primarily a passing team. Y. A. Tittle, their bald quarterback, set a league record by throwing 33 touchdown passes and is primed for a superior effort to erase the memory of last year's 37-0 rout by the Packers when he had four passes intercepted.

The game, scheduled for 2 p.m., EST is a complete sellout with 64,891 fans paying a gross gate of $615,596 plus another $615,000 for radio-television network (NBC) rights and another $17,500 for local radio and films bringing the over-all gross total close to $1,250,000.

The game will be blacked out in a 75-mile area around New York, a decision backed up by a federal judge who refused, under heavy pressure, to order the blackout lifted.

Fans from the New York area were booking reservations in motels and taverns in the area outside the blackout. Some 5,500 fans were expected to see a closed circuit telecast in the New Haven Arena, where the league and network lost a move to stop the show.

Green Bay romped through the Western Conference with 10 straight victories before it came a cropper in Detroit Thanksgiving Day. The Packers wound up with a 13-1 record. The Giants won their last nine for a 12-2 record, bowing only to Cleveland in the opener and Pittsburgh in their fifth game.

Heintz To Referee Packers-Giants Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Emil Heintz will referee Sunday's National Football League title game between the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants at Yankee Stadium.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle named Heintz Friday and also announced that Joseph Connell would be the umpire, George Murphy the head linesman, Thomas Kelleher the back judge and Fred Swearingen the field judge.

Beaver Local Matmen 2nd In Tourney

Beaver Local relinquished the championship of the North Canton Holiday Wrestling Tournament Friday in finishing second in a field of eight teams.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's grapplers concluded a two-year reign as champion. The Beavers compiled 50 points to trail Stow of the Kent area, the winner with 90.

Following in order were Massillon, 47 points; Louisville 44, Canton Timken 35, North Canton 34, Southeast 24 and Marlington 12.

Jim Obney (103) and Les McKenzie (127) of Beaver Local returned home with individual trophies representing first places.

Gary Bookman won a second place, beaten 1-0 by Kruse of Southeast who performed in the state tournament last year. The loss was Bookman's first of the season.

Keith Berger (175) finished third. Finishing fourth were Bill Tychonievich (120), Mike Fisher (133), and Bill Grimes (165).

The Beavers also placed second in their own wrestling tournament this year. However, O'Rourke's squad is unbeaten in dual competition with a 4-0 record.

The Beavers host Weirton Thursday night at 7:30 and East Liverpool Saturday night at 7:30.

Ohio Man Elected

CHICAGO (AP)—Erwin C. Zep director of the Ohio Historical Society, has been named secretary of the U.S. Grant Association, succeeding the late Ohio author-historian, Robert S. Harper. The appointment came during the annual American Historical Association meeting.

Smart Deb, bred by Russell L. Reineman and racing in the colors of Mrs. Reineman, is the first stakes winner for the sire Dedicate.

Sentenced To Death

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Death in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair is scheduled April 22 for James Mike Gilkerson, 41, of Dayton. A panel of three common pleas court judges so decreed Friday. They passed sentence on Gilkerson, whom they convicted last July 21 of fatally shooting his wife on Dec. 3, 1961. The long delay was due to legal maneuvering.

U.S. Share Of Cuba Prisoner Ransom May Be $20 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Through tax loss, the U.S. government's share of paying the Cuban prisoners ransom could reach $20 million.

Mitchell Rogovin of the Internal Revenue Service, in an interview Friday, cited that sum — spread over three years — as the highest possible loss to the U.S. Treasury from the deal that sent millions of dollars of food, drugs, and other supplies to Fidel Castro's Cuba in exchange for the 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners.

But Rogovin said he thought the tax loss could be less than $20 million. He stressed that it could be considered a tax loss only in the sense that the U.S. government always loses revenue through income tax deductions after some drive for charity.

Rogovin is counsel to the commissioner of Internal Revenue. He was a member of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's four-man team that helped manage the government's part in the deal that freed the prisoners.

Here is how Rogovin figures the possible tax loss:

Although the goods had a value in Havana of $53 million, Rogovin said, their actual wholesale value in the United States, before packing and transportation costs, would be no more than $40 million.

Companies may deduct the wholesale value of the contributed goods as part of their allowed 5 per cent deduction for charity. If a company uses up its 5 per cent deduction this year, it can deduct its contributions as part of its 5 per cent deduction in 1963 or 1964.

Therefore, the $40 million contribution to the ransom means the government has $40 million less income to tax, provided:

1. You assume the companies would have sold the $40 million worth of goods if they had not contributed it, and

2. You assume the companies will be able to list the contributions within their 5 per cent deductions for 1962, 1963, or 1964.

The corporate income tax is 52 per cent. If the government has $40 million less income to tax, it loses about $20 million in tax revenue.

The average home contains 20 to 25 electric motors.

'Jake The Barber' Declares 'I Did Not Buy My Pardon'

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's American reported Friday John Jake the Barber Factor declared in an interview, "I did not buy my pardon."

After talking with Factor by telephone to his Beverly Hills, Calif., home, Harry Romanoff and George Murray reported Factor told them, "the records will show that my pardon was open and above-board."

The story said Factor, who was granted a presidential pardon Christmas Eve, related he would have given Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy $1 million in cash had the attorney general or any of the committee raising money to release Cuban prisoners asked him.

"It would have been worth it," Factor was quoted as saying. "But I was not approached."

Asked about demands by William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, that President Kennedy assure the public Factor's pardon was in no way connected with Factor's and his wife's contributing more than $20,000 to the Democratic party, Factor said, "what is coming now is political propaganda. It is not correct."

Factor said the attorney general investigated details of his pardon application for two years. That the pardon was granted a week after Los Angeles immigration officials launched deportation proceedings against him had nothing to do with the presidential decision, Factor said.

"Isn't it usual for pardons to be given as a Christmas gift or on New Year's?" he asked.

Deportation proceedings were based on Factor's 1943 conviction for mail fraud. The pardon torpedoed those proceedings.

Factor charged in 1933 that prohibition beer baron Roger Touhy kidnaped him. Touhy was convicted, served 25 of a 99-year sentence, was released in 1959 and, a few days after his release, was gunned down on the steps of his Chicago apartment.

Ohioan, World's Champion Liar, Hasn't Been Found Yet

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP) — A new World Champion Liar has been selected but efforts to find him have failed, and this being the kind of a contest it is that shouldn't be surprising.

The Burlington Liars Club, guardian of the annual competition, said Friday that Walter Lewis of Williamsport, Ohio, is the 1962 champion.

Searching discovered that Lewis lives in a remote area near remote Williamsport and doesn't have a telephone at his remote residence. A newsman and a photographer of the Circleville (Ohio) Herald were sent out to find him Friday night. They planned to try again today.

But some of Lewis' neighbors were not so remote. Lewis was described by one as a "town character." Another said he's "an older fella who's a 'professional rester.'"

Possibly while being professional, Lewis formulated his champion lie—a testament to Herculean strength, a dry well and a bird. He said in 26 words:

"The weather was so dry that when my canary bird wanted a drink, I had to pull up the well and run it through a wringer."

More words won an honorable mention for Harry L. Owen of Niles, Mich.

"A friend of mine whom I was visiting bragged and bragged about his very good eyesight. I explained that my eyes are none to good but that my hearing is very keen. To substantiate his claims, he asked me if I could see a church steeple located in the distance. My answer was 'yes.' He then wanted to know if I could see the fly walking on the steeple. I told him I could not see the fly, but that I could hear its footsteps."

Cincinnati Riverfront Work Due In 1963

CINCINNATI (AP) — Work on Cincinnati's downtown riverfront apartment project may start sometime in 1963, builder Ralph Bush of Norfolk, Va., said today.

The five apartment towers, to cost an estimated $25 million, will be financed partly by a Federal Housing & Home Finance Agency loan, Bush said, and added that "If there are no prolonged court cases based on condemnation proceedings, we might be able to start basic work on my end of the project before end of next year."

'63 Steel Output Seen Well Below 1955-57 Records

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thomas F. Patton, president of Republic Steel Corp., says demand for steel may show a slight improvement next year but that production will continue to run "well below the record levels of 1955-57."

In a year-end statement on prospects in the industry, Patton said 1962 steel production will total about 98 million tons across the nation. "We anticipate that this will increase to about 100 million tons in 1963."

He predicted that seasonal factors "plus the flattening out of the total economic picture may produce some softness in the first quarter. We expect that this will be followed by a rise in the second quarter, and a downturn in the third quarter.

"With improvement in the general business situation, a rising trend should develop in the fourth quarter and carry on into 1964."

Patton said that although steel production will reflect activity in the overall economy, "we must recognize . . . that the steel industry today is different in many respects from what it was just a few years ago, and so is the economy it is serving."

Maloon Will Direct Study In Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's outgoing finance director, James H. Maloon, will direct a study of management problems in the field of higher education, his office has announced.

It will be sponsored by the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities and Allied Institutions, the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, and the State Universities Association, the announcement said. Project offices will be in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said he planned to talk with Maloon Saturday in the hope of getting him to continue as state finance director until the DiSalle administration leaves office Jan. 14. Maloon resigned effective last Wednesday.

Cincinnati Fireman Has Nose That Knows

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fireman George Weller has a nose that knows.

While making a routine inspection Friday at the First National Bank building, he smelled smoke.

Following his nose, Weller soon found the source of the smoke and turned in an alarm.

Reinforcements—eight trucks of equipment and 40 men led by Marshal Walter Zimmer—plunged into the downtown traffic, but by the time they arrived, Weller had the situation well in hand.

It was a smoldering fluorescent light fixture in a law office whose occupants admitted they'd been smelling smoke all day but didn't know where it was coming from.

Damage was described as trifling.

Here is how Rogovin figures the possible tax loss:

Although the goods had a value in Havana of $53 million, Rogovin said, their actual wholesale value in the United States, before packing and transportation costs, would be no more than $40 million.

Companies may deduct the wholesale value of the contributed goods as part of their allowed 5 per cent deduction for charity. If a company uses up its 5 per cent deduction this year, it can deduct its contributions as part of its 5 per cent deduction in 1963 or 1964.

Therefore, the $40 million contribution to the ransom means the government has $40 million less income to tax, provided:

1. You assume the companies would have sold the $40 million worth of goods if they had not contributed it, and

2. You assume the companies will be able to list the contributions within their 5 per cent deductions for 1962, 1963, or 1964.

The corporate income tax is 52 per cent. If the government has $40 million less income to tax, it loses about $20 million in tax revenue.

The average home contains 20 to 25 electric motors.

'Jake The Barber' Declares 'I Did Not Buy My Pardon'

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's American reported Friday John Jake the Barber Factor declared in an interview, "I did not buy my pardon."

After talking with Factor by telephone to his Beverly Hills, Calif., home, Harry Romanoff and George Murray reported Factor told them, "the records will show that my pardon was open and above-board."

The story said Factor, who was granted a presidential pardon Christmas Eve, related he would have given Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy $1 million in cash had the attorney general or any of the committee raising money to release Cuban prisoners asked him.

"It would have been worth it," Factor was quoted as saying. "But I was not approached."

Asked about demands by William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, that President Kennedy assure the public Factor's pardon was in no way connected with Factor's and his wife's contributing more than $20,000 to the Democratic party, Factor said, "what is coming now is political propaganda. It is not correct."

Factor said the attorney general investigated details of his pardon application for two years. That the pardon was granted a week after Los Angeles immigration officials launched deportation proceedings against him had nothing to do with the presidential decision, Factor said.

"Isn't it usual for pardons to be given as a Christmas gift or on New Year's?" he asked.

Deportation proceedings were based on Factor's 1943 conviction for mail fraud. The pardon torpedoed those proceedings.

Factor charged in 1933 that prohibition beer baron Roger Touhy kidnaped him. Touhy was convicted, served 25 of a 99-year sentence, was released in 1959 and, a few days after his release, was gunned down on the steps of his Chicago apartment.

Ohioan, World's Champion Liar, Hasn't Been Found Yet

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP) — A new World Champion Liar has been selected but efforts to find him have failed, and this being the kind of a contest it is that shouldn't be surprising.

The Burlington Liars Club, guardian of the annual competition, said Friday that Walter Lewis of Williamsport, Ohio, is the 1962 champion.

Searching discovered that Lewis lives in a remote area near remote Williamsport and doesn't have a telephone at his remote residence. A newsman and a photographer of the Circleville (Ohio) Herald were sent out to find him Friday night. They planned to try again today.

But some of Lewis' neighbors were not so remote. Lewis was described by one as a "town character." Another said he's "an older fella who's a 'professional rester.'"

Possibly while being professional, Lewis formulated his champion lie—a testament to Herculean strength, a dry well and a bird. He said in 26 words:

"The weather was so dry that when my canary bird wanted a drink, I had to pull up the well and run it through a wringer."

More words won an honorable mention for Harry L. Owen of Niles, Mich.

"A friend of mine whom I was visiting bragged and bragged about his very good eyesight. I explained that my eyes are none to good but that my hearing is very keen. To substantiate his claims, he asked me if I could see a church steeple located in the distance. My answer was 'yes.' He then wanted to know if I could see the fly walking on the steeple. I told him I could not see the fly, but that I could hear its footsteps."

Cincinnati Riverfront Work Due In 1963

CINCINNATI (AP) — Work on Cincinnati's downtown riverfront apartment project may start sometime in 1963, builder Ralph Bush of Norfolk, Va., said today.

The five apartment towers, to cost an estimated $25 million, will be financed partly by a Federal Housing & Home Finance Agency loan, Bush said, and added that "If there are no prolonged court cases based on condemnation proceedings, we might be able to start basic work on my end of the project before end of next year."

'63 Steel Output Seen Well Below 1955-57 Records

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thomas F. Patton, president of Republic Steel Corp., says demand for steel may show a slight improvement next year but that production will continue to run "well below the record levels of 1955-57."

In a year-end statement on prospects in the industry, Patton said 1962 steel production will total about 98 million tons across the nation. "We anticipate that this will increase to about 100 million tons in 1963."

He predicted that seasonal factors "plus the flattening out of the total economic picture may produce some softness in the first quarter. We expect that this will be followed by a rise in the second quarter, and a downturn in the third quarter.

"With improvement in the general business situation, a rising trend should develop in the fourth quarter and carry on into 1964."

Patton said that although steel production will reflect activity in the overall economy, "we must recognize . . . that the steel industry today is different in many respects from what it was just a few years ago, and so is the economy it is serving."

Maloon Will Direct Study In Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's outgoing finance director, James H. Maloon, will direct a study of management problems in the field of higher education, his office has announced.

It will be sponsored by the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities and Allied Institutions, the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, and the State Universities Association, the announcement said. Project offices will be in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said he planned to talk with Maloon Saturday in the hope of getting him to continue as state finance director until the DiSalle administration leaves office Jan. 14. Maloon resigned effective last Wednesday.

Cincinnati Fireman Has Nose That Knows

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fireman George Weller has a nose that knows.

While making a routine inspection Friday at the First National Bank building, he smelled smoke.

Following his nose, Weller soon found the source of the smoke and turned in an alarm.

Reinforcements—eight trucks of equipment and 40 men led by Marshal Walter Zimmer—plunged into the downtown traffic, but by the time they arrived, Weller had the situation well in hand.

It was a smoldering fluorescent light fixture in a law office whose occupants admitted they'd been smelling smoke all day but didn't know where it was coming from.

Damage was described as trifling.

Junior Editors Quiz on HORSES

QUESTION: Please tell us about the other members of the horse family.

ANSWER: It is said that the only true wild horses left on earth are two types of the ancient wild horse called the tarpan. Picture 1 shows one kind, extinct since 1800. Horse breeders, however, by mating animals which resemble the tarpan type, have succeeded in producing horses just like the extinct kind. Przewalski's horse (2) used to run wild in central Asia, but now the only living specimens are in zoos. The tarpans resemble our domestic horse (3) more than two other groups of horse relatives, the zebras and the donkeys. The beautiful striped zebras (4) are wild, fast and very difficult to tame. The striped pattern makes the animal hard to see at a distance. The quagga (5) was a partly striped zebra which is now extinct, but the bontequagga, with stripes on body and legs, lives in herds on the African plains. The donkey (6) is a small domesticated form of the wild ass of northern Africa (7). Mated with a pony, a zebra mother recently produced a remarkable foal, called a "zeony." (9). Now meet the star of our show, Lolita, half zebra, half donkey (9). Born only a few months ago, little Lolita is the only "zebronky" in the world!

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean a common-brick fireplace that is discolored by smoke?

A. Usually very effective for this is ordinary household ammonia. A mild washing - powder solution will remove accumulated dirt and dust. Wash off with clear water. If the brickwork is old and porous, it will of course absorb considerable water and will take quite a bit of time for drying.

Q. What can I do, when re-stringing beads, if the holes in the beads are too small for a needle to pass through?

A. Discard the needle and rub a little glue on the end of the thread. When this is dry (which takes only a few minutes), it will be hard and stiff, and you can then proceed with your stringing.

Q. How can I remove shine from suits and skirts?

A. By brushing with a small brush dipped into a mixture of equal parts of pure cold vinegar and warm water. Put a pressing cloth between your iron and the garment to prevent further shine.

Q. Have you any suggestions for making draperies hang more evenly and thus look neater and nicer?

A. Your draperies will hang more uniformly and their weight will be better distributed if a three-inch strip of cloth is sewed across the back of the drapery near the top edge — to take a curtain rod.

Q. How can I cope with a kitchen drain that has become stopped up with grease?

A. Often you can melt this grease by holding an electric iron, turned to its hottest point, against the drainpipe at the trap. Then allow the hot water faucet to run for several minutes.

Q. How can I remove some grease spots from wallpaper?

A. Apply a paste of fuller's earth and water, allow to remain overnight, then brush lightly off in the morning.

Soviet Pays N.Y. Community Back Taxes On Estate

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet government has paid more than $23,000 in back taxes owed this Long Island community rather than face loss of the lush estate it owns here.

Mayor Joseph Reilly of Glen Cove picked up two checks drawn on Chase Manhattan Bank and totaling $23,132.96 in payment of back taxes on the sprawling estate known as Killenworth.

Reilly said he picked up the checks at the United Nations Mission headquarters, where an American diplomat said the Soviets made the payment under protest.

Several months ago the community put up for auction the 1960 tax liens against the estate, which the Russians use as a retreat for their U.N. delegation.

There were no bidders on the liens and the community bought them back. The Soviet government argued that because the estate is used by U.N. delegates, it is immune to local taxes.

Glen Cove officials contended the estate is not used as a main residence for the Soviet U.N. delegation and as such is not immune to taxation.

New Year Fireworks Discouraged In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Police on both sides of the Communist wall are trying to discourage the old German custom of blazing away with fireworks on New Year's Eve.

Exploding firecrackers sound like gunfire and could be mistaken for the flareup of a border incident; rocket bursts look like flares that the East Germans fire when escape attempts are made.

So the East Germans have banned fireworks anywhere within about 100 yards of the wall. The West Berlin police have barred fireworks anywhere.

But they made the same rules last year, and firecrackers were banging and rockets were bursting all over the city.

$57,555 In Estate

NEW CUMBERLAND — The estate of the late Walter M. Brostman of Weirton amounted to $57,555, according to records filed in the Hancock County Courthouse. It included $56,250 in real estate.

Reaps $500,000 Yearly

Seattle's Mayor, Council Differ On Gambling Issue

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Policy under which Seattle tolerates gambling devices and reaps $500,000 a year in license fees will end on New Year's day if Mayor Gordon Clinton has his way. The City Council has other ideas.

Under the policy, initiated in 1947, the city licenses pinball machines, punchboards, card games and other such devices. But state law makes gambling a felony and the state Constitution outlaws lotteries, which the courts have held to include all gambling.

Clinton, an ex-FBI agent and long-time scoutmaster, contends the city should comply with the law, and has ordered all gambling stopped at 8 a.m. New Year's Day.

The City Council has voted 6-2 to keep the tolerance policy in force until March 15 in the hope the legislature will have done something by then to get the city off the hook. The legislature convenes Jan. 14.

Police Chief Frank Ramon, who takes his orders from Clinton, says a 30-man squad will start a four-day crackdown on New Year's morning. He says anyone caught operating or participating in a game of chance will be hauled off to jail, booked and allowed to post bond ranging from $250 to $300. Not even church and fraternity bingo games will be exempt.

Meanwhile, the city continues to issue licenses, in accordance with the council's decision.

Most tavern operators contacted in a spot check said they planned to renew their pinball licenses in the hope they would be permitted to continue operating the machines.

Theoretically, the pinball machines are for amusement only, with the player getting additional games free if he wins. The practice, however, is to pay off in cash.

Money limits are prescribed for card rooms, but critics of the tolerance policy say they are not observed.

Ramon says any machines on which payoffs are being made will be seized when the crackdown goes into effect.

The City Council's ordinance ending tolerance on March 15 also provides for an end to pinball payoffs. Noting that the pinballs aren't supposed to pay off anyway, one letter-to-the-editor writer suggested this title:

"An ordinance for amusement only, providing for the operation of pinball machines for amusement only."

Challenge For New Legislature

Ohio's Financial Status Described As Serious One

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With all the talk about money and the need for more of it to meet the state's program commitments for the next two years, one stark fact cannot be ignored: Right now the state doesn't have any.

The state government has been leading a hand-to-mouth existence for many months.

It has been stalling off creditor John to pay creditor Joe as well as robbing Peter to pay Paul.

Finance Director James H. Maloon has managed the treasury's available cash carefully so that there have been no payless paydays and most of the state's big obligations have been met with reasonable promptness. But it has been touch-and-go all the way.

Exactly where the state stands financially as the administration of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle prepares to give way to that of Republican Gov.-Elect James A. Rhodes has been a matter of debate.

Republican estimates of how far the state will be in the hole by the time the two-year budget period ends next June 30 have ranged as high as $60 million.

Maloon doesn't agree at all. By the end of the budget period, he predicts, the state will have the money to pay all back bills and will have only the problem of finding $13 to $15 million to clear up its welfare obligations for the bookkeeping year. Most of the deficiency, he says, will be in money to match local poor relief spending.

In whatever financial shape the state emerges from the budget year, the pinch for ready cash is almost certain to continue for many months.

In any change of state administration, numerous personnel changes are made, but generally for political rather than economy reasons. This time, however, economy-minded leaders of the Republican-controlled 105th General Assembly probably would welcome a sizeable reduction in the state payroll to provide a financial breathing spell.

Could state subsidies be cut—things like school aid and assistance for the aged, the blind and the disabled? It isn't likely because of the certain storms of protest.

New or increased taxes? Some members of the new administration and legislature might agree, reluctantly, but others apparently will resist to the bitter end.

The struggle over the tax issue could be one of the interesting developments of the legislative session which opens Jan. 7.

DiSalle found the state treasury about $13 million in the red when he took over four years ago. He pushed a new-tax program through the legislature—and the voters never let him forget it. Republicans took over the General Assembly two years later and he was soundly beaten in his bid for re-election last month.

What course of action Rhodes will take in a similar financial situation remains, of course, to be seen.

Rhodes has directed a study of the state's financial situation by two independent accounting firms to determine the state's actual financial position.

Just who will understand the accountants' analysis when it finally is reached is anybody's guess.

Almost anything you can talk about these days costs money.

And the big question which is shaping up for Ohio and the rest of the nation seems to be this: How will the relatively small generation born in the depression days of the thirties pay for the needs of those born in the baby boom since World War II?

"To burn the candle at both ends" is an English phrase that has been familiar since the 17th century.

Host Of Gifts Due For First Baby Of 1963

A host of gifts will be showered upon the first baby born in 1963 in the East Liverpool area.

The presents are waiting for the first youngster born after the stroke of midnight Monday whose parents reside in East Liverpool, Chester, Newell, Wellsville, Midland or any other part of The Review's trading area.

Both the baby and the parents will share in the gifts, donated by East Liverpool area businessmen in a "contest" that has become a New Year's tradition.

The rules provide that the parents must reside in East Liverpool, Chester, Newell, Wellsville, Midland or some part of the newspaper trading area.

Statements on the birth of contenders for the "first baby" awards must be at The Review office not later than Wednesday.

A statement from the attending physician must show the date, hour and minute of the baby's arrival. In case of a tie, the prizes will be divided.

The prizes will include a crib; a 60-day supply of milk; orchids for both mother and baby; three $5 gift certificates; a pair of shoes; a set of scales; a case of baby food; a $10 savings account in the youngster's name, and a six-month subscription to The Review for the parents.

Clevelanders Facing 5th Week Without Papers

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland readers were headed for their fifth straight week without a Sunday paper, with the strike against the city's two daily newspapers in its 30th day today.

Negotiators for the morning Plain Dealer and Scripps-Howard's afternoon Cleveland Press and News planned separate bargaining sessions today with the striking Teamsters union and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild.

The strike by the Guild, which bargains for 688 employes at both papers, including 278 at the commercial department of the Press, was highlighted Friday by a public airing of respective positions on a key union security issue by both sides.

The Teamsters Union, which represents 455 delivery drivers at the two papers, is seeking better working conditions, particularly at the Plain Dealer. Both unions also are negotiating for higher wages.

The strike, which started with the walkout of drivers on Nov. 29, has idled about 3,000 employes in the longest strike in Cleveland newspaper history.

To Open Terminal

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Midwest-Emery Freight System, Inc. the nation's largest haulers of perishables, plans to open a terminal here after the first of the year. It will replace one now at Erie, Pa. The company, which has more than 40 terminals, has headquarters in Chicago.

Rogers Light To Be Bought

ROGERS — Purchase of a flasher light for Marshal Keith Cope's car was authorized at a special meeting of Rogers Council Friday night.

The 12-volt device will cost about $50 but firemen were authorized to buy the old, 6-volt flasher. Bond for Marshal Cope, who has served for two months, also was discussed but no action was taken.

Mayor Robert McCreary discussed plans for a new traffic light for the Public Square intersection of Routes 7 and 154. He was to go to Ravenna today to purchase the light from the C. H. Frank Co.

The new light will be installed in the south lane and the present light will be transferred to the north lane for Route 7.

Yearend business was transacted and bills totaling about $400 were ordered paid. Present were Glenn Rhodes, president; Councilmen William Crawford, Kenneth Ours, Wallace Swaney and Glenn Baker and Albert Starkey, street commissioner, and Mrs. Maine Hall, clerk.

Next meeting is Jan. 7 at 7 p.m.

Killed In Wreck

KENTON, Ohio (AP)—Jack Edward Hinkle's auto ran off U.S. 30S about 10 miles west of here Friday and the Ada man, 27, was killed.

CD Director To Quit Over Blue Laws Issue

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Paul Malarky, Wooster civil defense director, says he is resigning because he feels he has "become an embarrassment to city hall personnel over the enforcement of the Sunday blue laws."

Malarky, his wife, Germaine and Max Varian were involved in recent legal action over Sunday sales at two Dairy Isle stores here. The official said the incident resulted in "a conflict of interest between Wayne County officials and the Dairy Isles, which I own."

Malarky has held the $2,400-a-year post of civil defense director since 1946, except for two years when he was on military duty in Korea.

His resignation is effective Jan. 15.

Soviet Pays N.Y. Community Back Taxes On Estate

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet government has paid more than $23,000 in back taxes owed this Long Island community rather than face loss of the lush estate it owns here.

Mayor Joseph Reilly of Glen Cove picked up two checks drawn on Chase Manhattan Bank and totaling $23,132.96 in payment of back taxes on the sprawling estate known as Killenworth.

Reilly said he picked up the checks at the United Nations Mission headquarters, where an American diplomat said the Soviets made the payment under protest.

Several months ago the community put up for auction the 1960 tax liens against the estate, which the Russians use as a retreat for their U.N. delegation.

There were no bidders on the liens and the community bought them back. The Soviet government argued that because the estate is used by U.N. delegates, it is immune to local taxes.

Glen Cove officials contended the estate is not used as a main residence for the Soviet U.N. delegation and as such is not immune to taxation.

New Year Fireworks Discouraged In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Police on both sides of the Communist wall are trying to discourage the old German custom of blazing away with fireworks on New Year's Eve.

Exploding firecrackers sound like gunfire and could be mistaken for the flareup of a border incident; rocket bursts look like flares that the East Germans fire when escape attempts are made.

So the East Germans have banned fireworks anywhere within about 100 yards of the wall. The West Berlin police have barred fireworks anywhere.

But they made the same rules last year, and firecrackers were banging and rockets were bursting all over the city.

$57,555 In Estate

NEW CUMBERLAND — The estate of the late Walter M. Brostman of Weirton amounted to $57,555, according to records filed in the Hancock County Courthouse. It included $56,250 in real estate.

Reaps $500,000 Yearly

Seattle's Mayor, Council Differ On Gambling Issue

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Policy under which Seattle tolerates gambling devices and reaps $500-000 a year in license fees will end on New Year's day if Mayor Gordon Clinton has his way. The City Council has other ideas.

Under the policy, initiated in 1947, the city licenses pinball machines, punchboards, card games and other such devices. But state law makes gambling a felony and the state Constitution outlaws lotteries, which the courts have held to include all gambling.

Clinton, an ex-FBI agent and long-time scoutmaster, contends the city should comply with the law, and has ordered all gambling stopped at 8 a.m. New Year's Day.

The City Council has voted 6-2 to keep the tolerance policy in force until March 15 in the hope the legislature will have done something by then to get the city off the hook. The legislature convenes Jan. 14.

Police Chief Frank Ramon, who takes his orders from Clinton, says a 30-man squad will start a four - day crackdown on New Year's morning. He says anyone caught operating or participating in a game of chance will be hauled off to jail, booked and allowed to post bond ranging from $250 to $300. Not even church and fraternity bingo games will be exempt.

Meanwhile, the city continues to issue licenses, in accordance with the council's decision.

Most tavern operators contacted in a spot check said they planned to renew their pinball licenses in the hope they would be permitted to continue operating the machines.

Theoretically, the pinball machines are for amusement only, with the player getting additional games free if he wins. The practice, however, is to pay off in cash.

Money limits are prescribed for card rooms, but critics of the tolerance policy say they are not observed.

Ramon says any machines on which payoffs are being made will be seized when the crackdown goes into effect.

The City Council's ordinance ending tolerance on March 15 also provides for an end to pinball payoffs. Noting that the pinballs aren't supposed to pay off anyway, one letter-to-the-editor writer suggested this title:

"An ordinance for amusement only, providing for the operation of pinball machines for amusement only."

Challenge For New Legislature

Ohio's Financial Status Described As Serious One

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With all the talk about money and the need for more of it to meet the state's program commitments for the next two years, one stark fact cannot be ignored: Right now the state doesn't have any.

The state government has been leading a hand-to-mouth existence for many months.

It has been stalling off creditor John to pay creditor Joe as well as robbing Peter to pay Paul.

Finance Director James H. Maloon has managed the treasury's available cash carefully so that there have been no payless paydays and most of the state's big obligations have been met with reasonable promptness. But it has been touch-and-go all the way.

Exactly where the state stands financially as the administration of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle prepares to give way to that of Republican Gov.-Elect James A. Rhodes has been a matter of debate.

Republican estimates of how far the state will be in the hole by the time the two-year budget period ends next June 30 have ranged as high as $60 million.

Maloon doesn't agree at all. By the end of the budget period, he predicts, the state will have the money to pay all back bills and will have only the problem of finding $13 to $15 million to clear up its welfare obligations for the bookkeeping year. Most of the deficiency, he says, will be in money to match local poor relief spending.

In whatever financial shape the state emerges from the budget year, the pinch for ready cash is almost certain to continue for many months.

In any change of state administration, numerous personnel changes are made, but generally for political rather than economy reasons. This time, however, economy-minded leaders of the Republican-controlled 105th General Assembly probably would welcome a sizeable reduction in the state payroll to provide a financial breathing spell.

Could state subsidies be cut—things like school aid and assistance for the aged, the blind and the disabled? It isn't likely because of the certain storms of protest.

New or increased taxes? Some members of the new administration and legislature might agree, reluctantly, but others apparently will resist to the bitter end.

The struggle over the tax issue could be one of the interesting developments of the legislative session which opens Jan. 7.

DiSalle found the state treasury about $13 million in the red when he took over four years ago. He pushed a new-tax program through the legislature—and the voters never let him forget it. Republicans took over the General Assembly two years later and he was soundly beaten in his bid for re-election last month.

What course of action Rhodes will take in a similar financial situation remains, of course, to be seen.

Rhodes has directed a study of the state's financial situation by two independent accounting firms to determine the state's actual financial position.

Just who will understand the accountants' analysis when it finally is reached is anybody's guess.

Such are the problems, the challenges and choices of Ohio 1963.

Almost anything you can talk about these days costs money.

And the big question which is shaping up for Ohio and the rest of the nation seems to be this: How will the relatively small generation born in the depression days of the thirties pay for the needs of those born in the baby boom since World War II?

"To burn the candle at both ends" is an English phrase that has been familiar since the 17th century.

Host Of Gifts Due For First Baby Of 1963

A host of gifts will be showered upon the first baby born in 1963 in the East Liverpool area.

The presents are waiting for the first youngster born after the stroke of midnight Monday whose parents reside in East Liverpool, Chester, Newell, Wellsville, Midland or any other part of The Review's trading area.

Both the baby and the parents will share in the gifts, donated by East Liverpool area businessmen in a "contest" that has become a New Year's tradition.

The rules provide that the parents must reside in East Liverpool, Chester, Newell, Wellsville, Midland or some part of the newspaper trading area.

Statements on the birth of contenders for the "first baby" awards must be at The Review office not later than Wednesday.

A statement from the attending physician must show the date, hour and minute of the baby's arrival. In case of a tie, the prizes will be divided.

The prizes will include a crib; a 60-day supply of milk; orchids for both mother and baby; three $5 gift certificates; a pair of shoes; a set of scales; a case of baby food; a $10 savings account in the youngster's name, and a six-month subscription to The Review for the parents.

Clevelanders Facing 5th Week Without Papers

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland readers were headed for their fifth straight week without a Sunday paper, with the strike against the city's two daily newspapers in its 30th day today.

Negotiators for the morning Plain Dealer and Scripps-Howard's afternoon Cleveland Press and News planned separate bargaining sessions today with the striking Teamsters union and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild.

The strike by the Guild, which bargains for 688 employes at both papers, including 278 at the commercial department of the Press, was highlighted Friday by a public airing of respective positions on a key union security issue by both sides.

The Teamsters Union, which represents 455 delivery drivers at the two papers, is seeking better working conditions, particularly at the Plain Dealer. Both unions also are negotiating for higher wages.

The strike, which started with the walkout of drivers on Nov. 29, has idled about 3,000 employes in the longest strike in Cleveland newspaper history.

To Open Terminal

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Midwest-Emery Freight System, Inc. the nation's largest haulers of perishables, plans to open a terminal here after the first of the year. It will replace one now at Erie, Pa. The company, which has more than 40 terminals, has headquarters in Chicago.

Rogers Light To Be Bought

ROGERS — Purchase of a flasher light for Marshal Keith Cope's car was authorized at a special meeting of Rogers Council Friday night.

The 12-volt device will cost about $50 but firemen were authorized to buy the old, 6-volt flasher. Bond for Marshal Cope, who has served for two months, also was discussed but no action was taken.

Mayor Robert McCreary discussed plans for a new traffic light for the Public Square intersection of Routes 7 and 154. He was to go to Ravenna today to purchase the light from the C. H. Frank Co.

The new light will be installed in the south lane and the present light will be transferred to the north lane for Route 7.

Yearend business was transacted and bills totaling about $400 were ordered paid. Present were Glenn Rhodes, president; Councilmen William Crawford, Kenneth Ours, Wallace Swaney and Glenn Baker and Albert Starkey, street commissioner, and Mrs. Maine Hall, clerk.

Next meeting is Jan. 7 at 7 p.m.

Killed In Wreck

KENTON, Ohio (AP)—Jack Edward Hinkle's auto ran off U.S. 30S about 10 miles west of here Friday and the Ada man, 27, was killed.

CD Director To Quit Over Blue Laws Issue

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Paul Malarky, Wooster civil defense director, says he is resigning because he feels he has "become an embarrassment to city hall personnel over the enforcement of the Sunday blue laws."

Malarky, his wife, Germaine and Max Varian were involved in recent legal action over Sunday sales at two Dairy Isle stores here. The official said the incident resulted in "a conflict of interest between Wayne County officials and the Dairy Isles, which I own."

Malarky has held the $2,400-a-year post of civil defense director since 1946, except for two years when he was on military duty in Korea.

His resignation is effective Jan. 15.

Lucille Ball: Busier, Happier,

Success at work is an old story to Lucy—but serenity at home is something new

OUTWARDLY, nothing seems to have changed. When I visited Lucille Ball at Desilu Studios in Hollywood, where she is currently filming "The Lucy Show," she looked, acted, and talked just about the same as she had five years earlier when she finished a six-year run of the highly successful "I Love Lucy"—same orange hair, clear blue eyes, trim figure.

She clowned around on the set with her co-workers, did a hilarious Charlie Chaplin imitation, good-naturedly yelled into the telephone about transferring a call to some other extension, and was as interested in me and my family as she always is about her friends and acquaintances.

Lucy lives in the same house in Beverly Hills, and as she talked about herself there was at first the familiar tenseness in her voice, a withdrawn attitude that made her appear unable or unwilling to concentrate on questions—till she relaxed as we walked into her dressing room for lunch.

She is even surrounded by pretty much the same people who worked with her earlier, except for Desi Arnaz and Bill Frawley. Vivian Vance again plays her girl friend. The writers and much of the crew have stayed with her. So have the all-important audience ratings: once again Lucy is on top of the Nielsen heap.

Yet a lot of things have happened in the five intervening years. She divorced Desi, married comedian Gary Morton, and for one year was so physically run down that her doctor wouldn't allow her to do anything more strenuous than sit in a rocking chair.

HER CHILDREN, Lucie and Desi, Jr., are now 11 and 9 respectively, and as they grow older, Lucy's responsibility as a mother has increased. "I even worry when they go to the drugstore alone. In fact, I won't let them go by themselves!" Lucy said apologetically.

It takes a little while (and you have to know Lucy well) to realize that there has been a change in her—a subtle one, but one that is there nevertheless. And when you mention this new calmness to her, she gives most of the credit to Gary, his eagerness to settle down, and particularly his willingness to accept the responsibility of fatherhood.

"Gary was married before, but he had no children. Believe me, he welcomed the adjustment to them with open arms. I wouldn't even call it an adjustment. The children really dig him. Gary gives them the kind of

New husband Gary Morton has taught Lucy his secret: the ability to relax.

Lucy plans to spend more time with her children, Lucie, 11, and Desi, 9.

In her new film, "Critic's Choice," Lucy trades laughs with Bob Hope.

Quips and Quotes

A little boy came home from school every afternoon complaining that the kids in the neighborhood were picking on him. Disgusted, his father took the lad aside and showed him some boxing tricks. "Next time somebody picks on you," the father concluded, "you let him have it."

The next day, Jimmy raced home, his eyes ablaze with triumph and a wide smile on his face. "Dad, Dad!" he shouted, "I did it! I hit her!"

A young lady walked into the doctor's office and listed her complaints. She finished with: "Doctor, my nerves are so bad I can't smell a thing."

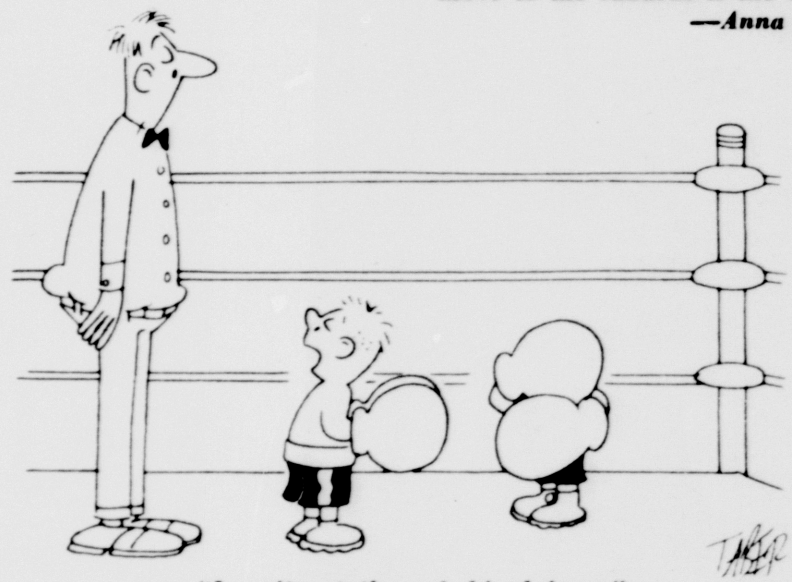

"Hhmmmm, must be olfactory nerves," the doctor murmured.

"Oh, it can't be that," the girl replied. "I work in an office."

"I can't get through his defense."

For weeks the prospective paratroopers had been training for their first jump. "You line up close together," the sergeant repeated again and again, "then you clip the chute hook to the wire above your right shoulder, jump out, yell 'Geronimo,' and hold tight as the parachute opens."

The big day came, and one by one the young men jumped without a mishap. Satisfied with his training prowess, the sergeant closed the plane's exit door and sat down to enjoy a cigarette. Then he heard a thumping at the door. When he opened it, he found one recruit hanging by one hand to a latch.

House Call

My doctor's young and up-to-date;
He doesn't make me sit and wait:
First he pinpoints my neurosis
With a brilliant diagnosis
Then solves the problem just like that
In only 60 minutes flat—
And does it all without a fee
Most any night on my tv!

discipline they have never had before, and they love it. I can be strict—for about 60 seconds. Then the children can wind me around their little fingers. You can depend on the person who disciplines you, because he is always the same way; he's dependable."

There seems to be a genuine affection and understanding between Lucy and Gary. He is a tall, blue-eyed, amiable man who, unlike Desi, has the ability to relax—and make Lucy relax. "With him, a home isn't just a place to change your clothes," Lucy told me. "He loves every room. And I'm contented because someone is doing with me the things he likes to do, and I'm doing with someone what I like to do."

Today Lucy has more time for the children than she ever had before. They relax by the pool, go riding or swimming, have picnics. Gary frequently takes Desi, Jr., along when he plays golf.

A good part of their time together is spent in the garage, which has been turned into a theater by little Lucie and Desi, Jr. "They put on plays and fool around with costumes, make-up, and lighting," Lucy explained. "I recently brought home a sketch we did on the Danny Kaye special. The children wanted me to help put it on, but as usual I told them to call me in to smooth the rough edges after everything was set up. But Gary has been in several of their plays, including a horror mystery that they wrote themselves."

To spend as much time as possible with her family, Lucy has been reluctant to accept too many outside engagements. She has just finished the movie, "Critic's Choice," with Bob Hope, and has done two tv specials, one with Hope, the other with Danny Kaye (for which she was paid the highest price ever given a single performer for this kind of show—$100,000). From now on, she plans to star in one film a year, and is presently discussing the lead in "Mary, Mary" with Warner Brothers.

AS FAR AS financial security goes, Lucy doesn't really need to work. In addition to owning 52 percent of Desilu Productions, one of the world's largest producers of tv programs, she is part owner of a hotel in Palm Springs, has an interest in a road-building machinery firm in Flagstaff, Ariz., and has real-estate holdings in California and Arizona.

Just before she took over the presidency of Desilu, I asked her if being on the board of directors didn't involve a lot of extra work. Lucy quipped: "I'm just a VP—in charge of dusting!" Until then, she had attended board meetings when she was in town but had not taken an active interest in running the company.

All that changed abruptly last month when Desi suddenly resigned as head of the company, and the board of directors decided that Lucy was the logical choice to take over the presidency. Although she agreed to accept responsibility for making the final decisions, she has no intention of personally running the firm in the intensive manner which characterized Desi's term of office.

Lucy is fully aware that her new task will encroach on her time with her family. But friends feel she is calmer and better-adjusted than ever before and thus more capable of coping with whatever problems may come along—personal as well as professional.

I Was a Prisoner OF THE Reds in Laos

Here is the firsthand account of a terrifying cold-war experience which President Kennedy called "a more exacting test of a man's courage than the battlefield"

By Maj. LAWRENCE R. BAILEY, U. S. A.
as told to Jack Ryan

Hospitalized after his grim ordeal as prisoner of the Pathet Lao, Major Bailey receives the Bronze Star from President Kennedy. Daughter Barbara looks on.

EDITORS' NOTE: On July 21, 1962, the Laotian civil war ended with the signing of a peace treaty in Geneva, Switzerland. The treaty included provisions for the release of prisoners held both by the government forces and by the Communist rebels. Several weeks later five Americans were freed by the Communists. Among them was the author of this article, who had been held 17 months—longest of any of the prisoners. Subsequently, he was awarded the Bronze Star medal by President Kennedy for "heroic and meritorious service." It was the first time the Bronze Star had been given for valor in the cold war.

THE DOOR to my prison dungeon opened. Two Communist guards stood outlined in dim light. One trained a rifle on me; the other pushed my daily meal toward me—a handful of rice and a fish, complete with its head.

I peered into the hall behind them, but I had been imprisoned in darkness for weeks and even faint light was harsh on my eyes. Where were the interrogators? I set myself for their usual questions: why were Americans in Laos? what was U. S. policy? did I know SEATO was an agency of imperialism?

Instead, the guards retreated, slamming the door closed; and I was alone again in the dark. Only a thin ray of sunlight beamed through a slit in the sheets of tin covering the windows. I began to realize what the Pathet Lao were trying.

They had threatened execution. That had scared me but not enough to answer questions. So now, I guessed, they were pitting me against a worse enemy than fear—the slow corrosion of solitude.

I found myself leaning forward on my cot, almost hoping to pick up the sounds of approaching interrogators. Silence. I knew that I must find some way to keep my sanity. I must not let darkness, stillness, loneliness eat away at my mind.

My room was about 12 by 15 feet. It probably had been the living room of a French colonial house in the town of Samneva, near the northeastern border of North Vietnam. It had two French doors, covered by the tin, a fireplace, my cot, and a waste bucket. Nothing more except roaches, flies, spiders, and rats rustling in the corners. I didn't know it then, but this would be my world for nearly a year.

The story started about 10:45 on March 23, 1961. It was a bright and cloudless morning, and as assistant military attaché to the U. S. embassy in Vientiane, Laos, I was en route to Vietnam.

Over the drone of the C-47's engines came a sudden pop-pop-pop. I had heard enough antiaircraft fire as an Air Corps pilot in the South Pacific to recognize danger. I looked out the windows. Puffs of white were in the sky now, and flames leaped around the starboard wing.

"We're hit!" I yelled. "Bail out!"

Seven men were aboard the C-47, but only I had a single-unit parachute ready to jump. The others rushed to the rear of the plane for the necessary canopy chutes to add to their rigging. I got out of their way, found the emergency door already open, and flung myself out.

I pulled the rip cord. It wouldn't open. Every muscle and sense concentrated on the loop and metal ring, yet I was dimly aware of chunks of twisting metal floating around me. My body shuddered under some impact, then with a final tug I ripped open the chute.

I came down, swaying back and forth in the harness, with my left arm dangling loosely over my shoulder. It was broken clean, and I could see the hurtling pieces of disintegrating wing that had struck me.

THE BROWN-GREEN grazing land of the Plaines de Jarres, a plateau in the mountainous region of northern Laos, was below me, but I only vaguely recall the descent. Half in shock, I struck with impact enough to stun me. When my head cleared, I was looking at a herd of water buffalo chomping stolidly nearby and, in the distance, an ominous column of sooty smoke.

That would be the plane, and if I could get there quickly enough I might help some survivors. I shucked the parachute and stood up—and fell back in excruciating pain. My left leg twisted under me; apparently a piece of wing had struck me behind the knee.

I lay helpless in a no man's land. Both Laotian and Pathet Lao patrols roamed this region. Which would find me? Obviously the Reds were nearby: they had shot down maker allows the patient to step his pulse up or down, depending on whether he wants to walk, run, or sleep. A radio transmitter is taped to the patient's chest over the spot where the pacemaker is installed. It is connected to a simple battery unit in his pocket, which has dials to increase or decrease the heartbeat.

Russian scientists are using electrical stimulus to solve the problem of insomnia. They report that more than 100,000 patients have been successfully treated by passing low-current electricity from electrodes on the eyes to one at the nape of the neck, thus temporarily blocking sleep-killing brain activity.

These are only a few of the strides medical electronics has made to date. If they seem considerable, the future promise is even greater.

When the New York paraplegic stood for the first time, he pointed the way toward new hope for 250,000 of his co-sufferers. Dr. Kantrowitz believes that it is just a matter of time before more complex motion can be electronically induced. He says it is quite possible that paraplegics may one day carry miniature computers, linked to muscles, that will let them walk, run, and even dance!

Muscle stimulation might also free polio victims from imprisonment in iron lungs. Here, nerves leading to chest-throat muscles are impaired, and the patient is unable to breathe. Rhythmic electrical stimulation promises to reactivate dead breathing muscles as well.

RESEARCHERS have also discovered appetite-control areas of the brain that might be regulated electrically to prevent obesity. Others have located centers of aggressiveness and extreme pleasure in the brain that might be stimulated to prod recalcitrant soldiers at the battlefront or provide instant bliss for the discontented. While it is doubtful this knowledge will ever be put to this kind of use, one Swedish doctor has found evocation of the pleasure sensation extremely effective in easing pain for terminal-cancer patients.

Glands, too, might be prodded electrically. Stimulation of the adrenal cortex, for example, might be used to produce extra hormone for the control of arthritis or low blood pressure.

But more practical work is getting the lion's share of attention. High priority is going to the development of electronic aids for the deaf, mute, and blind. Plans have already been drawn for a compact instrument that will allow the speechless to talk. The "vocal typewriter" will have a keyboard of commonly used words. When the mute punches a key, the device will emit the desired word in vocal form. The mute might have both a 500-word speaker for his living room and a small, 100-word pocket version.

FOR THE BLIND, medical engineers are exploring the possibilities of a similar device that would translate printed words into audible sounds, enabling the blind to "read." An electronic "seeing-eye dog" also is a near reality. The device emits a beam of light that precedes the blind person. When it hits an obstacle or a step, the reflection triggers a warning system.

Doctors also believe that someday the heart will be reproduced mechanically and powered either by an outside battery or by a spring mechanism wound like a clock by the breathing muscles. Scientists at Bell Laboratories have already built a duplicate of the brain cell with transistor components. They know that an electronic copy of the brain is no longer a question of size: "molecular electronics" today offers computer parts the size of molecules, compactness comparable to that of the brain itself.

Clearly, scientists have a long way to go before they can duplicate the exquisite human brain—or build a portable heart. Yet their achievements to date suggest a wide horizon of possibilities ahead.

More than 3,000 doctors and engineers in the U.S. alone are combining their talents to bring these miracles into being. Their efforts point to the dawn of a new era when "inner space" will be as fully explored as outer space.

SARAKA SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY

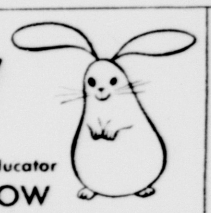

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain-relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

maker allows the patient to step his pulse up or down, depending on whether he wants to walk, run, or sleep. A radio transmitter is taped to the patient's chest over the spot where the pacemaker is installed. It is connected to a simple battery unit in his pocket, which has dials to increase or decrease the heartbeat.

Russian scientists are using electrical stimulus to solve the problem of insomnia. They report that more than 100,000 patients have been successfully treated by passing low-current electricity from electrodes on the eyes to one at the nape of the neck, thus temporarily blocking sleep-killing brain activity.

These are only a few of the strides medical electronics has made to date. If they seem considerable, the future promise is even greater.

When the New York paraplegic stood for the first time, he pointed the way toward new hope for 250,000 of his co-sufferers. Dr. Kantrowitz believes that it is just a matter of time before more complex motion can be electronically induced. He says it is quite possible that paraplegics may one day carry miniature computers, linked to muscles, that will let them walk, run, and even dance!

Muscle stimulation might also free polio victims from imprisonment in iron lungs. Here, nerves leading to chest-throat muscles are impaired, and the patient is unable to breathe. Rhythmic electrical stimulation promises to reactivate dead breathing muscles as well.

RESEARCHERS have also discovered appetite-control areas of the brain that might be regulated electrically to prevent obesity. Others have located centers of aggressiveness and extreme pleasure in the brain that might be stimulated to prod recalcitrant soldiers at the battlefront or provide instant bliss for the discontented. While it is doubtful this knowledge will ever be put to this kind of use, one Swedish doctor has found evocation of the pleasure sensation extremely effective in easing pain for terminal-cancer patients.

Glands, too, might be prodded electrically. Stimulation of the adrenal cortex, for example, might be used to produce extra hormone for the control of arthritis or low blood pressure.

But more practical work is getting the lion's share of attention. High priority is going to the development of electronic aids for the deaf, mute, and blind. Plans have already been drawn for a compact instrument that will allow the speechless to talk. The "vocal typewriter" will have a keyboard of commonly used words. When the mute punches a key, the device will emit the desired word in vocal form. The mute might have both a 500-word speaker for his living room and a small, 100-word pocket version.

FOR THE BLIND, medical engineers are exploring the possibilities of a similar device that would translate printed words into audible sounds, enabling the blind to "read." An electronic "seeing-eye dog" also is a near reality. The device emits a beam of light that precedes the blind person. When it hits an obstacle or a step, the reflection triggers a warning system.

Doctors also believe that someday the heart will be reproduced mechanically and powered either by an outside battery or by a spring mechanism wound like a clock by the breathing muscles. Scientists at Bell Laboratories have already built a duplicate of the brain cell with transistor components. They know that an electronic copy of the brain is no longer a question of size: "molecular electronics" today offers computer parts the size of molecules, compactness comparable to that of the brain itself.

Clearly, scientists have a long way to go before they can duplicate the exquisite human brain—or build a portable heart. Yet their achievements to date suggest a wide horizon of possibilities ahead.

More than 3,000 doctors and engineers in the U.S. alone are combining their talents to bring these miracles into being. Their efforts point to the dawn of a new era when "inner space" will be as fully explored as outer space.

SARAKA SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY

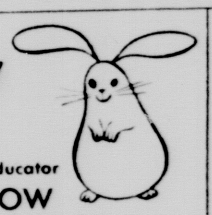

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

our plane. But the smoke might attract friendly forces.

The answer came about two hours later when 20 short, stocky figures approached me, rifles ready, flat-featured Oriental faces studying me intently. Their battle-green fatigues blended with the mountains behind them, but I recognized them as Pathet Lao.

"Hiii!" one shouted, coming forward. He held both hands over his head as an indication of what I should do with mine, so I lifted my right hand and pointed to the crippled left one.

"I can't!" I shouted back. One Communist lifted his rifle and aimed at me. "I can't!" I yelled again. Impassively, he sighted and pulled the trigger.

I burrowed into the ground. My muscles went rigid as if they could resist a slug. But the bullet drummed into the ground beside me, a warning shot. "Can kill! Can kill!" the Pathet Lao called.

"My arm is broken," I shouted back. The rifle leveled at me again, but this time the leader waved the rifleman away and came closer, dark eyes fixed on my arm. When I saw him approach me quickly, I knew I had convinced him I was helpless.

On an improvised stretcher they lugged me through mountainous jungle to a clearing where an English-speaking officer joined us. Revolver in hand, he hovered over me while my head swam with pain and shock. He had my identification papers clutched in his hand.

"You are Major Bailey, a military attaché. Why are you in Laos? By what right? We should kill you. What is American policy here? What do you plan? What was your flight concerned with?"

The revolver wavered at my head, and I wanted to shut my eyes and ears to everything. The questions became insistent, and he gave up only when a Jeep-like vehicle arrived and I was put in back. I was jostled over a rugged path to a tin-roofed hospital deep in the jungle, where a doctor put my arm in a cast. Then teams of interrogators picked up the lone officer's questioning. It went on for a week, then I was flown to my black hole in Samneva, my face covered by a cloth so I could see nothing.

The questioning sessions at Samneva have merged into a dreamlike blur. The Reds' technique was punishment and reward, though, something like we use in training dogs. I vividly remember once when three or four interrogators, a Laotian interpreter, and some guards stood around my cot. When there were no answers to the questions, a guard pulled back the bolt of his rifle and slammed it forward into firing position. He aimed at my skull.

"WE SHOULD execute you . . ." the interpreter began, but all I was aware of was the guard's stubby finger tense over the trigger. I heard the hammer click with unreal sharpness. But there had been no bullet in the chamber. I felt drained, lying in sweat on the thin pads of my cot. "We could execute you. Nobody would know."

And they started again.

Next came rewards. Fish and rice eventually twisted my insides with dysentery. I started getting chills and fever. "We have buffalo meat outside and bananas," the interpreter said. "We are willing to share this with you."

Worst, though, was not knowing what would happen next. The Communists played skillfully on my doubts, implying execution in one session, freedom in the next, then some unnamed torture.

IN JUNE they took the cast off, and I sensed the stalemate had reached another showdown. I pictured myself kneeling with a pistol pressed coldly at my skull and, at happier moments, being taken to the lines and turned loose. I didn't figure on isolation. I suppose that was their ace. I could always escape my black hole, of course. I just had to call the guards and answer questions I knew by rote now.

Over the months, I had trained myself to picture my cell as the living room of our home in Laurel, Md., and I carried on daily conversation with my wife Betty and our three children, Barbara, Larry, and Elaine. While they lasted, these illusions were wonderful, but crashing back to my four walls had an almost physical impact.

The haunting questions would rise again. Does my family know I'm alive? Have I been reported missing—or dead? I knew very well the agony of not knowing, of waiting from day to day, half in hope and half in despair. When guards would bring my food, I would ask to write Betty a letter. If I got any reply, it was: "Tomorrow—maybe."

On Oct. 18, 1961, the guard handed me two pieces of paper with my meal. I snatched them eagerly. They were letters from home. Through the Red Cross, my wife and mother had managed to send form messages. "We thank God you are alive . . . We are well . . . We pray for you." They could write only 25 words. But what wonderful words!

It was important, I knew, that I keep track of time. Lying on my cot I saw how the slit of light through the window would grow stronger until it became a brilliant shaft of blue with dust particles whirling through it. This would be noonday. I pulled a nail from the wall and waited for the light to reach its apex. As soon as it did, I turned to the wall and scratched a mark. Thus I counted days. Ten marks grew to 100, then 200.

During one of the teasing "concession" periods, I inveigled the Reds into giving me a broom. I worried about tuberculosis, malaria, and amoebic dysentery; in fact, I had symptoms of all and was weakening each day, my ribs sticking through the flesh and my arms skeletal. For health purposes, I wanted a clean house.

And by now this cell was "my house." In my mind, I had built partitions. My "bedroom" contained my cot; the "living room" was around my chair; the "washroom" was near the pail. The partitions became solid walls in my mind, and I would walk around them, entering each room by a "door."

The dry season passed into the wet season, and I listened to the torrent of rain; then came the dry season again, and the marks on my plaster wall reached more than 300. My routine settled down, and while I doubt if anybody "conquers" isolation, I learned to come to grips with it. And as I did, the door opened again, and I faced guards with leveled rifles.

"Pie! Pie" they snapped. I knew that meant go. I walked, blinking, into the corridor and out into the night. Old doubts welled up in me. I had outlasted Oriental patience, but in the end they held all the cards and even in minor triumph I could be the loser.

I was led inside a large building which I guessed was the city hall and then into a cell-like room.

FOR DAYS I lived in a sort of limbo, but then came another abrupt visit by my guards, and I was tossed a packet. I tore open the string—45 letters from home! Betty had written every week, but only one terse message from her had been allowed to reach me.

Hopes rose. So did my counting of days. The letters arrived March 22, one day short of a year after my capture. April and May came and went; so did hope and despair. During June and July, treatment improved, but nobody would tell me why. Doubt was the one oppression they never let up on.

On Aug. 24, quite unexpectedly, a civilian was ushered into the cell. He began to talk to me matter-of-factly, as if nothing this past year had happened. "The negotiators in Geneva have reached an agreement for peace in Laos. Soon you will be going home."

I had been a prisoner for 17 months, almost a year of it locked inside a dark hole.

This story was partly prepared in my living room in Laurel, Md., on a brisk, windy day. And a sunny one, too, with warm light falling in big pools on the carpet and Betty doing housework in the kids' room.

The sun still hurts my eyes, and I wear dark glasses during days like this. I was hospitalized for some time, partially because of a bad throat: I guess I talked so much after being silent so long that the unused muscles just gave way. I have some scars from being hit by wing fragments, and I tire easily, but that's temporary.

Worst now is all that I missed: Barbara was married; Larry got his driver's license; Elaine sprouted from child to young woman. I have a lot of catching up to do.

Coming: The Era of Electronic Medicine

Techniques which have revolutionized U.S. industry now offer new hope for solving the most vexing health problems

By LYDIA RATCLIFF

TWO YEARS AGO, a New York boy fell from a sixth-story window. The result: a severely damaged spinal cord which, at the time, meant permanent paralysis.

Recently, however, a medical pioneer, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz of Brooklyn, conducted a radical experiment involving the boy. He taped electrodes over four of the lad's key leg muscles. Then an attending engineer twisted a computer dial; electrical impulses were fed into the long-unused muscles—and the boy rose gingerly to his feet! In that simple act, he became the first paraplegic in history to stand up by the strength of his own muscles.

But the wizardry of medical electronics reaches beyond the problem of paralysis. In modern hospitals, age-old diagnostic instruments are rapidly being replaced by new electronic ones. Instantaneous electronic thermometers and stethoscopes have taken over the time-consuming jobs of their predecessors.

Tiny radio pills, dubbed "gutniks" by doctors, are used to pinpoint intestinal troubles. Swallowed by the patient, they act as miniature radio transmitters, broadcasting temperatures and pressures from the gastrointestinal tract. One radio pill even measures acidity in a newborn baby's stomach and thereby tells the physician what formula to prescribe.

Hemorrhages in the stomach can be pinpointed exactly by having the patient swallow a string of tiny Geiger counters. A radioactive substance injected into the blood stream will turn up at the bleeding site and register on a counter.

The electrogastrograph, invented in Russia and now undergoing tests in the U.S., detects stomach ulcers—and cancers. An electrode is placed on the surface of the abdomen to pick up the minute electrical waves which the stomach sends out when it contracts. Cancerous tissue generates electricity of a different frequency from that of normal tissue, and analysis of these waves indicates the presence and location of tumors before they are visible by X ray.

In dentistry there also is a startling new electronic development. Dentists now can implant miniature radio monitors in tooth cavities—batteries and all—to chart faulty chewing patterns that may be the cause of gum disease.

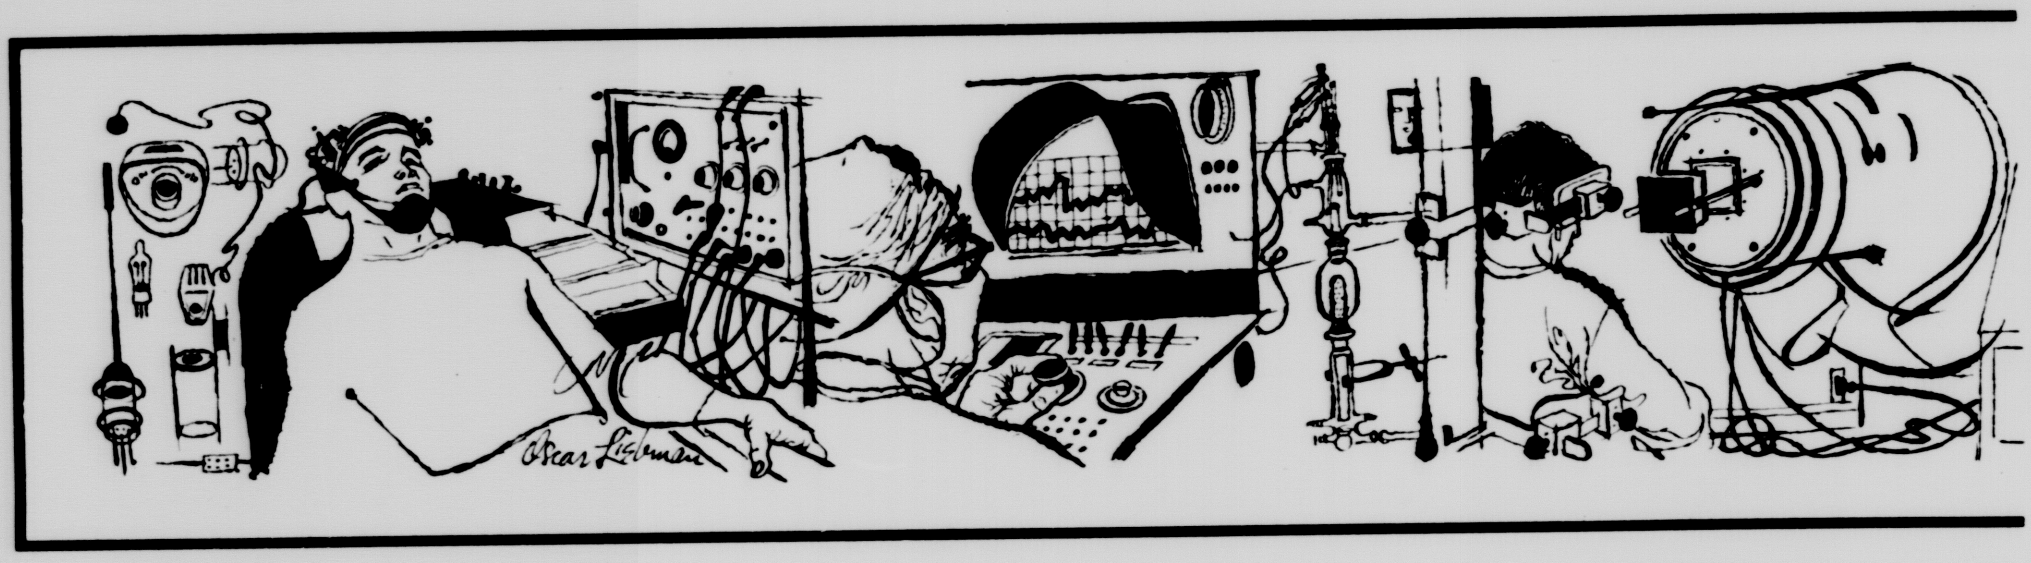

Another electronic diagnostic device is the portable electrocardiograph. Until now, doctors had no means of detecting the kind of heart trouble that shows up only during exercise or in the midst of an emotional crisis. "Patients may show no sign of trouble when they're in your office," says one heart specialist. "It's when they're running for the bus or watching the stock ticker that attacks occur."

Today, a patient can wear a portable electrocardiograph, which pipes a continuous record of his heartbeat into a pocket recorder. If a radio broadcasting attachment is included, the device can even transmit heartbeat directly into the doctor's office. Via radio and telephone, a doctor in New York recently listened to his itinerant patient's heartbeat from California!

BUT THE MOST startling example of electronic control applies to heart block, which fells 40,000 people a year. In heart block, communication between the nervous system and heart muscle is blocked. Two years ago, the only remedy was use of a gigantic electrical stimulator. Two electrodes, fastened to the chest wall or to the heart muscle itself, sent painful wallops of electrical current through the chest to make the heart contract.

Surgeons today can actually implant an artificial "pacemaker" in a heart-block patient. The automatic ticker is painless and restores him to normal activity. The pacemaker, a signal generator the size of a cigarette pack, is buried in the abdomen just under the skin. Two wires run beneath the skin to the heart where they are sewed directly into the tough muscular part of its wall. When the batteries wear down, the patient undergoes a simple operation to replace them.
